LINDBERGHS AWAIT HEIR

Stork Hops East With Eagle

Plans Stay in New York Hospital Which She Will Enter on 29th Inst.

Present at Birth of Salm Baby Engaged for Duty in May

NEW YORK, April 21. (Exclusive) —The stork flew east with Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their record-breaking fourteen-and-a-quarter-hour hop yesterday from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic, it was revealed tonight by tidings that the former Anne Morrow will enter Fifth-avenue Hospital the 29th inst., expecting motherhood within a week or two thereafter.

The date and the place was confirmed from sources close to the Lindbergh and to the Morrow families. Both the Flying Colonel and his wife, who broke into tears soon after she stepped from her husband's plane at Roosevelt Field last night, continued, however, to maintain the silence which has been traditional with them.

SPECIALISTS CONSULTED

Consultation by specialists on the case was one of the first things to follow the return of the Lindberghs to New York, it was learned. Before the Fifth-avenue Hospital was definitely chosen, the institutions under consideration had been narrowed to two, the other being [illegible] Hospital, on Madison

Although at least four, and possibly five, specialists have been consulted by the Lindberghs the name of only one could be learned definitely tonight. He is Dr. Ralph [illegible], the physician in charge when the then Mrs. Millicent Rogers became a mother. The other is described as being among the city's best-known gynecologists.

PAIR NOT FOUND

Efforts to reach Lindbergh or his wife today proved fruitless after they had [illegible] into New York from [illegible] Field last midnight in the [illegible] accompanied by a police escort and traveling at times [illegible] miles an hour.

Search for the couple at the [illegible] York hotel where they were said to have gone proved unavailing. Nor were they seen at the Morrow home in Englewood. Earlier reports that Lindbergh would return to Roosevelt Field to look over his [illegible] Lockheed - Sirius [illegible] proved only a cause of disappointment for the large [illegible] gathered outside the hangar. The colonel did not appear. [illegible] of Lindbergh's time was

SIGNING SET FOR TODAY

Treaty Awaiting Final Step

All in Readiness for Closing Conference Proceedings at St. James' Palace

Stimson Interprets Parley Accomplishments in Talk to Associated Press

LONDON, April 21. (AP)—The London naval treaty is ready to be signed and sealed.

Three months ago today the five-power disarmament negotiations were inaugurated by King George and tonight the results are contained in a document of approximately 7000 words which rests at St. James' Palace, where the final plenary session will begin tomorrow morning.

As final arrangements were made this evening for the wind-up session, Col. Stimson broadcast from London his interpretation of the parley's accomplishments, his words being directed to the luncheon of the Associated Press in connection with the annual meeting and being carried over the United States by a radio network.

Col. Stimson stripped disarmament of technical terms on tons and guns to delve deep into the underlying problems of world diplomacy and the progress of civilization in relation to national defense.

BELIEF STRENGTHENED

"The past fourteen weeks have given me more confidence in my belief that peaceful methods of diplomacy eventually can take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last war drew to a close," he said.

As he sees it, the "result of the conference has been to clarify issues and make their solution in the future more possible." "In this way," he said, "a long step forward has been made toward ultimate limitation by those nations which have not yet agreed on a complete limitation of their navies."

When the moment comes for signature of the treaty tomorrow, expected between noon and 1 p.m. (3 to 4 a.m. Pacific standard time,) Col. Stimson, as chief American delegate, will lead the line of envoys who will pass to the table on which the treaty rests—the "horseshoe" conference table in the great drawing-room of St. James' Palace.

FIRST SIGNATURES

The Americans will sign first. Then will come Foreign Minister Briand and his colleagues of France, the next nation in alphabetical order.

British Empire representatives will follow, to be followed by delegates from the dominions and India. The Italians, headed by Dino Grandi, will be next, and last will come the Japanese under Reijiro Wakatsuki.

One signature by each delegate will complete the London treaty,

NEW DEVICE SENDS MAPS FROM PLANE

Invention Will be Tested Today as Flyers Locate "Enemy" in Golden Gate

SACRAMENTO, April 21. (AP)—Transmission of maps and word descriptions of details on them through a new radio invention is to be tried out between an Army Air Corps airplane flying over the Golden Gate, San Francisco, tomorrow and the ground station at Mather Field.

Two "enemy" submarines, slinking submerged through the Golden Gate to wreak havoc on shipping within the harbor, are to be "spotted" by an army plane flying high overhead.

Lieut. Hayden P. Roberts, in charge of the plane, is to make a line drawing of the gate and mark in the position of the enemy craft. In words he is also to call attention to certain details in the sketch.

When the paper is placed upon a revolving cylinder, a small beam of light moving across the sketch transmits its details and words into radio signals which are to be transmitted through special apparatus at Mather Field and copied back into a duplicate drawing on another cylinder.

Thus, within five minutes, the Mather Field headquarters of the United States Air Corps may have a copy of Lieut. Roberts's sketch and know just where to knd the "enemy" submarines.

Two Killed in Airplane Fall

WATERTOWN (S. D.) April 21. (AP)—James Bruns, Jr., pilot, and Selmer Halvorson, passenger, were killed yesterday when an airplane crashed in a field about three miles west of here.

The cause has not been determined.

Will Rogers Remarks:

PONCA CITY (Okla.) April 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Going to have the biggest celebration the State ever had here tomorrow unveiling a statue to "The Pioneer Woman." It's to the West what erecting one to Washington was to the East. Tell you all about it tomorrow. Had breakfast in Beverly Hills and dinner here in Ponca; that's not a Lindbergh but it's pretty good for me. I didn't have any wife to do the navigating for me. You know a wife can be either a big help or a hindrance to a man in his business. The way that little woman has taken that fellow and made an aviator out of him is wonderful. It used to take him two days to get across this country. If she had been with him going to Paris they would have got there for lunch.

WILL ROGERS.

HOOVER VETOES COIN BILL

Gadsden Purchase Half-Dollar Issue Held to be Unwise as Practice Aids Counterfeiting

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—In his first formal veto President Hoover today returned to the House the bill for coinage of a Gadsden Purchase anniversary half-dollar with word that the monetary system of the country is not to be used for such purposes.

Noting that in the past ten years fifteen such coins were issued, Mr. Hoover said elements of confusion and lack of uniformity have resulted with a consequent increase in the danger of counterfeiting.

TEXT OF MESSAGE

The text of his message, which was read to the House, follows:

"Herewith is returned, without approval, House Resolution 2029, 'An act to authorize the coinage of silver 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden Purchase.'

"This bill provides that in commemoration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the acquisition by the United States to the territory known as the Gadsden Purchase, there shall be coined in the mints of the United States 50-cent pieces to the number of 10,000, to be of a design fixed by the director of the mint and approved by the Secretary of the Treasury. The coins are to be legal tender and are to be issued only upon the request of the Gadsden Purchase coin committee, in such numbers and at such times as they shall request.

"The matter is not perhaps one of large importance in itself, were it not for the fact of the great number of other similar proposals by the aggregate of which the principles of sound coinage are being jeopardized. Moreover, the multiplicity of these demands have largely destroyed their interest and value for the purposes intended.

MILLIONS ISSUED

"During the past ten years fifteen such special coins have been issued, an average of one each eight months, an aggregate of over 13,000,000 such coins having been authorized. There are now pending before Congress five other bills for such coinage, and before the Treasury Department several other requests for support to proposals of the same character.

"The monetary system of the country is created and exists for certain well-defined and essential purposes. Sound practice demands that it should not be diverted to other uses, if we are best to serve the needs of trade and commerce, satisfy the convenience of the people and protect the integrity of our coins. Experience has demonstrated that the necessities and conveni-

GET YOUR IGLOOS READY!

It's Going to be So Cold in California You'll Have to Use Icicles for Hot Tamales

BERKELEY, April 21. (AP)—The climate, one of these days, even in California, Prof. Ralph W. Chaney believes, will not be so good. He predicts that Western America is in for a freeze that will make Alaska in January seem warmish.

There is a bright side to this, however. In the first place it will not happen for a flock of centuries, and, geologically speaking, it will not last long. Say a couple of hundred thousand years. After that real estate booms will be in order again.

Prof. Chaney returned to the Berkeley campus today from Panama, where he went to substantiate findings of scientists regarding the theory of a transition in climate now in progress. The professor is a research fellow of the University of California for the Carnegie Institute. He was a member of one of Roy Chapman Andrews's expeditions to the Gobi Desert.

As a result of much study, Prof. Chaney said:

"The climate of Western America may be on the way to becoming as cool as it was in the Ice Age. But I'm not predicting ice in the streets or the necessity of replenishing the wardrobe at present. We will never see the change unless we live at least a hundred thousand lifetimes. Just as the pendulum swings toward cold weather, so it will swing back again. In this event the West will return to new warm climate which may be described as like that of Santa Barbara today."

It will take one or two million years for the change to be completed, Prof. Chaney believes.

MORE THAN 335 CONVICTS DIE IN OHIO PENITENTIARY BLAZE

Maddened Prisoners Shriek and Curse While Flames Lick Red-Hot Bars Amid Inferno of Terror; Troops Quell Rioters in Water-Soaked Yard

COLUMBUS (O.) April 22 (Tuesday) (AP) — The first official announcement of the number of dead in the Ohio penitentiary fire, made early today, listed total fatalities at 276. The count of the prison hospital, however, was 336 dead. Prison attaches said their count might be in error, and that the real count would not be made until all bodies had been gathered in the auditorium at the State Fair Grounds.

COLUMBUS (O.) April 21. (Exclusive)—The bodies of more than 335 convicts, many of them burned beyond recognition, lay stretched out on the water-soaked courtyard of Ohio penitentiary tonight, victims of one of the most tragic fires the country has known. The death list may reach 400.

Nearly 350 more are being cared for in the penitentiary hospital, dining room and other available buildings on the grounds.

These latter were burned or suffered from the fire that destroyed one whole cell block and threatened to ruin the entire southwestern section of the gray stone institution.

Soldiers of the Regular Army stationed at Columbus Barracks, Ohio National Guardsmen in command of Maj.-Gen. Benson W. Hough, city and prison guards are patrolling the institution preparatory to quelling any uprising which may occur.

The fire proper was declared out at 9 p.m., but many smaller blazes, thought incendiary, continued to burn out in the other buildings within the walls.

For hours, as the firemen battled the blaze and fought back recalcitrant convicts who cut their hose, hundreds of prisoners milled about the yard. However, shortly before midnight, soldiers and guards, who had received orders from Warden Thomas to "mow 'em down" if the convicts started to riot, gained the upper hand and herded the prisoners into their cells and other buildings of the institution.

Brilliant flood lights playing on the prison yard illuminated a scene of appalling tragedy. On the damp grass of the inclosure lay the bodies of hundreds, each covered by a blanket. Other bodies were being removed to the State fairgrounds and there laid out in rows in the cattle pens, where identification will be attempted.

Approximately 800 prisoners were in their cells when the fire, the origin of which is as yet definitely undetermined, broke out just after supper time in the new cell block, built onto the west wing of the prison. A fresh west wind was blowing at the time.

As the flames gained headway and smoke swept the draughty corridors, keepers in the administration building made shift to liberate the convicts. Early estimates placed the number turned loose in the prison yard at 400.

DEVICE FAILS

The failure of the mechanical device, installed to insure the safekeeping of the felons, doomed those who perished. The flames cut off electric power leading to the new cell blocks so that, when keepers shut the switches controlling locks on the cells, the bolts held fast.

The howls and curses of the trapped men were audible beyond the prison walls, where 20,000 townsmen had gathered. Firemen came out of the flames with accounts of prisoners who climbed the bars to the top of the cell blocks, seeking air, and fell back shrieking as the bars scorched their hands.

After the flames had swept through the east end of the block, consuming bunks, bedding and bodies, and leaving bars red-hot, firemen cut through the locks with acetylene torches. A few of the victims carried out still were breathing.

Outside the walls a force of fifty doctors and 200 nurses from Columbus hospitals awaited opportunity to enter and begin first-aid work, but the warden refused to admit them to face the peril within the walls.

While some of the prisoners displayed heroism, forging into the smoke with the firemen, others brawled among themselves or attempted to form human ladders to scale the walls. The cause of the brawling is believed by some keepers to afford the true clew to the cause of the fire.

Rumor has it that a desperate clique among the convicts tried to gain freedom by arson, emulating recent unsuccessful schemes of the same sort at Auburn and Dannemora, N. Y.

Senate Advances Restriction Bill With Showdown Expected Today

Bingham Measure Limiting Ban to Mexico Fails of Passage

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21. (Exclusive)—The Senate finally got down to brass tacks on the Mexican restriction bill this afternoon and adopted an amendment repealing the national origins provision governing present immigration quotas from Europe, and rejected six other amendments as well as a motion to send the measure back to committee.

As the result of this series of votes the measure sponsored by Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, and applying the restrictive principle for the first time to immigration from neighboring countries on the Western Hemisphere, with especial severity in the case of Mexico, is tonight apparently close to a final Senate vote. A showdown is looked for tomorrow, with the fate of the bill in doubt.

The national origins repealer, while complying with a demand voiced by President Hoover at the outset of his administration, is seen as considerably complicating the Harris bill's chances of ultimate passage if it remains in the measure. It was adopted by the Senate, 39 to 34, a margin insufficient to insure its retention by the upper branch if an attack is made on it tomorrow. And in the House, sentiment is believed still for the national origins system by a safe majority. Probably the best guess is that the Norbeck amendment will be thrown out of the Harris bill somewhere along the route, either by the Senate reversing its action, by the House or in conference committee.

CALIFORNIANS IN UNISON

The restrictionists, save on the issue of repeal of national origins, were firmly in the Senate saddle today and for the first time it appeared really probable that a measure affecting Mexico and the rest of the Western Hemisphere will be enacted this session.

There were queer votes, as when Senator Shortridge of California joined his colleague, Senator Johnson, in voting against recommitting the Harris bill to committee for further study of the general immigration problem as it was unfolded in the amendments proposed this afternoon. And again when both California Senators saw alike in supporting a proposal by Senator Bingham, Connecticut, to limit the proposed restriction solely to Mexico.

Johnson has been actively aiding the restriction legislation from the start, but Shortridge, it has been believed, stood opposed to action aimed at Mexico and would gladly welcome opportunities as they appeared for defeating or delaying action. However, he did not indicate such an attitude by his votes today.

The most important votes, besides that repealing national origins, came on the Bingham amendment and on the motion to recommit made by Glass of Virginia.

ORIGINS REJECTED

The first test came on an amendment by Harris, author of the bill to reduce immigration under national origins to ½ of 1 per cent of the nationals of European nations in the United States under the 1890 census. This would have cut entries from 150,000, the present over all figures, to approximately 40,000 per year. The proposal was voted down 39 to 34. Besides Shortridge and Johnson of California, both Hayden and Ashurst of Arizona, voted for it, perhaps with the idea of making the legislation impossible. There was considerable strategy of that sort in evidence. In fact, there is every reason to believe that the Bingham amendment was

Addition to Double Boulder Reservoir Capacity With No Cost Increase

Congress to be Asked This Session for Fund to Begin Building

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21. (Exclusive)—The Sibert Colorado River engineering board, after a study of nearly two years, formally recommended to Secretary Wilbur today that twenty-five feet be added to the height of Boulder Dam—making the structure rise 575 feet above low water and increasing the flood-control storage by nearly one-half to give the lower basin more absolute protection against unusual floods.

The board said it is of the opinion the change can be made without increasing the $165,000,000 estimate of cost of the project. Power development has had nothing to do with the advisability of the greater height, the board asserted, adding that it had been governed solely by flood-control considerations.

CONGRESS AID UNNEEDED

The proposed increased height is necessary, the board declared, if the Imperial Valley and other downstream sections are to be given complete safety from floods.

The action of the board did not come as a surprise, as the Interior Department has several times in the past eighteen months intimated the desirability of adding to the dam and has practically given official notice of its approval of the enlarged project by setting to work on new plans to take care of the greater height.

According to statements once made by Secretary Wilbur and Reclamation Director Mead it will not

HUNDREDS DIE IN PRISON FIRE

went into consultation with State officials concerning his contemplated investigation of the fire. All sources are agreed, it is understood, that the first blaze as well as other fires in the yard were started by prisoners. However, the authenticity of this has not been verified, and may never be despite the proposed investigation.

A sortie was threatened by a contingent of prisoners lined up in ranks along the west wall. As the west gate opened to admit ambulances a score of this group tried a rush for freedom, but were driven back by the threats of the guards with riot guns.

Warden Thomas was compelled to withdraw keepers from fire fighting to reinforce the wall guard. A company of the Ohio National Guard is standing duty at the main gate and Charles A. Jones, secretary to Gov. Cooper, is attempting to communicate with the executive, vacationing in West Virginia, to obtain an authorization for additional troops.

CONFUSION GROWS

The confusion within the walls increased with the coming of nightfall. In the main office, guards were handing out arms and ammunition, thrusting guns into the hands of physicians, who were there only to give medical aid.

Some of the confusion was eliminated when the warden issued an order for all internes to don white gowns. The prison hospital is crowded with unconscious men and it seems probable that some of these will be removed to city hospitals when order has been restored.

Trouble was encountered with men in the east cell blocks, where Company K, the desperadoes of the institution, were housed. As the din and smoke reached them, these convicts screamed in terror and beat their hands against the bars, but the warden feared to authorize releasing them, lest they attempt to organize a break among the more docile men in the yard.

One interne, after traversing a corridor of the east block, informed the warden that some of the men seemingly have gone mad. To reassure them, guards were detailed to the block and paced the corridors, shouting assurance that the bolts would be withdrawn if the flames came too close.

MEASURE OF CONTROL

Guards are maintaining a measure of discipline in the main yard. Trusties are at work, either helping the firemen, or covering the bodies of their cellmates, which are laid out on the lawn.

In the hospital, the smoke is so dense that the doctors work with water-soaked handkerchiefs for masks. Every bed is occupied by two men, others are stretched on the concrete floors of the corridors and thirty or more are stretched out in the basement. It is impossible to learn how many in the hospital are dead and how many unconscious. Few show any signs of life.

State Finance Director Silver reached the prison at 7 p.m. He instructed Col. Robert Haubrick, commander of the Columbus National Guard units, to take charge of the situation outside the walls and ordered more companies to duty from other points if necessary.

Holward Jones, a prisoner, was one of the heroes of the disaster. When the fire was raging at its worst, Jones seized a sledge hammer and single-handed released 136 fellow-convicts by hammering the locks off the cell doors.

OTHER HEROES

Leo Matlock of Columbus, serving life for murder, also dashed through the cell block, breaking the locks on cell doors and releasing a number of prisoners.

Lying on a blanket gasping for his last breath early tonight was a hero-convict who had saved twelve lives and by doing so had given up his own. The name of the convict could not be learned.

"Don't take his picture," said another convict to a newspaper photographer. "He has saved a dozen of his fellow-men."

The prayers of the afflicted are mingled with the curses of others.

George Aikens of Cleveland, another hero of the fire, went through Cells I and K, breaking locks and releasing the imprisoned convicts.

Ray Ruftle, also sent up from Cleveland, went through Cells G and H with a hammer, smashing locks to release the crazed men.

GUARD COMMENDED

Guard Thomas F. Little was commended by prisoners, who said he went down a dormitory unlocking cell doors.

Little, almost overcome by the dense smoke, finally handed his keys to Paul Gibbons, a prisoner, and told him it was "everybody for himself." Gibbons was one of the last men to leave the cell block alive.

Appeals for morphine and drugs to relieve the sufferings of the hundreds burned were broadcast as the number of injured grew beyond the limits of treatment afforded by available supplies and hospitals.

Kenneth Scott, prisoner in Third G, idled curiously up to a group hovering around a dying convict, to find it was his brother Edward, 29 years of age.

NOTABLE CONVICTS FIRST TO NOTICE FIRE

COLUMBUS (O.) April 21. (NANA)—Liston G. Schooley, once a city councilman in Cleveland and powerful in Ohio politics, who pleaded guilty to graft, and Frank J. Deibel, once wealthy real-estate broker, also of Cleveland, both serving terms in the Ohio State penitentiary here, were the men who spread the alarm shortly after the fire in the prison started.

Schooley, serving a five-year sentence for his part in a playgrounds-graft scandal in his native city, was in the office of Deputy Warden Woodward when the blaze broke out. He is a chief clerk there and was carrying on his duties at the time.

Deibel, serving a one-to-twenty-year sentence for manslaughter because a child was killed by his automobile while he was at the wheel, was at the prison telephone switchboard.

Hard at work over the prison records, Schooley relaxed for a moment and glanced through a barred window that looked on a prison ward. There, shining out through the shadows coming with the waning day, he saw the horrible glare that told of fire—long, leaping, lashing tongues over across the courtyard in the cell block opposite the office in which he was at work.

Schooley acted instantly. He reached for a telephone and called to Deibel:

"The prison is on fire—spread the alarm."

Deibel sounded the alarm. Subsequently it transpired that the guard on the wall had seen smoke but had been unable to locate the fire. The message from Schooley was the first actually to tell where the fire was.

STIRRING FEATURES OF FIRE COME TO LIGHT

COLUMBUS (O.) April 21. (AP)—With Warden Thomas inside the prison walls during tonight's death-dealing fire in Ohio penitentiary, the situation in the prison outer office was handled by Miss Amanda Thomas, his daughter. This young woman ordered guards to their posts, issued machine guns and ammunition, called doctors and nurses, summoned troops and performed many other duties. She was calm and collected until the fire threatened her home in the penitentiary main building. Then she turned her attention to the house, ordering her valuables removed.

At the height of the fire, some one shouted that the flames were spreading toward other cell blocks in which some 500 men, including condemned prisoners, were housed. Then it was discovered that the key to these cells had been misplaced. The chief deputy warden took command of the situation, and ordered guards in with axes and sledge hammers to open the cells if the fire spread further.

Company K in Ohio penitentiary includes all the bad men, mostly long-termers—men who refused to be disciplined. A half-dozen of these got loose during the excitement, and until they were cornered fires broke out in the cotton mills and fire hoses were cut. To them was attributed the trouble among the thousand convicts loose in the yards.

One hard-boiled Columbus fire captain does not fear convicts. He had to pass through a cell block of loose prisoners in order to get lines of hose on the roof. Warned by prison guards that the convicts might be "nasty" he shrugged his shoulders and went in. Within a short time he had fire lines on the roofs.

"Big Jim" Morton, notorious Cleveland bank robber, was a hero of the fire. Big Jim, loose in the yard when the fire started, rescued a score of men from K block. He continued working at top speed until he was overcome by smoke. He was unconscious for a time, but was revived and suffered little ill effects.

Death claimed Garland Runyan of Lawrence county a few hours after he entered the prison. Runyan was admitted to the penitentiary today to serve a term for abandoning his children i nIronton. He was assigned to the ill-fated K cell block, and was numbered among the dead.

O. HENRY'S TERM RECALLED

Sydney Porter Began His Career as Writer While in Penitentiary at Columbus

COLUMBUS (O.) April 21. (NANA)—The Ohio State penitentiary is the institution at which a certain convict named Sydney Porter, serving five years for embezzlement, began his career as a writer by turning out short stories under the pseudonym of O. Henry. The prison was established in 1815, and was moved to its present site, a few blocks from the main street of this city, in 1830. It now is surrounded entirely by the city.

Although the State in recent years has been modernizing the prison with an extensive reconstruction program, the prison has been regarded as far from a model institution in the report of the National Society of Penal Information in its 1929 handbook.

"The ancient plant at the State penitentiary in Columbus, one of the largest prisons in the country, suffers from a condition of overcrowding worse than that in any other prison," this report declared.

"The need of another institution in the Ohio penal system has been apparent for many years, but the State is only now taking steps to alleviate the conditions at Columbus. Not only can Columbus not care for an increased population, but it is already too large a prison to be operated on any other lines than those of blanket treatment. Even with the completion of the present building program it will be able to care for its present population only under conditions that fall far below accepted modern standards for housing prisoners."

Today's fire is not the first the Ohio State prison has experienced, although it dwarfs in significance the earlier one. In October, 1928, six men lost their lives when flames destroyed a dormitory in which 270 prisoners slept at the institution's Junction City brick plant.

Mrs. Preston Thomas, wife of the warden, withstood the early hour excitement of the disaster, but later tonight she collapsed from nervous strain and was placed under the care of doctors.

CHICKEN POX DELAYS ALAMEDA GRAFT CASE

OAKLAND, April 21. (AP)—Chicken pox today caused the postponement for two days of the trial of five men charged by an Alameda county grand-jury indictment with bribery and conspiracy in connection with asserted protection given gambling and bootlegging establishments. Frank Gardella, one of the defendants, was ordered to an isolation ward. Superior Judge Eng will determine Wednesday whether Gardella's condition justifies further postponement.

The four on trial besides Gardella are his brother, Jack Gardella, and former Deputy Sheriffs J. L. Davis, J. J. Collier and A. R. Shurtleff. All gave bail following their arrest several weeks ago.

LONGWORTH RAPPED ON "LAME DUCK" PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, said in the Senate today that Speaker Longworth has exercised "arbitrary action" in holding on his table for ten months the Nebraskan's resolution to abolish the "lame duck" or short session of Congress.

VOTE DUE TODAY ON RESTRICTION

Senate Action Expected on Harris Bill

Johnson and Shortridge Act in Unison

Both Favor Limiting Ban to Mexicans

introduced solely with the purpose of rendering the legislation susceptible of almost certain House rejection or Presidential veto.

Failing on his first amendment, Senator Harris moved a more moderate reduction of European immigration to 1 per cent and 80,000 a year. This was defeated 34 to 33, almost getting by.

Trammel, Democrat, of Florida, then moved to strike out of the pending Norbeck amendment the clause repealing the national origins provisions, and this was rejected, 43 to 29.

On the heels of this the Senate approved the Norbeck proposal which in addition to striking out national origins, would slash immigration to a grand total of around 120,000 a year and give more favorable quota status to the northern countries at the expense of Italy and other nations in Southern Europe.

MEXICAN ISSUE

Action came next on the Bingham amendment to confine the proposed restriction on this hemisphere to Mexico, using the figures in the Johnson House bill which would allow 11,000 Mexicans to enter next year, 7000 the following year, and 2900 permanently a year thereafter. The Connecticut Senator said he based his proposal on the fact that Mexico is the only neighboring nation presenting an immigration problem, and that placing of restrictions on the other countries of Central and South America would destroy Pan-American good will.

Senator Borah of Idaho, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Swanson of Virginia, ranking Democrat on that committee, attacked the Bingham proposal vigorously, telling the Senate it is unthinkable to consider singling out of one country for restriction.

Bingham, defending his amendment lamely, admitted that personally he did not favor imposing quotas on any of the other countries of the western world, but that framing a restriction bill directed solely at Mexico appeared to be the only manner to stave off Congressional action dealing with that nation while avoiding serious diplomatic difficulties with other countries. Borah pointed out that the administration is urgently opposed to any discrimination against Mexico. Swanson termed the amendment a "fire brand" which would destroy the frendly relations between the United States and Mexico by imposing "dishonor" on the nation below the Rio Grande.

JOHNSON STATEMENT

Johnson of California spoke for the Bingham proposal, declaring, "all of us who have had any contact with this matter the last few years realibe that the purpose of the legislation before us is to deal with Mexican immigration." He frankly admitted that the Harris bill was framed to exclude Mexicans while placing only "paper" limitations on Canada and the other countries technically affected. The vote against Bingham amendment was 55 to 11.

Just ahead of it the Senate voted down the Glass motion to recommit, 38 to 34.

Senator Black, Democrat, of Alabama, offered an amendment to stop all immigration except for visitors and nonquota entrants, for five years. This was rejected, 37 to 29.

Senator Allen, Republican, of Kansas, then presented his administration scheme for selective immigration administered by a council of Cabinet officials who would permit immigration to come in as needed to perform essential labor. This is the proposal regarded by farm interests in California and the Southwest as best representing legislation that would take care of their demand for seasonal labor from Mexico. It was defeated, 55 to 11, developing no more strength than the Bingham amendment to apply restriction only to Mexico.

VOTE NEAR ON BILL

As the Senate recessed, it had before it the motion by Gould of Maine, chairman of the Immigration Committee, to substitute the Johnson House bill for the Harris measure. This would allow Mexico a permanent quota of 2900 a year and Canada approximately 66,000. Action on this is expected tomorrow and then, so far as is known now, but two proposed amendments will stand in the way of a vote on the bill. One by Kendrick of Wyoming would allow seasonal Mexican labor, under bond. The other, by Vandenberg of Michigan, would permit the same thing in a little different way.

Senator Shortridge apparently no longer plans to push his Filipino exclusion bill—a companion to the Welch bill in the House—as an amendment to the pending restriction measure.

CONGRESS GETS RIVERS REPORT

United States-Mexico Water Findings Transmitted

Hoover Fails to Comment on International Problem

No Clearcut Agreement for Division Reached

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21. (Exclusive)—President Hoover today transmitted to Congress without recommendation the report of the American section of the United States-Mexican International Water Commission, which for the past two years has been attempting to adjust the problems of the two nations with respect to an equitable division of the flow of the Colorado, Tia Juana and Rio Grande.

The American conferees were not able to report any clear-cut agreements in the case of any of the rivers and an accompanying letter by Acting Secretary of State Cotton declares the report expresses "views which have not been passed on or approved by this department."

The commissioners for the United States sustained the doctrine of prior uses of water as against future diversions and use in either country and in the case of the Colorado recommended specifically that Mexico be awarded an annual share of 750,000 acre feet. This would be in addition to the surplus flow which is given to Mexico in perpetuity by nature. The report expressed the belief that Boulder Dam will benefit both countries by providing better regulation of the flow of the Colorado and eliminating the threat of destructive floods.

REPORT ON COLORADO

The American representatives saw no need for international agreement on the Tia Juana River at this time, but suggested future formal confirmation to give effect to the local arrangements now existing.

On the Colorado River the report had the following to say:

"The entire water supply of the Colorado comes from the United States, about 80 per cent being contributed from the States of Wyoming and Colorado. The mountain watershed which forms the principal gathering ground of this water occupies a very large territory which has little value except for its influence on irrigation development. This fact in the opinion of the commission, has an important bearing on the international rights of this stream.

"The area of the river basin in the United States is 242,000 square miles. The area within Mexican territory is 2000 square miles.

"Power development does not enter into the international water problem except that it seems to show that the regulation of the river will be practically complete; that the water which goes to Mexico instead of coming down in floods, as at present, will come in a practically uniform discharge, increasing its availability and lessening the cost of diversion and control.

ANOTHER FACTOR

"Another factor which tends to lessen the seriousness of the interantional water rights or the danger of damage to Mexico is the fact that the southern end of the Colorado River basin in the United States includes the most arid portion of the country. It is a region where irrigated farms have exceptional value, both because of the yield and the character of the crops grown. The supply from this portion of the river includes the most rapidly developing area both as to wealth and population in the United States. While there are no means of determining the water requirements of its future agricultural and industrial development it is certain that it has already become a large factor in promoting the building of Boulder Dam. This dam will be as important to Mexico as to the Unietd States, and it will always act to secure control and economical use of the river in the country adjacent to Mexico.

"The location of Mexican land at the lower end of the river gives it for all time control and the use of all the surplus flow. Both ability to use this surplus and also relief from the chief danger of destructive floods will be promoted by the construction of Boulder Dam. The proposal of the American section to recommend recognizing as a reasonable equity an annual use of 750,000 acre feet, this being the greatest amount heretofore used in one year, is all that is believed the United States should concede."

UNABLE TO AGREE

The American delegation advocated that the principle of prior appropriation, known in the law of both countries, be adopted and extended for the protection of existing uses of water in Mexico from the Colorado, and the Rio Grande, but found itself on this question in sharp conflict with the Mexican negotiators. The latter, according to the report, declared they "could not agree to this or any restriction on the complete sovereignty of Mexico and its right to use all of the water of its tributaries to the Rio Grande, and was, therefore, unable to recognize the principle of protecting uses of this water in the United States. Inability to agree on this fundamental principle made any arrangement for a division of either of these streams impossible."

The report stated that the United States and Mexico must work together to maintain levee control of the Colorado until Boulder Dam is built. R. M. Priest, superintendent of the Yuma project, and J. L. Favela, an engineer representing Mexico, are now engaged in a survey of this problem.

In the case of the projected dam at Marron, which San Diego plans to build for a domestic water supply and which would lie in both countries, the American commission reported the Southland city should be able to arrange matters amicably with Mexico and leave government confirmation of the agreement to the future.

The American water commissioners were Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation; Gen. Lansing H. Beach of San Francisco, U.S.A., retired, and W. E. Anderson, consulting engineer of San Benito, Tex.

HER HUSBAND ASKS DIVORCE IN RENO

Mrs. Lucy H. K. Lamar

RENO, April 21. (AP)—Mrs. Lucy H. K. Lamar, NEW YORK Social Registerite and artist, was named defendant in a divorce suit filed in the District Court here today by Pulian Lamar, well-known portrait painter.

Lamar has been in Reno for three months and his whereabouts was generally not known until several days ago when Mrs. Lamar applied to the New York Supreme Court for a restraining order to prevent her being forced out of the Lamar partment in the National Arts Club in New York.

Lamar, in the complaint filed today, sai dhis wife is of an extremely jealous nature and that she interfered with his work as a portrait painter. He says she was extremely extravagant and put him deeply in debt.

STORK ON HOP WITH LINDBERGH

spent in the conference at which the hospital was decided upon, it was learned. As for the rest of his day, the most definite statement that could be obtained was that he was with Mrs. Lindbergh, who, weeping, had leaned against his shoulder as if for comfort during the ride to New York.

Their triumph in crossing the continent in less time than anyone had ever before seemed to have been utterly forgotten by both the Lindberghs as they turned their complete attention to the matter much more important to them.

So far as could be learned, the most air minded of Americans were not even in touch with Washington to learn what time and altitude officials of the National Aeronautical Association fixed for their transcontinental hop after inspection of the sealed recording devices.

Experts at the calculations of flying, however, gave out some revised figures at Roosevelt Field on the actual time made by the Lindberghs and these varied slightly from those published earlier.

Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh made the hop in fourteen hours, forty-five minutes and thirty-two seconds, including the twenty-two-minute stop for refueling at Wichita, Kan. But their actual flying time was fourteen hours, twenty-three minutes and twenty-seven seconds, making their average speed in excess of 171 miles per hour for the estimated air-line distance of 2530 miles.

LINDY'S "ELECTRIC SUIT" LOCAL PRODUCT

Coulter's, long noted as headquarters for fine blankets, furnished the material for the electrically heated suits worn by the Lindberghs in their high-altitude flight. The suits are made of a super-all-wool blanket for which Coulter's are agents here.

An exhibition of these blankets may be seen at Coulter's during the next few days.

BOULDER DAM REPORT MADE

be necessary to ask Congress to pass on the change in engineering plans so long as the limit of cost is kept within original estimates.

The step toward increasing the height and capacity of the dam is expected to be followed within the near future by the signing of contracts for Boulder Dam power and with this financing program completed by a request from Secretary Wilbur to Congress for funds with which to begin actual construction work at Boulder Canyon. Dr. Wilbur remains confident that the preliminaries will be out of the way in ample time for Congress to vote the initial appropriation before it adjourns in June.

That the Interior Department has every intention of going ahead with the higher dam is again given by announcement today that a test model will first be erected and experimented with to make certain the 575-foot structure will be safe from an engineering standpoint.

The Colorado River engineering board was set up by Congress prior to enactment of the Boulder Dam Act to make an investigation and satisfy Congress that the engineering plans for the project had been adequately checked for safety, but it had a continuing commission to continue its studies along more general lines and recommend any changes it saw fit. The board is headed by Maj.-Gen. William L. Sibert, retired army engineer, and consists, in addition, of W. D. Mead, engineer of Madison, Wis.; Robert Ridgeway, engineer of New York; Charles P. Berkey, New York geologist, and W. J. Mead, Madison (Wis.) geologist.

DIVORCE FRAUD RULING UPHELD

High Court Backs Voiding of Arnold Decree

World Flyer Now Married to Priscilla Dean

First Wife Files Alimony Suit in Long Beach

ATLANTA, April 21. (AP)—The Georgia Supreme Court today upheld a decision of the Fulton county (Ga.) Superior Court which set aside the divorce granted Lieut. Leslie Arnold, former United States Army around-the-world flyer, from Mrs. Mildred Avery Arnold of Groton, Ct.

Soon after the divorce was granted in Atlanta, while Lieut. Arnold was stationed at Fort McPherson, Ga., the flyer was said to have been married to Priscilla Dean, motion-picture actress.

The first Mrs. Arnold came to Atlanta from her home in Connecticut, and petitioned the Fulton county Superior Court to set the divorce decree aside on the ground it had been fraudulently obtained. Mrs. Arnold asserted she had not been notified of the divorce action although she said Arnold was aware of her residence in Connecticut.

WIFE CITES HIM ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

LONG BEACH, April 21. (Exclusive)—Mildred Avery Arnold, whose decree canceling a divorce obtained by Leslie P. Arnold, 'round-the-world flyer, was approved by the Georgia Supreme Court today, has cited Arnold into Superior Court here on contempt charges. Hearing on an order to show cause why the flyer should not be held in contempt for failure to pay $75 a month support charges pending the hearing of her separate-maintenance action has been set for next Monday.

Arnold has not been served with papers in the hearing, however, and is out of the State, with the result that the hearing probably will be postponed, attorneys declared today.

After the Georgia court granted her a decree voiding the divorce of the war-time marriage, Mrs. Arnold came to Long Beach, established residence and filed the separate maintenance suit. Arnold avoided service on the suit for three months, but a process server found him with his second wife, Priscilla Dean, film star, in Hollywood last month, and he appeared in court and was ordered to pay $75 a month.

S. H. Underwood, attorney for Arnold, announced today, following the action by the Georgia Supreme Court, that Arnold will file a new action for divorce on other grounds and that the action probably will be filed in Georgia.

HOOVER VETOES BILL FOR COINS

ence of the people can best be served and the integrity of our coins can only be protected from counterfeiting by limiting the number of designs with which in the course of time the public can become thoroughly familiar. Indeed, the Congress itself has recognized the soundness of this principle by providing that 'no change in the design or die of any coin shall be made oftener than once in twenty-five years from and including the year of the first adoption of the design, model, die or hub from the same coin.'

ELEMENT OF CONFUSION

"The growing practice of issuing commemorative coins, incidentally to be sold at a profit and provide funds for projects of celebrations, appears to me to run counter to this principle and by their multiplicity have become a misuse of our coinage system. These coins do not serve for circulating mediums which is the real function of coins. They introduce an element of confusion and lack of uniformity. The danger of counterfeit coins being successfully passed is unquestionably increased by a multiplicity of designs, with which the public cannot become thoroughly familiar. Furthermore, the very premiums at which these coins are sold stimulate counterfeiting of them.

"There are a great many historical events which it is not only highly proper but desirable to commemorate in a suitable way, but the longer use of our coins for this purpose is unsuitable and unwise. This would seem to be clear from the very number of events to be commemorated, and past experience indicates how difficult it is to draw the line and how such a practice, once it is recognized, tends constantly to grow. If this bill is to become law, it is not apparent on what grounds similar measures, no matter how numerous, may be rejected. Yet their enactment in such numbers must bring further confusion to our monetary system. The government would be glad to assist such celebrations in the creation of appropriate medals which do not have coinage functions.

[Signed]

"PRESIDENT HOOVER."

Ex-War Nurse Marries Leslie at Wee Kirk

GLENDALE, April 21. (Exclusive) The wedding of Miss Catherine Leishman, Los Angeles nurse, to Charles C. L. Leslie, at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather in Forest Lawn Memorial Park this morning, marks the start of a wedding tour that will be featured by the conferring of decorations on Mrs. Leslie by Queen Mary of England.

Mrs. Leslie, who was one of the founders of the nursing organizations in Great Britain during the World War, and who was at the head of a base hospital close to the battle lines for many months during the heaviest fighting, has been sought for several years recently that she might be rewarded by the British government for her services.

The marriage was performed by Rev. Leila Castberg of the Church of Divine Power, in the presence of 100 guests.

VOTE ON PARKER WEAKENS HOPES

Senate Committee Opposes Nominee, Ten to Six

Hoover Gives No Indication of Withdrawing Name

Unions and Negroes Fighting High Court Candidate

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Slight hope for the confirmation of Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina as a member of the Supreme Court was held out tonight by Senate leaders after the Judiciary Committee voted 10 to 6 against the nominee.

A majority of both Republicans and Democrats on the committee voted against Parker, including three administration regulars. Previously the committee, by a vote of 10 to 4, refused to extend an invitation to the nominee to subject himself to examination on the protests against him.

Despite the committee vote there was no indication tonight that President Hoover will withdraw the nomination or that Judge Parker will ask that his name be recalled from the Senate.

Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, without any word from the nominee, announced he would carry to the floor his contest for confirmation. Leaders plan to take it up probably within a week.

Organized labor and Negro organizations have waged a vigorous campaign against Parker.

POET LAUREATE OF ENGLAND DIES

Dr. Robert Bridges Passes at 86 Years of Age

Appointment Never Popular With British Public

Infrequent Verse Praised by Learned Critics

LONDON, April 21. (AP)—Robert Bridges, poet laureate of England, died here today.

Dr. Bridges, who had been poet laureate since 1913, was 86 years of age.

Dr. Bridges was regarded in two distinctly different lights by the British people, one class criticising him for the small quantity of his work after he assumed the historic posititition that dates back to the days of Chaucer, and the other commending him for the high-class quality of his work.

He was the subject of controversy along those lines from the time his name was first mentioned as the successor of Alfred Austin, but when his appointment finally was made by the then Prime Minister Asquith it was officially announced that it pleased to King to give his approval of the appointment.

NOT POPULAR POET

Previous to his appointment little of Dr. Bridges's work appealed to the popular mind and it was for this reason that the connection of his name with the position was not as popular with the public as those of Rudyard Kipling and others who had been mentioned as possibilities.

High critics, however, held that the excellent quality of Dr. Bridges's verses more than compensated for their paucity. W. B. Yeats, the Irish poet who was awarded the Nobel prize for literature in 1923, some years ago characterized Dr. Bridges as the greatest of living poets and as years passed by English authorities stood by that estimate. Another characterization described him as "England's one classical poet."

Holding some opinions with regard to poetical forms and expressions that were looked upon as almost radical, Dr. Bridges had the courage to uphold his views and defend them against his critics. One habit for which he had been widely criticised was the use of Greek accents to determine the pronunciation of certain syllables in his verse. He defended this practice in a note at the end of his masque "Demeter," saying:

DEFEND STAND

"I do not myself see that English accentuation differs much from the Greek. If a consistent phonetic spelling of English were to be introduced we should find that many words would be quite unrecognizable without accents and that the Greek accents would serve us very well to express our traditional pronunciations."

Dr. Bridges was an ardent advocate of correct pronunciation and a modified new spelling. He maintained that English prosody depends upon the number of stressed syllables in a line and not upon the number of syllables, and that poetry should follow the rules of natural speech. He was a rather inspiring example to the author who believes in himself and who is content to wait for recognition without making an effort to obtain it. For years he published his poems in limited and semiprivate editions. Gradually they gained recognition among a small and select circle, which began to widen until London newspapers took an interest in his writings. This resulted in his works being printed in a form that made them available to the general public.

WAR PROPAGANDA

Although Dr. Bridges wrote comparatively little poetry during the war he injected into his war verse a virility which hitherto had not characterized his work. His war poems included "Thou Careless, Awake;" "England, Awake;" "Lord Kitchener" and two bearing upon the participation of the United States in the war. One was "To the United States of America" and the other "To President Wilson." He also wrote verses to the Americans on their Thanksgiving Day celebrated in England in 1918.

After the war there was considerable criticism of the poet laureate because he had failed to be inspired by various national events and celebrations. His attitude was the subject of interrogations in Parliament. One member of the House of Commons urged that the poet laureate's pay of ancient days, a cask of wine, be advanced to Dr. Bridges "on the off-chance of his getting inspiration." It also was urged that a poet laureate should be appointed whose muse would be more attuned to the soul of the British nation.

VERSE HELD COLD

None of the criticism aimed at Dr. Bridges seemed to injure his reputation as a poet and while his work at times was regarded as cold and formal, it was on the whole notable for its purity, precision and delicacy with strength of expression.

Since the close of the war Dr. Bridges had written but little. He often had been referred to as different from any other poet laureate who had filled the position. This was noticed particularly in September, 1923, when the poet laureate accepted the invitation of Dr. M. LeR. Burton, then president of the University of Michigan, to come to the United States as part of the arrangement for an exchange of professors and lecturers between universities of England and the United States.

Dr. Bridges was born October 23, 1844, and was educated at Eton and Corpus Christi College, Oxford. After his graduation from Oxford he traveled abroad and upon returning to London studied medicine and practiced several years as a hospital physician in London. He gave up the practice of medicine in 1882 to devote himself to literature.

Canadian Liquor Exporters Given Stern Warning

TORONTO, April 21. (AP)—Provincial police and the Attorney-general's department have issued a warning to liquor exporters along the Windsor border to empty and discontinue using liquor storage warehouses.

At the border warehouses inspectors found huge stocks of liquors awaiting shipment across the St. Clair River.

This is in contravention of the Liquor Control Board's warning that shipments of liquors should be made direct from the railway box cars or trucks to the holds of the boats. Otherwise the department takes the attitude that the liquor is being held for some illegal purpose.

The owners of the warehouses in which stocks were found were warned that they must clear these stocks out as soon as possible, or they will be seized.

Disease Closes Nogales School

NOGALES (Ariz.) April 21. (AP)—The Nogales High School building was ordered closed today by the Board of Health following the illness of Miss Esther Kirkendall, teacher of home economics, who was stricken with spinal meningitis Saturday night.

The closing of the school building, which dismisses more than 500 pupils, is done as a precautionary measure. Children under 16 years of age are forbidden to attend theaters and other public gathering-places.

Civil Service Post to Greer

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Representative Bowman, Republican, West Virginia, said today President Hoover had offered H. C. Greer of Morgantown, W. Va., the chairmanship of the United States Civil Service Commission.

He said Greer was offered the appointment Saturday afternoon at the White House.

William C. Deming, who holds the post, recently tendered his resignation to run as candidate for Senator from Wyoming.

DEATH'S SEAL ON IDAHO MYSTERY

Hermit Chef of White House Dies With Mute Lips

Secret Service Member Once Cook for Cleveland

Showplace Home With Costly Gear Willed to Friend

COEUR D'ALENE (Idaho) April 21. (AP)—An aged recluse, Robert Duncan ,who is said to have presided ove rthe White House kitchens when Grover Cleveland was President, is dead, and the air of mystery that clung to him in life was not dissipated with his passing.

A character here for nearly a quarter of a century Duncan, who established himself in a showplace of a home on the shore of Hayden Lake, near here, was found dead yesterday.

GALA OCCASIONS

He lived apart, save upon extraordinary occasions when he gathered a few neighbors about him and regaled them with food and as much of his life story as he cared to reveal. With only one man was he intimate—William Buckle, a young farmer—and it was through the latter that a fragmentary story of the aged man's life was obtained.

Coming to America from Scotland, Duncan joined the United States Secret Service, to serve several years. When Grover Cleveland was elected President the young detective was placed in charge of the White house kitchen. The years he served the Secret Service and those after he left the White House until he came west twenty-three years age are blanks as far as the world is concerned. Not even to Buckle did he tell his experiences, nor did he give a reason for his silence.

COSTLY SERVICE

His home was a museum, filled with costly glas sand chinaware and books, said to have been culled during his service in the White House. One of his chief treasures was a full set of dishes manufactured from meerschaum—the substance from which costly pipes are made.

On occasions he would gather a group about him for a banquet, prepared with his own hands. But at these food was the topic discussed and the guests learned little of their host's life story.

FORTUNE TO FRIEND

One of his last acts, it is said, was the deeding of his home and its furnishings to Buckle, who found him slumped over in his chair when he called to deliver some groceries.

None of Duncan's relatives are known to be living. He never married and a sister, his last of kin, was drowned in an Atlantic ship disaster several years ago while coming from Scotland to visit him. He is believed to be about 73 years of age.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and ¼ ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—[Advertisement.

CROSSING STOP RULE LAID DOWN

State Rail Commission Pens Strict Regulations

Movements of Vehicles on Highways Safeguarded

Many Points Covered in New Traffic Commandments

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21. (Exclusive)—All passenger stage and truck companies operating under the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission must come to a full stop at all railroad crossings, unless there is a traffic officer on duty directing traffic, according to a safety rule promulgated today, following an investigation started by the commission into the operations of the 500 motor carriers using the highways of California.

In its general order twenty-five safety rules and operating regulations designed to assist materially in safeguarding the lives and property of users of public highway transportation are laid down. The most important of these besides that providing for stops at crossings, are:

EXHAUST SAFEGUARDED

When exhaust is used for heating a stage that portion of the exhaust pipe within the car must be without mechanical joints.

Gasoline tanks must be outside of that part of the body of the stage used by passengers, must not be filled while engine is running and inlet must be outside car.

Passenger-carrying vehicles in service must be inspected daily.

No explosives, inflammables or dangerous or injurious acids, except those the transportation of which is permitted by law, may be transported in passenger stages. Carrying of loaded firearms, except in certain cases, is prohibited on stages.

Drivers must not smoke nor use liquor or narcotics while driving and passengers who are smoking must sit in a section of the stage designated by carrier as smoking section.

RULE ON SEATING

No greater number of passengers than permanent seats are provided for shall be allowed on stages except in case of unexpected transportation demands, when a designated number of stools may be utilized.

Drivers of trucks or stages must not work more than ten consecutive hours in any twenty-four-hour period, but the hours of service may be spread over fifteen hours if there is sufficient idle time between trips for relaxation.

Trucks and stages must be equipped with serviceable brakes, including an emergency brake.

Drivers must be 21 years of age or over.

Trailers must not be attached to passenger stages.

PROHIBITION SUBSTITUTE SUGGESTED

Admiral Moffett Back from London Proposes High Tax on Liquors

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Back from the London naval conference where he served as a naval adviser to the American delegation, Rear-Admiral William A. Moffett said in a statement tonight that a solution of the American liquor question might lie in sale of highly taxed liquors as a substitute for "impracticable prohibition."

"The personal liberty enjoyed in nonprohibition countries," said the chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, "and the absence of graft in connection with liquor were noticeable as compared with conditions in the United States. Prices are high—three or four times more than they were before the war.

"This may be the solution of the liquor question for us. High internal revenue taxes on liquor—low taxes on light wines and beer bringing in a revenue to the government that would largely support it and greatly reduce the income and other taxes, eliminate graft, bootlegging and other evils inherent in impracticable prohibition."

Senators Picked to Investigate Postal Leases

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Vice-President Curtis today named the five Senators who will form the special committee to investigate Federal leases of postoffice buildings with Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, as chairman.

Others named are Senators Hastings, Delaware, and Hebert, Rhode Island, Republicans, and George, Georgia, and Hayden, Arizona, Democrats.

Senator Blaine is the author of the resolution authorizing the inquiry.

Waring's Wife Wins Divorce

CLEVELAND, April 21. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Waring, wife of the popular dance orchestra leader, was given a divorce from the head of Waring's Pennsylvanians here today. There was no contest on the part of Waring.

Mrs. Waring charged "surly and sarcastic conduct" and refusal to disclose destination of his travels, made life with Waring one of grief.

SLAYER'S VICTIM FOUND

Royal Bud Celebrates Her Birthday

ENGLAND RULED BY CHILD

Princess "Lilybet" Holds Sway Over King George On Her Fourth Birthday Anniversary

WINDSOR (Eng.) April 21. (AP)—A tiny golden-haired girl usurped the British throne without opposition this morning and for a brief spell ruled her native land with a charming grave that brought delighted plaudits from her subjects.

This day belonged to Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York and beloved granddaughter of King George and Queen Mary, for it was the fourth anniversary of her birth.

Bright and early little "Lilybet" as she calls herself, with delighted laughter seized the scepter beneat hwhich the gray-haired King-Emperor, his Queen and all the royal family bowed in pleased submission.

There was a wonderful birthday party in old Windsor Castle—such a party as the fairy books record for children to read all over the world. There were presents galore including a mysterious package from Uncle David—the Prince of Wales—sent from the heart of the hunting field where his Royal Highness has been on a holiday.

But perhaps the best secret of all was the disclosure that in the royal stables King George had hidden one of the smallest Shetland ponies he could find. It filled the Princess's cup to overflowing. She was so delighted that when her party adjourned for a time to the castle grounds she waved excitely to the thousands of persons who had collected outside.

Federal Man Kills Sheriff

BLOUNTSTOWN (Fla.) April 21. (AP)—Sheriff G. D. Clark of Calhoun county was shot to death on a street here today by J. T. Blackwell, an employee of the Federal government.

Deputy Sheriff McClelland said Blackwell, apparently without warning, drew a pistol as Clark passed him on the street and fired five or six times at his back. Three of the bullets struck the Sheriff.

McClelland said ill feeling had existed between Blackwell and Clark. Blackwell, the deputy said, recently was arraigned on a charge involving marital relations.

A coroner's jury ordered Blackwell held on a first-degree murder charge.

McPHERSON PARTY DIPS INTO JORDAN

Evangelist Baptizes Her Followers in Historical River of Holy Land

JERUSALEM, April 21. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, today said that although she had come to Palestine only to enjoy a holiday, she could not help baptizing her disciples in the Jordan.

The ceremony took place Saturday afternoon when Mrs. McPherson with a party of sixty-four made a motor trip to the Jordan. Twelve of her disciples, equaling in number the apostles, were dipped into the water at the spot where Christ is believed to have been baptized. Policemen held their hands to precent them from drowning.

Yesterday Mrs. McPherson stood under the rock garden tomb believed to be Christ's sepulcher by Protestants and read the Bible to her disciples. These two ceremonies were the only ones in which she participated during her stay in Jerusalem. She left for Galilee this morning.

Her visit to Palestine, she said, had been the "most inspiring and wonderful part of a journey around half the world." She intends staying at Tiberius tonight, making a boat trip on the Sea of Galilee and then going to Galilee and Damascus.

Slayer-Parent Gets Life Term

MANDAN (N. D.) April 21. (AP)—Pleading guilty to first-degree murder, a charge brought after he had confessed to drowning his 4-year-old deformed son in the river, Gus Reinhold, 40 years of age, a farmer living near Stanton, was sentenced today to life imprisonment.

EGG-ROLLING DAY DIFFERS

Children Assembling at White House for Fete Find Pageant Planned by Mrs. Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—The 1930 Easter egg rolling on White House knolls will go rolling down in history as something new and different—due to Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

The thousands of children who came carrying colorful Easter baskets did not see Mrs. Hoover because she has a sprained back but, reclining by an upper window, Mrs. Hoover saw them and watched their enjoyment of the spring pageantry she had planned for them.

Maypoles with Easter bunnies on top stood in their roped-off squares—Mrs. Hoover's thought for an Easter Monday falling so close to the first of May.

Gala centers they made for the morris dances of the Girl Reserves; the costumed Hungarian czardas of Neighborhood House; the Fairy Phantasy of Friendship House and the Russian dances of Mrs. Hoover's own Girl Scouts.

Several weeks ago Mrs. Hoover expressed a wish for an egg-rolling day with all the spirit of magnolia, cherry-blossom and lilac - time crammed into it. She sent out invitations to little-girl groups. An organization meeting was held at the White House. Today she saw her wish come true, though she was not able to enjoy the out-of-doors with the children.

All day long children clutching adult escorts by one hand, Easter baskets in the other, poured in at the White House gates—8000 by 11 o'clock; 23,000 by 2 o'clock, and more thousands later.

Small boys did the usual brisk business, walking boldly in and stealing out, playing sons to unattached adults who wanted to wander through the White House grounds and watch the gaily colored eggs roll down the knolls.

The "official" children Mrs. Hoover had invited to the White House for Easter as for Christmas, small sons and daughters of Cabinet members and secretaries, made a gay balcony group on the south portico for her outdoor spring show. President Hoover appeared briefly at lunch time and waved in a friendly fashion.

There were a few bumped heads and minor catastrophies. Lost children—all returned—numbered twenty-two at 2 p.m., with several cases later. The only serious case that came to the first-aid tent was a small boy who ate six Easter eggs and was taken to the hospital with acute indigestion.

FOX FINANCING PLANS HIT ROCK

Class A Stockholders Ask for Injunction

Want to Halt Program of Halsey-Clarke

Court Order Sought to Force Producer's Plan

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—A suit to restrain the Fox Film and Theater corporations from putting into effect the Halsey-Stuart-Clarke financing program was filed in Supreme Court today by Stanley M. Lazarus, counsel for Class A Stockholders' Protective Association of the Fox Film Corporation.

The action also seeks a court order compelling the new officers of the corporations to immediately put into effect the Bancamerica-Blair, Lehman, Dillon-Read financing plan which was approved by the stockholders March 13.

The Bancamerica-Blair, Lehman, Dillon-Read plan, proposed by William Fox, was dropped when Fox sold his controlling interest in the two corporations to Harley L. Clarke of Chicago.

Lazarus declared the Halsey, Stuart plan favored by Clarke and the new officers of the corporation "clearly constitutes a fraud upon the Class A stockholders and is absolutely illegal in many of its aspects."

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

PIXLEY, April 21. (AP)—Sam Dunbar, 65 years of age, night watchman, was fatally injured here last night when an automobile driven by W. P. Walker, service-station proprietor, ran over him.

Fresno Commission Session Ends in Altercation

Fire Department Suspension at Bottom of Row

FRESNO, April 21.—A special meeting of the City Commission called by Acting Mayor William Glass to consider fire department matters, ended in an uproar today after Glass is asserted to have struck H. E. Curzon, Mayor Z. S. Leymel's secretary, three times with his fists, after accusing Curzon of calling him a liar.

Curzon, surprised by the attack, did not strike back, and the blows on his chest did no damage, it was learned after the executive session was ended. It was called by Glass in Mayor Leymel's absence to consider administrative matters of the fire department, precipitated by the three-day suspension of Assistant Chief Frank W. Walsh, ordered by Fire Chief W. R. Williams and countermanded by Leymel.

Curzon was called before the commission to be questioned on orders he had issued, when the altercation between Glass and himself burst out. Some of the commissioners considered that fire department internal affairs were undermining the morale and efficiency of the department and that a probe of the department should be ordered.

WORD QUESTIONED

"My word was questioned on a statement I made and I resented it," was Glass's statement. "The entire affair was all nonsense and child's play," was Curzon's reply.

Various reports of the meeting leaked out while the altercation itself could be heard throughout the City Hall and reports had it that Glass and the Mayor's secretary almost fell through a plate glass window in their struggle.

Curzon was asked to explain why he allowed Walsh to leave fire department headquarters to go to the County Jail and bail out Anthony R. George, a pensioned fireman, who was arrested on order of Chief Williams on a charge of disturbing the peace. Glass charged that Curzon intimated to the other commission members present that Glass had not put the proper construction on Curzon's answer. "You can't call me a liar," Glass challenged, and the blows landed.

MEN SEPARATED

Glass and Curzon were separated by Legislative Commissioners George F. Sharp and George H. Ball, and Curzon left the conference chamber.

Glass said that the special meeting was called in view of the fact that Chief Williams "considered the presence of Assistant Chief Walsh in the department in defiance of the Chief's suspension order is dangerous to the morale and efficiency of the entire fire department."

No action was taken, awaiting the return of Mayor Leymel, who is in Los Angeles.

CLEVELAND, April 21. (Exclusive)—Among the thousands of baseball fans in this city it is doubtful whether any are pulling quite so hard for the Cleveland Indians to capture the American League pennant as are Esther H. Tetalman, 21 years of age, and Jack C. Legomsky, 24. Both are enthusiastic fans, but that's not their chief reason for wanting the Indians to win the pennant this year.

They have made a vow that their wedding will not take place until the Cleveland ball team wins the bunting. And they want that wedding ceremony to be performed this coming fall. Looking over the team's chances, both Miss Tetalman and Legomsky are hopeful.

NAVAL SIGNING SET FOR TODAY

London Treaty Awaits Final Steps to be Taken

All Ready for Closing of Conference Session

Stimson in Statement to Associated Press

there being no special indorsement necessary for the three-power pact among the Americans, British and Japanese, which is included within the five-power pact. The statement that this arrangement applies only to those three powers is contained in the treaty itself.

TWO LANGUAGES

The treaty is printed on special parchment and consists of preamble and twenty-six articles in five parts, the text being in English and French. The copy signed will be deposited in the archives of the British Foreign Office. Certified copies will be sent to the governments concerned, while other copies later will be deposited with the League of Nations.

The Americans plan to take the Leviathan homeward about 8 p.m.

Secretary Stimson, in his radio address, said the treaty represents a practical application of the peaceful declarations of the Kellogg anti-war pact, limiting at once the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan, and holding a promise of future agreement also as to the naval establishments of France and Italy.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

The text of Secretary Stimson's address follows:

Mr. Noyes and gentlemen of the Associated Press:

When I had the pleasure of meeting the directors of the Associated Press last January at the dinner given by Mr. Ochs I warned you that the London conference would be a prosaic performance. I prophesied that what it lacked in drama it would make up in length. I think you will agree with me that my prophecy has been fulfilled.

Yet because it has involved tedious and necessarily private negotiations, it would be a great error to jump to the conclusion that it does not contain dramatic promise for the future. As a matter of fact, the past fourteen weeks have given me more confidence in my belief that the peaceful methods of diplomacy can eventually take the place of war than anything I have witnessed since the last was drawn to a close. This confidence is based on the fact that limitation of arms gives us an affirmative plan for promoting good relations. Merely negative opposition to war is not sufficient. Progress in civilization comes only from the affirmative cultivation of habits of good will.

NEW ERA PROPOSED

Nearly two years ago the nations of the world met together at Paris and signed a document containing a good resolution of epoch-making importance. That was the so-called Kellogg-Briand pact, in which the nations renounced war as an instrument of national policy and agreed in future to solve their controversies only by pacific means. That instrument proposed a new era. It laid down a new international policy and it had behind it a general and overwhelming popular support. But such a proposal cannot be made and then left alone to hatch. New eras do not come out of old conditions merely by a new edict or a good resolution. In order to reach a condition when no nation will resort to war as an instrument of national policy there must be established a larger measure of confidence than now exists in the ability of the different nations of the world to maintain their pacific intentions under all the temptations and circumstances which are sure to confront them. History shows us only too clearly what will happen if we leave the old conditions unchanged. Affirmative constructive steps must be taken to carry out our good resolution and to begin the evolution in mutual confidence and good will upon which the success of our resolution depends. Otherwise the failure of our good resolutions may produce a condition worse than if they had never been made.

TEST OF INTENTIONS

Last spring President Hoover wisely decided that one of the most important of such constructive steps was a move toward naval limitation.

He realized that if the nations mean the Kellogg pact literally they must not allow conditions to arise that will jeopardize their promise. The first method to that end is an agreement on limitation of armaments. That is a clear and positive test of a national intention to maintain pacific relations under all circumstances. Such an agreement by its very nature precludes the idea of war as an instrument of national policy. For no nation is likely to agree that its neighbors shall have a navy large enough for such a purpose. One of the surest tests, therefore, of the effectiveness of the Kellogg-Briand pact is the progress which is being made in the limitation of armament.

Limitation of armament is a barometer or gauge of the development of confidence between nations which will enable them to deal with each other wholly upon an amicable basis. It is for this reason that my experience in the naval conference has given me so much encouragement. This encouragement is not based solely on an appraisal of just how much has been accomplished in the particular treaty which we are signing, but also upon the demonstration which this treaty affords that the process of limitation can be carried further in the future.

The work of the London conference has really comprised two quite separate naval problems—the problem of the relations between the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan on the one hand, and the problem of the relations between the navies of Great Britain, France and Italy on the other.

These are quite distinct problems. The first of these has been solved. This is a great achievement in itself and fruitful of great benefit to the general conditions of the world for the future. But it is a far simpler problem than the other, because the naval relations of three countries, separated by such great oceans and wide distances as separate Great Britain, the United States and Japan, are necessarily less complex than the naval relations of the great powers of Europe. The latter are complicated by many conditions from which the former are entirely free. Furthermore America's isolated and advantageous position and the national security which this position affords imposes upon us the duty to lead in the limitation of armaments and to refrain from criticising others less fortunately placed.

EUROPEAN SITUATION

In the second of these problems—the problem of the relations of the navies of Great Britain, France and Italy, valuable discussions have been had and the underlying questions upon which a final solution must rest have been explored and clarified. In much of the discussion members of the American delegation have been privileged to sit as friendly observers, watching the development and clarification of these underlying questions. The discussion has not merely involved a negotiation about the size of navies or the types of ships, it has been a study and debate concerning the political questions which govern the relations of these three nations of Europe to each other.

AUGURY FOR SUCCESS

Into these political questions it has not been America's business to enter. But sitting on the sidelines it has been quite evident that the result of the conference has been to clarify issues and make their solution in the future more possible.

In this way a long step forward has been made towards ultimate limitation by those nations which have not yet agreed on a complete limitation of their navies. This came not only by clarifying the results of their discussion but by the patience and good temper in which those discussions were carried on. This has been a good augury for the prospects of their final success. They are separating now full of determination to grapple with these problems as they now stand revealed and to finally solve them.

EFFORT NECESSARY

In summary, the message which I should like to make clear to you all today is that the success of the London naval conference is necessarily related to the success of the Kellogg pact. The good resolutions of that pact cannot stand alone. They must be followed by national effort, prompt, constant, unremitting effort to make them good and no line of effort offers a better earnest of its success than the line of naval disarmament. In selecting that line President Hoover laid his finger upon the best method of insuring that our solemn promise of two years ago should be fulfilled.

There are but two possible roads to travel. One is the road of competitive armament and this, whether accompanied or unaccompanied by good intentions, will lead to war. The other is the way of limitation with its constant effort to forestall war by creating such confidence and friendliness between nations as will prevent the seeds of war from growing. We have before us not only a definite objective but a concrete method of going at it. There is something to work on, to get our teeth into. The hard work and constant vigilance which will translate good intentions into practical realities can be accomplished and are being accomplished by naval limitation. This, to me, is the significance and encouragement of the conference we have just been through.

SLAYING OF DAUGHTER CONFESSED

Father Admits Killing of Heart Disease Sufferer; Case Was Held Suicide

CHICAGO, April 21. (AP)—Five years ago Mary Cutler, 35 years of age, was found dead in her gas-filled home. She had been suffering from heart disease. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "suicide while despondent over ill health."

Tonight Charles Cutler, 70, father of Mary, walked into a police station and confessed that he had killed the girl.

"I can't stand it any longer," said the aged man, "for five years it has preyed on my mind, obsessed my thoughts, tortured every moment, waking or sleeping.

"I murdered her, she was sick—suffering. I couldn't stand to watch her agony. Once she tried to kill herself, driven almost mad by pain.

"Then one morning she was asleep in her room. I closed the doors and windows. I opened the gas jets and left the house."

Amendment to Naturalization Measure Passes

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—The Cable bill to strike from existing law the provision that a native-born woman loses her United States citizenship by residence abroad after her marriage to an alien, was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

The measure also would simplify the repatriation process for a woman who had lost her citizenship in that manner so that she should be required only to prove her eligibility to citizenship and take the oath of allegiance.

PRAISE VOICED BY PRESIDENT

Hoover Greetings Extended to Associated Press

Part Played in Conference Success Commended

Stimson's London Address Comes in Clearly

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Secretary of State Stimson made an address via radio from London and President Hoover sent his greetings from Washington to the luncheon of the Associated Press held in connection with its annual meeting at the Commodore Hotel.

President Hoover, who sent his message of greeting to Mr. Noyes, praised the work of the American delegation at the London naval arms conference, declaring that "only the utmost courage and tenacity of the eminent men comprising all the delegations at London could have brought to so difficult a problem a solution fruitful of so many blessings."

The press associations played a large part in the success of the conference, he said, by giving out to people "an instant and comprehensive knowledge of the facts and thus enabling the nation itself to share in the negotiations."

Reception of Mr. Stimson's speech, in which he described the London naval conference results, was unusually clear, with little static.

(The text of the address appears elsewhere in this issue of The Times. Ed.)

HOOVER'S MESSAGE

President Hoover's message was as follows:

"Frank B. Noyes,

"President, Associated Press.

"I would appreciate it greatly if you would extend my greetings to the annual meeting of the Associated Press. It is a great institution which daily renders intellectual service to the American people with that fine impartiality and reliability that have given it high distinction.

"It is a marvelous advancement of science that enables you to listen to an address from London by Secretary Stimson. The work of Secretary Stimson and his colleagues at the conference has been carefully and fully transmitted over the wires of the Associated Press day by day for the past three months and thereby the American people have gained an appreciation of the problems which the conference has undertaken to solve, the difficulties they have met and the success that has resulted.

"Their achievement marks another great step in the maintenance of peace. Only the utmost courage and tenacity of the eminent men comprising all the delegations at London could have brought to so difficult a problem a solution fruitful of so many blessings."

PRESS AID LAUDED

"The Associated Press and other press representatives have contributed materially, for such negotiation in these times is not alone the work of the delegation, it must be responsive to national instinct and national aspiration. Peace is fundamentally a state of mind and a resolve of will of the whole people. Therefore the fidelity of the press representatives in reporting the course of the conference has played a large part in its success by giving all of our people an instant and comprehensive knowledge of the facts, and thus enabling the nation itself to share in these negotiations.

"I wish to compliment the Associated Press on the service it has rendered.

"HERBERT HOOVER."

Kent Cooper, general manager of the Associated Press, also spoke.

House Passes Bill for Park

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 21. (Exclusive)—The House today passed the Englebright bill, which would add nearly 1000 acres to Yosemite National Park.

The acreage lies on the western boundary of the park between Mather Station and the Hetch Hetchy railroad. Of the 960 acres specified in the bill, about 400 are now owned by the city of San Francisco. This acreage will be turned over to the park under the Raker and pending Englebright acts when no longer needed by the city for maintenance of the Hetch Hetchy Dam project.

RULINGS AID STATE'S BEACH LAND PARK PLAN

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21. (AP)—The Attorney-General's office today advised the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Parks, that the title to beach property proposed to be acquired through condemnation proceedings by the Ventura Board of Supervisors can afterward be validly transferred to the State. The division also was informed that the use of State park bond funds for payment of half of an award in condemnation will be legal should the county institute the proceedings.

ARMY PLANES SPLIT SECONDS

Air Corps Demonstrates Clockwork Precision

Mills Field Maneuvers on Exact Schedule

Battle on Today to Save San Francisco

BY MAJ. C. C. MOSELEY

Formerly pilot Twenty-seventh Squadron, First Pursuit Group, A.E.F., now vice-president and western manager Curtiss-Wright Flying Service.

SACRAMENTO, April 21. (Exclusive)—Time, always a vital element in warfare, was never more so than today. If a missing horse shoe nail once cost a battle, it also is possible that the destiny of nations might easily hinge on a matter of split seconds.

Let supporting aircraft be ever so slightly tardy in the protection of bombing missions and an important objective may never be reached, alert enemy planes having fatally intercepted the move.

Consider then the great responsibility of correctly timing an intricate air mission. There must be exact estimates of distance to the objective from widely scattered bases. Cruising speed of each type plane must be taken into consideration, together with the altitude flown, wind velocities and direction. Other variable factors to be calculated include weather conditions, military loads, fuel supplies and a host of others.

With the Army Air Corps today such problems have been reduced to a science. The exactitude with which difficult maneuvers are carried out on schedule time is a revelation to me. There must never be any "if, might or if Blucher would only come," in future American aerial history.

"Just as ill-timing in golf or with a pugilistic blow is totally ineffective, so it is with us," says Hans J. Adamson, assistant to F. Trube Davidson.

LIKE CLOCKWORK

An impressive example of air corps promptness was furnished the vast throngs which witnessed the big review at Mills Field, San Francisco, Saturday.

Traveling approximately 100 miles from Mather Field at Sacramento, the 135 ships roared down the peninsula field at 2:30 o'clock to the second, as scheduled.

"It is now 3:20," the loud speaker reported to the crowd. "In just one minute you will see those fast pursuit ships so high above launch a terrific attack on the Condors and Keystones now crossing the field."

Exactly sixty seconds later, having maneuvered to correct position with reference to sun and wind, these high-flying hawks nosed over into the savage dive for which they are famous.

"At 3:51 one ship from each of the pursuit groups is slated to withdraw from formation and engage in an aerial dog-fight," the announcer cries. "Watch closely. In just a few seconds."

Although the two units were widely separated, at the appointed time, as if by magic, Capt. Elmendorf and Lieut. Woodring swung away from their comrades as if actuated by a single control and began their thrilling combat.

ADVANCE ON BAY CITY

Having completed three weeks of co-ordinating exercises the provisional wing under Brig.-Gen. William E. Gillmore this morning launched upon a final four days of mimic warfare.

The Red enemy having, as described in the initial article of this series, captured the entire Southland, is now advancing on San Francisco by land, air and water. Today's mission of the defending Blue squadrons was to destroy supply bases, interrupt communications and harass moving troops in the vicinity of Modesto, Oakdale and Merced.

These concerted attacks were delivered on schedule time, needless to say.

The program tomorrow will be interrupted by a review of the entire win, similar to that staged Saturday, in honor of Maj.-Gen. James E. Fechet, Army Air Corps chief, whose delayed arrival in company with Capt. Ira C. Eaker of Question Mark fame, occurred this afternoon.

Thursday has been established as final day of the spring maneuvers when the entire wing of 135 combat ships flies to do desperate battle in defense of the Golden Gate.

PLANS MADE FOR MANEUVERS HERE

Chamber of Commerce committees yesterday completed plans for the entertainment of the Army Air Corps officers and men who will maneuver at United Airport next Friday and Saturday. James F. Hamilton, president of United Airports Company, and chairman of the special committee in charge, announced that the first squadron of planes will land at the field Friday afternoon to complete details for the event.

It is estimated that 300 policemen will be required to patrol the field and to direct traffic on the adjoining streets and highways. William G. Bonelli, member of the chamber aviation committee, was placed in charge of police arrangements yesterday. Roads leading to United Airport, which is reached via San Fernando Road or Hollywood Way, will be posted with direction signs before the demonstration of war maneuvers on Saturday afternoon.

TREASURER ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY

Johnson Enters Race for Re-election to State Post; Statement Reviews Work

SACRAMENTO, April 21. (Exclusive)—Charles G. Johnson today announced himself a candidate for re-election as State treasurer. He is now serving his second term in the office. In a statement he said:

"By the adoption of sound financial policies the State enjoys the confidence of every financial institution in California and the State credit has been carefully guarded by promptness and courtesy in our every contact throughout the world.

"California receives a higher rate of interest than any other State in the Union on its deposit of idle money. Every deposit is safely secured by gilt-edge bonds and, while there have been failures of banks holding our deposit, California has not suffered the loss of one cent during my administration as State treasurer.

"Interest earned on State deposits during my incumbency totals $15,000,000. In the sale of California bonds I have been able to command premiums totaling $600,000 and my investment of special funds has been made in the purchase of government bonds all of which would sell at a premium price."

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

POMONAN FOUND DEAD ON DESERT

William Dale Cox, President of Realty Board, Dies

Heat Prostration Believed Cause of Death

Companions on Hunting Trip Discover Body

MEXICALI, April 21.—Companions found the body of William Dale Cox, 28-year-old Pomona real-estate man, on the desert thirty-five miles south of here at 1 p.m. yesterday, where it is believed he died of heat prostration, according to information brought to this city last night.

Cox and four friends from Pomona were on their way to San Felipe on the Gulf of California for a hunting and fishing trip, according to the story told to American Consul Frank Bohr by members of the party. They camped Saturday night some distance south of Black Butte, along a barren mountain range. Early Sunday morning the party scattered to hunt for wild game.

When Cox failed to return at the appointed time his companions started a search and a few hours later found his body where he evidently had fallen unconscious some distance off the trail. He was dead when found.

The body was brought to Mexicali last night and Mexican officials are to hold an inquest this afternoon. Arrangements have been made to bring the remains across the line this evening.

Cox's companions were H. L. Baldwin, Henry Manfels and Clarence Werner, according to the report made to the consul. They were all residents of Pomona. The dead man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cox of the same city and was president of the Pomona Valley Realty Board, according to the information given here.

The deceased was 28 years of age and leaves his parents and his brother, all residing in Pomona. Todd & Reeves of this city are in charge of funeral arrangements, which will be announced following the return of the body to Pomona.

ONTARIO, April 21. — Customs and tribal ceremonials of America's Indian tribes will be perpetuated by the Friendly Indian groups of local churches.

These boys of the grade schools here have been busy for two weeks building a Friendly Indian lodge in East Fourth-street park, on a tract of land donated to them for that purpose by the city.

When the lodge was completed and the boys had been put through the second degree of Friendly Indian membership, twenty boys received arrowhead-shaped plaques from J. S. Armstrong, president of the Ontario Y.M.C.A. board of directors.

Just before the boys were awarded their plaques a larger plaque of the same design was presented to President Armstrong, indicating he is honorary chief of the tribes here.

ISLANDER PLEADS TO HIS GUILT

Milton W. Prentice Admits Shooting Fisherman; Asks Charge be Reduced

VENTURA, April 21.—A plea of guilty was entered today by Milton W. Prentice, 18-year-old San Nicholas Island sheepherder charged with first-degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Steve Semeronko while the latter was on a fishing boat anchored off the island February 23.

Prentice, through his attorney, Merle J. Rogers, asked Superior Judge Edward Henderson that the charge be reduced to one of manslaughter, and also applied for probation. Hearings for both applications were set for the 29th inst.

Prentice was arrested following the killings of Semerenko and the wounding of John Heise, owner of the Taiyo, the fishing smack on which Semerenko was killed. The youth admitted to officers that he fired shots at the boat on the day of the fatality, saying that he was under the impression the fishermen were stealing sheep from the island.

Deputy Sheriff on Trial for Traffic Charges

SAN DIEGO, April 21. — Eight women and four men, constituting a jury in township court, today began hearing three misdemeanor traffic charges brought against Deputy Sheriff F. W. McCarthy March 26 by William A. Thompson, State highway patrolman. McCarthy, who was suspended by the Sehriff pending outcome of the charges, must also face preliminary hearing the 28th inst. on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon upon the State highway officer. Thompson, the first witness called, told how he saw McCarthy execute a turn in the wrong direction in the middle of the block on a street between India street and Kettner Boulevard. He stopped the deputy sheriff, who was driving a county car on what was understood to be official business, and found him driving without either a registration certificate in the car or a driver's card, he said.

The defendant today produced a driver's card dated by the Motor Vehicle Department as of issue prior to the date the charge was filed.

BOY GIVES LIFE FOR HOME FOLK

He Hides Injuries in Order Not to Mar Easter Joy

After Family Feast, Youth Steps in and Faints.

Medical Aid Then Too Late to Prevent Death

SAN DIEGO, April 21.—John Becker, 19 years of age, sacrificed his life because he was unwilling to bring grief into his home filled with Easter happiness. Early yesterday afternoon the youth was injured when an auto in which he was riding overturned on the Dulzura highway near Spring Valley.

A passing truck took Becker to his home here. The boy knew that his father, C. O. Becker, his mother and brothers and sisters were spending a happy Easter. He decided not to let them know of his condition so he crept into his room and remained there suffering intense agony.

When he knew that the dinner meal would be finished the boy decided it was time to go to his father and seek some medical aid. He crept downstairs and opened the door to the living-room. As he did so he fell in a faint on the floor.

"I rushed to him but could see death in his face," the elder Becker said today as he tried to choke back the tears.

"I called the police ambulance. During the wait my boy regained his senses and told me what happened. He said he crept into the house quietly because he 'did not want to spoil our happiness,'" Becker continued.

The end came for the youth shortly after midnight. He died in the San Diego Hospital.

Although State police or the Sheriff's office have no official report of the accident, Becker told his father that he was riding in a car driven by Albert Brown, 20 years of age. Bill Merritt, 30, of National City, also was a passenger in the car, it was said. Brown and Merritt escaped with minor injuries.

MAN FIGHTS REFLECTION IN MIRROR

Wrecks Residence, Cuts Arms and Lands in Jail for 300 Days Over Liquor

VENTURA, April 21. (AP)—W. A. Ensloe, oil-well worker, wrecked his home, made a trip to the hospital, and was sentenced to 300 days in jail here today after mistaking his reflection in a mirror for an intruder.

Mrs. Teresa Ensloe called police.

"My husband took a few drinks, and now he is wild. He saw himself in the mirror and started a fight. The first blow hit his reflection on the chin and slashed his left hand terribly. I need help," she told the officers over the telephone.

When police arrived the woman had fled. They found Ensloe battling an overstuffed chair. They said more than $200 damage had been done to the furnishings of his home.

At the hospital surgeons bound up Ensloe's lacerated hand and treated his right arm, in which two tendons were severed.

After the trip to the hospital Ensloe was charged with liquor possession, pleaded guilty in Justice Court and was sentenced to 300 days in jail.

BANNER PEACH PACK PREDICTED THIS YEAR

ONTARIO, April 21.—A banner peach pack was predicted today by officials of the Cutler Lobingier Packing Company as the huge cannery here was made ready for the 1930 crop. The warehouse has been cleared of all last year's pack and the officials report the leafing peach trees indicate that a heavy crop is to be borne on the trees. The Ontario plant of the Cutler Lobingier Company is to handle the entire crop which was formerly split between the Ontario and Pomona plants. The latter plant has been moved to Oakland.

MAN IN AUTO ROBS PEDESTRIAN OF ROLL

HUNTINGTON PARK, April 21. As J. W. Stout was going to his home on Carmelita street early yesterday a car came to a stop and one of the occupants demanded that he hold up his hands, at the same time pointing a revolver at him. He obeyed and his wallet, containing $15, was taken from his pocket. One of the men was about 30 years of age, 6 feet in height and weighed about 180 pounds, and the other about 20 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, and weighed 120 pounds.

TEETH MARKS ON GUM CLEW

Wad Left Behind by Couple Believed to Have Robbed Pasadena Grocery Safe May Bring Arrest

PASADENA, April 21.—Marks of teeth on a wad of chewing gum are the only clews to the identities of a man and a woman who are believed to have dynamited a safe in the Hines Grocery, 682 East Colorado street, and escaped with $700 in cash shortly before daylight today.

Detective Lieutenants Harry Thomas and Charles E. Ewing, who investigated the case this morning, discovered that the combination lock had been blown off and replaced with a large wad of chewing gum. Small tooth marks, apparently made by a woman, recalled to the grocery employees that a small woman, accompanied by a well-dressed man, had been loitering about the premises during the last week.

Entrance to the store had been gained through an office window in the adjacent Arcade Building. The robbers crawled along the attic above the store and dropped to the floor through a trap door.

After "blowing" the safe, they removed fifteen money sacks containing a total of $700 in cash and numerous signed checks. In their flight, the intruders left the rear door wide open.

The manager of the store, according to the police, reported that his suspicions had been aroused by the strange actions of a man and woman who visited the store together several times each day last week to make trivial purchases. The woman is described as very slender and copiously rouged.

SUPPORT PLEDGED TO SHOW

Guests of the Tenth Annual California Valencia Exposition at Anaheim Given Banquet

ANAHEIM, April 21.—Meeting here tonight as guests of the Tenth Annual California Valencia Orange Show, 230 newspaper men, city officials and chambers of commerce representatives pledged their support for the show, which will be held this year May 22 to June 1, inclusive. Prior to the formal program, the guests of the show enjoyed a dinner served at the Elks' Clubhouse.

Speaking upon the value of the community project in the development of Southern California, Dr. C. A. Gummere of Long Beach, principal speaker, declared that Anaheim is to be complimented upon its enterprise.

Guests of the evening were welcomed by L. E. Miller, Mayor of Anaheim, who pointed to the vast amount of energy expended annually in presenting the Valencia show to the public. Miller said further that Anaheim is glad to undertake the task of presenting the orange show for the benefit of the whole citrus industry.

The dinner and program were presided over by H. N. White, president of the orange show organization, who called upon representatives of newspapers, transportation companies, city officials and Chamber of Commerce officials for brief talks. All were free with pledges of support for the forthcoming show.

The event was one of the best attended in the history of the annual dinner, according to George W. Reid, manager of the show.

Marcell Dellan in Trouble Again

SAN DIEGO, April 21.—Marcel Dellan, who was dismissed last year by Township Justice Daney on charges of accessory in the $85,000 Agua Caliente money car robbery and double murder, was questioned by Undersheriff Oliver Sexson today in connection with a failure-to-provide charge brought against Dellan in Sacramento.

Mrs. Zilda Dellan accused her husband of leaving their children in want, Sexson said, and the court demanded $2000 bond for Dellan's appearance. Dellan, after dismissal here on the accessory charge, was cleared in Long Beach of murder for the shooting to death of a bootlegger.

While five persons were variously accused of having acted the part of accessories in the money car case, Jerry Kearney, confessed racketeer, was the only one brought to trial. He was convicted and sentenced to the County Jail about the same time the Federal court administered a jail sentence for his violation of dry laws.

REALTY INTERESTS SCORED

'Killed Goose That Laid Golden Egg by Encouraging Orgy of Public Expenditures,' Johnson Says

PASADENA, April 21.—Realty men have killed the goose that laid the golden egg by encouraging a wild orgy of public expenditures, Dr. Milbank Johnson, chairman of the California Taxpayers' Association, declared here today in addressing a conference of the taxation committee of the California Real Estate Association at Hotel Maryland.

"Real estate men are eager to shift the burden of taxation from one class of taxpayers to the other, and to settle the tax burden for the benefit of realty alone," he declared. "Would it not be wiser to unite their efforts with other taxpaying interests rather than to play out a lone hand?"

Johnson's comments resulted from discussion of plans to relieve real estate owners of part of their tax burden by levying a luxury and personal income tax to raise the $140,000,000 needed annually for public education in California.

Hayden F. Jones, chairman of the association's tax committee, read a resolution, previously adopted by the committee, which set forth the proposals to shift the educational tax burden from property owners. Jones declared that an immediate change in California's taxation policy is essential to the continued prosperity of all property owners in the State.

W. H. Daum, president of the State association, urged real estate brokers to support an amendment to the Federal Constitution limiting the amount of real estate taxes which can be levied.

Fifty delegates to the conference from all parts of California attended the all-day meeting. Robert A. Swink, chairman of the local Realty Board's taxation committee, greeted the visitors.

The conference was concluded tonight at the regular monthly dinner meeting of the Pasadena Realty Board. Edward W. Hopkins, Los Angeles County Assessor, was among the principal speakers.

BATTLE AGAINST DRILLING LOST

Injunction Denied to Stop Montecito Well

Judge Crow Rules Ordinance Not Retroactive

Test Hole Declared Not to be Public Nuisance

SANTA BARBARA, April 21.—Judge S. E. Crow in Superior Court today denied a temporary injunction to prevent the drilling of a test oil well in Montecito, exclusive millionaire colony near here, on the grounds that it was not a public nuisance and that the Montecito zoning ordinance was not retroactive. This decision is an anticlimax to some eight months of litigation, first by a group of Montecito residents, then by the county in two criminal actions and a civil suit, and now in this case for a permanent injunction brought in the name of the people of California against the Lincoln Drilling Company and Mrs. Elena Meyer, owner of the property on which the derrick was built.

The litigation started last fall when in the face of the old Montecito zoning ordinance the Lincoln company started to build a derrick on the Meyer property. Work was stopped by two emergency ordinances passed by the Board of Supervisors. Judge Edward Henderson and Judge William D. Dehy of Inyo county, in extra sessions, ruled against the county and practically threw out the Montecito zoning ordinance and the two special ordinances with their decision, which freed the Lincoln company of any law violation in starting the well.

The county repassed the Montecito zoning ordinance and countered with another suit, charging nuisance. The plaintiff in the case was changed to the people of the State and arguments opened last week on the granting of a temporary injunction, which Judge Crow refused today.

His decision was one of the longest ever given in the Superior Court here and it practically invalidates all of the county actions attempting to prohibit oil-well drilling on the Meyer property in Montecito.

Cut on Poway Grade Declared to be Unsafe

SAN DIEGO, April 21.—The deep cut at the summit of Poway Grade on Inland Highway near Miramar is in an unsafe condition, members of the Board of Supervisors agreed today in comparing the steepness of the cut with the similar work on the new Escondido-San Pasqual Road. Boulders may be loosened along each road in heavy rains, the Supervisors commented.

The comparison was brought out when E. P. Watson, one of the partnership of contractors who performed the job of grading the new road for ten miles and laying 2.6 miles of concrete pavement beginning at Escondido, suggested a safer county requirement for slopes of grades in mountain districts.

Supervisor LeRoy Aul, in whose county district the Escondido-San Pasqual road lies, pointed out that County Surveyor E. R. Childs was unable to determine the exact slant of rock when surveying the new road. Excavations by the contractors showed the rock slant toward San Pasqual River on the side of the road followed, thus requiring a greater degree of slant of the cuts to insure more safety. The contractors obtained approval of a bill for the extra work. Contract cost of the road was $148,447.20

Supervisor Edgar F. Hastings suggested that the contract cost might have been less except for a mistake attributed by him to the surveyor. More work will have to be done in the Poway Cut and along the new road from time to time to remove boulders, Supervisor Thomas M. Hurley opined. A constant danger exists at both places, he remarked.

Long Sentence Given for Theft of Citrus Fruit

COVINA, April 21.—In an effort to curb the loss of fruit to local citrus growers, orange groves in and about Covina are being watched closely by Chief of Police Saunders and his staff of officers.

In co-operation with the intensive campaign to rid the citrus territory of fruit thieves, Judge Reed in local police court has been meting out heavy fines and sentences to the culprits. Louis J. Clark, who was arrested last week for taking oranges from the Henry J. Damerel groves, was sentenced by Judge Reed to spend 180 days in the County Jail.

Miller, justice of the peace of San Antonio township, makes the announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election, his name to be submitted to the voters at the primary Tuesday, August 26. Miller was first named by the county Supervisors to fill a vacancy in December, 1923, and at the expiration of this unexpired term became a candidate and was elected by an overwhelming majority in 1928. Judge Miller has served at times in the Municipal Court of Los Angeles, and at present is holding night sessions of court. He was admitted to practice as an attorney thirty years ago in New York. In 1915 he came to California and was admitted to practice here in 1917. He has been a resident of this township continuously for ten years.

pendent Labor party to give expression to the conception of the Socialist movement as a struggle of workers to free themselves from exploitation, and to gain economic freedom.

SERIES OF PROPOSALS

The conference also reminded the government that work or adequate maintenance still is the "paper policy" of the Labor party. The Independent Labor party proposed:

Unemployment allowances for families, increased unemployment allowances for individuals, establishment of a minimum living wage, reduction of working hours, complete reorganization of industry along Socialist lines of public ownership and public control of banking credit.

RADIO TO BRING OPERA TONIGHT

KFI Schedules New Series, Opening With "Carmen"

Alice Gentle and Cimini Will Have Principal Roles

School of Air Presentation on KHJ's Program

The Times Forum, KHJ, 1:30 p.m.; Jennie Durkee, instrumentalist, and Dr. Frank McCoy, health authority.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

An ambitious and worth-while contribution to radio broadcast will be inaugurated tonight at 8 o'clock, and every Tuesday evening thereafter, with KFI presenting a series of grand and comic operas in their entirety, as well as concert music of the highest order. Tonight Bizet's opera "Carmen" is to be heard, with Alice Gentle and Pietro Cimini assuming the leading roles.

Among the principals in most of the grand operas presented in this cycle will be Virginia Flohri, soprano; Robert Hurd and Harold Spaulding, tenors, and Everton Stidham and Oscar Seaholm, baritones. Presentations of "La Traviata," "Lucia di Lammermoor," "Rigoletto," "Prince of Pilsen" and "Die Fledermaus" will be heard in this series.

All of the operas are to be sung in English and given in their complete form, with the exception of those parts intended for ballet numbers or as accompaniments to purely visual effects on the stage. The programs will run whatever length they require in each instance.

FEATURE OF SERIES

KFI gives assurance that artists of national reputation and unquestioned ability have been contracted for the series. A feature will be periods in which the national music of the various foreign countries will be presented.

Radio programs of this character deserve particular mention and support from Radioland. The public demands high-class programs, criticises those that displease them and by the same token should be as ready and willing to commend stations that raise the standard of radio broadcast.

Listeners-in who have had neither the time nor the money to avail themselves of a knowledge of grand and comic opera should take advantage of this series.

The fifty-two programs are being sponsored by the Adohr Creamery and Stock Farms.

POINTS TO DIAL

KHJ, at 11:30 a.m. will ring the radio school bell for the American School of the Air. The story of Sam Houston's army and its famous victory over Santa Ana, following the Alamo massacre, will be dramatically portrayed. "As Ye Sow, So Shall Ye Weep" will be the moral of Graybar's "Mr. and Mrs." period at 7 o'clock tonight. Joe has finished his spring planting, but Hector, Vi's dog, does a little premature reaping. At 8 o'clock the Ice Carnival from KFRC promises a fast program replete with Swiss yodeling numbers, storm scenes, an Alpine Girls' chorus, and an assortment of varied entertainment. The locale of the carnival is St. Moritz, Switzerland, and it is KFRC's intention to reflect the gay spirit of the holiday-makers at that resort.

KFI, at 2 this afternoon is to bring Senator Reed of Pennsylvania in a talk from London giving the Republican viewpoint on the naval conference. At 6 tonight a trio of song-writers, De Sylva, Lew Brown and Ray Henderson, composers of the music for "Hold Everything," "Sonny Boy" and George White's "Scandals," will be heard in many of their best hits. At 6:30 p.m., Bob and Monte, a harmony team, will offer a half-hour of song "dangerous to susceptible hearts."

FRENCH VIOLINIST

KECA, at 5 tonight, will make a musical pilgrimage to France with Renee Chemet, distinguished French violinist, as soloist. At 7 tonight the stirring strains of Sousa's "Invincible Eagle" march will bring a Westinghouse salute. Among the numbers to be played by Cesare Sodaro's Symphonic Orchestra, will be Spross's "Song of Steel" and Coleridge-Taylor's "Viking Song."

KNX, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon is to feature the Caltech Glee Club in a half-hour of collegiate music and song. At 8:30 p.m. Eugene Egloff, 'cellist, and Rosalie Barker Frye, contralto, will be heard in a recital of classic and ballad compositions.

KFWB, at 7:30 tonight, will introduce re-created baseball games. The first game will be a world's series contest between the New York Giants and Boston Americans. At 9:30 p.m., the heavyweight fight between Max Baer and Ernie Owens is to be heard.

HENDERSONVILLE (N. C.) April 21. (AP)—Clarence Howard, deputy Federal prohibition agent, was shot and probably fatally wounded here today by Fred Swartz, an asserted bootlegger.

Swartz took Saltz's pistol and ran a block and a half to the police station where he surrendered.

Gandhi Declares Violence Will Not Deter Him

CALCUTTA, April 21. (AP)—Government activities in the Indian situation today still centered on pursuit of the insurgent group which raided the police arsenal of Chittagong Saturday and killed six of the defenders.

Troops and auxiliaries are searching for the raiders, but as yet have not captured them.

Reports from Bombay, Madras and Karachi today indicate that an atmosphere of tension pervades those cities, but only in Karachi was any large-scale demonstration staged. It caused no trouble, several hundred women merely marching through the streets carrying pots of contraband salt on their heads.

Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the Nationalists and father of the civil disobedience movement, remained in Gujerat today. Interviewed regarding the Chittagong incident, he declared it "sad news," but added, "however, serious the situation becomes, there can be no suspension of the fight; there can be no retracing of our footsteps."

Sutcliffe was convicted of mutilating Carl Bengston, 20 years of age, musician, whom he surprised with his wife in a hotel here.

TARIFF REPORT EXPECTED SOON

Conferees Make Great Speed Threshing Out Points

Large Block of Amendments Adjusted Yesterday

Change Approved for Rules of Literature Entry

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—The tariff bill conferees today adjusted a large block of amendments to the administrative provisions of existing law over which the Senate and House were in disagreement.

The Senate provision liberalizing present restrictions against importation of foreign literature regarded as seditious or obscene by placing in the Federal courts, instead of customs officials, the power to pass final judgment on entry was among the many changes approved.

The conferees, however, eliminated the Senate amendment to create a consumers' counsel in the tariff commission with power to participate in and initiate proceedings before that body for tariff-rate changes.

So much progress was made by the tariff adjusters in composing their less controversial differences that predictions are made that a report might be made to the two houses this week.

House Hunting Made Easy Through Times Ads

I lived in China for some years, where walls are walls, so I learned a great deal about them."

When pretty Dorothy March left her devoted young husband, Benjamin March, and her 18-month-old daughter, Judith, because she believed she could find the greater happiness with her husband's best friend, debonair Tom Newton, she did what many a woman before her has dared. But when the deserted husband received her back again into his home quite as though she had been on an innocent little visit to the home folk or a dear friend in another city, he gave society a shock from which it has not yet recovered.

PHOTOGRAPHERS PUZZLED

Photographers are still wondering at the scene which took place on the front porch of the modest red-brick house in quiet Detroit street when Dorothy March returned from her informal honeymoon through Cuba, Bermuda and Florida. "Oh," she said, girlishly, smoothing back her black hair, flashing a smile from her sloe-like eyes, "returning from a journey I should have some baggage, shouldn't I?"

"Of course," her husband agreed, and hurriedly placed her bags so their telltale labels could be caught by the cameras.

This all sounds incredible, unless one has met Benjamin March.

"Your experiment is a subject for discussion over dinner tables, in editorial columns, wherever men and women consider behaviorism," I said to Dr. March.

"Indeed," he said, with courteous surprise. "How interesting!"

There is not the slightest doubt that if a bomb exploded under the chair on which Dr. March was sitting he would say quietly, "It didn't blow me to pieces! How interesting!"

Yet the man is not a stoic at heart. He is capable of the deepest emotion as the set of his rounded chin, his full red lips, his slightly prominent nose and sensitive nostrils attest. He is a student of Orient mysticism, yet he is not a mystic. On the contrary, he is of the earth earthy, with a fine breadth of shoulder and the color of those who like life and live it in a lively way. He looks as though he might have won his letter on his college track team if he had gone out for it.

MAN SHOOTS SELF

This is the man, who, from appearances, might be any successful young business man of your acquaintance. He it is who said to the woman he loved past understanding: "If you and Tom want each other more than anything else in life it is proper for you to go away together and I agree to the experiment on one condition. Should you desire at the end of a month to leave me and our baby permanently, you shall have that privilege. But if you want to return and resume life with me, you may do so and I will do everything in my power to make our life agreeable."

When Dorothy March telegraphed to her husband from Miami, Fla., that her love life with Tom Newton was a failure and that she was returning to her home, Benjamin March kept his part of their bargain not only cheerfully, but eagerly. She did not count on tragedy dipping its red fingers into the solution. When the woman for whom Tom Newton deserted his own family and obtained a large sum of money by what is asserted to be false representations left their Florida rendezvous to return to her husband and child, Tom Newton put the service revolver he had carried through the World War to his head and ended his part of the love experiment forever.

NEVER MENTIONED

Even this shocking denouement of the trial honeymoon did not dampen the ardor of the husband's welcome to his errant wife, nor has it made any difference in the happiness of their reunion.

"The whole affair is as if it had never been," says Benjamin March. "No mention of it is made between us."

The Marches go about with their friends, young intellectuals like themselves, as they always did, dining, attending their clubs, making a part of the circle of those interested in art and the development of it.

The atmosphere of the romance of Benjamin March, the young student, and Dorothy Rowe, daughter of a Methodist missionary in Nanking, China, found under an oriental moon, is carefully preserved. It seems possible the husband has gone through the 17,000 hells he said he had known when the news of his wife's care-free flight with the other man and her apparently nonchalant return became a matter for public headshaking.

ELECTRIC UNIT EARNINGS TOLD

Diamond Manufacturing Net $26,644 for Quarter

Equivalent to 86 Cents Per Share on Common

Decrease from 1929 Period Under 9 Per Cent

Diamond Electrical Manufacturing Company, Ltd., for the first quarter of this year showed net profits of $26,644.83 after all charges and Federal taxes, as compared with $29,201.63 for the corresponding period of last year, a decrease of $2556.80, or 8.7 per cent, according to the company's quarterly report, which was issued yesterday by J. E. Pengilly, vice-president and treasurer.

After allowance for the quarterly dividend requirements on the 5344 shares of $100 par preferred stock outstanding, the first-quarter earnings are equivalent to 86 cents a share on 20,082 common shares outstanding, as compared with 99 cents a common share on the same share basis in the 1929 quarter.

"In view of conditions generally prevailing in the first two months of this year, officials of the company are well pleased with the first-quarter showing," Mr. Pengilly stated.

"April business to date is revealing a very substantial improvement and indications for the second quarter are excellent."

The Square D Company of Detroit, Mich., has been negotiating with the Los Angeles company for a merger and definite action on the deal is expected to be announced shortly. If the consolidation is effected it will be through an offer of the Square D Company to exchange its stock for that of the Diamond Electrical Manufacturing Company and such an offer must first be ratified by stockholders of the Square D Company.

Diamond Electrical Manufacturing Company operates manufacturing plants in Los Angeles, San Francisco, and also a subsidiary with a factory at Houston, Tex., in its production of a complete line of electrical control devices.

Air Transport Meeting Called

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Special meeting of stockholders of National Air Transport, Inc., was called today for May 7 by Frederick B. Rentschler, president of United Aircraft which is fighting for control of N. A. T.

United Aircraft is said to own 57 per cent of N.A.T. stock. The purpose of the meeting, which was called by United as a holder of "one-fifth or more of the outstanding stock," is to act on the proposed issuance of 300,000 shares of National stock in exchange for control of Eastern Air Transport, a subsidiary of North American Aviation, Inc., the latter is controlled by the Curtiss-Wright interests and it is contended that the proposed acquisition will reduce United's interest in National Air Transport to a minimum.

Tank Car Net Profits Jump

CHICAGO, April 21. (Exclusive) General American Tank Car Corporation reported today March quarter net profits of $1,703,917 after all charges, equal to $2.21 a share on the outstanding capital stock as against $1,157,300 or $1.60 a share for the same period last year.

The first quarter is usually the poorest quarter of the year, Elias Mayer, president, stated. From all indications earnings during the remaining quarters of the year should show considerable improvement over those reported for the first quarter, he said.

Midland Steel Tells Earnings

WOMEN TURN TO OIL SHARES

Union Oil Company Reports 28.90 Per Cent of Stockholders Are Feminine Investors

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Petroleum companies, especially the large and seasoned enterprises, are winning the favor of the fickle woman investor. Several of the larger oil companies, in checking up stock records lately, are somewhat surprised to find a heavy sprinkling of women's names on lists that formerly were dominated almost exclusively by men.

Union Oil of California is one of the oil companies recently discovering a broad ownership of its shares by women. Of the total of 13,702 stockholders, combining Union Oil and Union Oil Associates, the company finds that 28.90 per cent are women.

EDUCATION RESULTS

This percentage is almost as high as Southern California Edison reports; and public utilities are highly regarded by women investors. Edison's stockholders are approximately 47 per cent women.

Women investors turning to the oil business is undoubtedly traceable to the broad dissemination of investment information in the last few years. Twenty years ago, women were principally interested in the old line railroads like New Haven, Pennsylvania and Atchison. Then the fancies of the women turned to public utilities, and now from public utilities to an increasing range of industrial and related enterprises.

Aside from the compliment women investors have paid the Union Oil Company, it is interesting to note several other facts about the distribution of this company's shares. It is largely owned by Californians, only 19 per cent of the stock standing in the names of residents outside of the State.

Furthermore, the interest in the stock substantially increased in California last year, and nearly as much outside of the State. The increase in California stockholders was 35 per cent; non-California, 20 per cent.

Institutions are large holders of the stock. Corporations, estates, banks and trust companies are listed as the owners of approximately 16 per cent of the 4,215,953 shares outstanding.

FLOATING SUPPLY SMALL

Another point of interest is that only 16.63 per cent of the stock is in the hands of brokers. This constitutes the floating supply, or the amount of stock deposited in margin accounts with brokers. The small percentage of stock with the brokers is favorable from the investment point of view, but unfavorable from the speculative.

Union's stock and cash dividend policy inaugurated last year probably accounted for an increase in the popularity of the shares with both investors and speculators, and if maintained will ultimately make for a broader interest in the stock from both classes of stock buyers.

How the Union Oil and Union Oil Associates shares is distributed is tabulated in the following table:

STEEL UNIT TO EXPEND LARGE SUM

Industrial Leader to Spend $200,000,000 on Plants and Expansion

HOBOKEN (N. J.) April 21. (Exclusive)—Plant improvements and expansion contemplated this year for the United States Steel Corporation will total $200,000,000, Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee, told the stockholders today at the annual meeting.

David F. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company and a former member of the Wilson Cabinet, was elected a director to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Robert Winsor. Other directors were re-elected.

In addressing the stockholders, Mr. Taylor expressed the opinion that readjustment following the business difficulties of last fall have now taken place. He said in part:

"The Steel Corporation stands for very important things in the business world. The code of this corporation which it has developed in the twenty-eight years of its existence is one that seeks such business as is in conformity with best business practice and for the benefit of community as well as stockholders and employees. Our commodity is as vital to the welfare of the nation as any other which could be recalled. This is true in peace time and particularly true in war time.

"We encountered naturally, in the course of years, all sorts of variations in conditions. We witnessed last year severe readjustment in securities markets which to an extent was bound to occur, but which, gaining emphasis by panicky conditions, ran beyond its proper bounds in readjustment.

"It seems to me that most needed readjustment which necessarily appeared last summer has now taken place. We feel that because of this readjustment last fall the present business foundation is basically sound and we can look into the future with a feeling of assurance, confidence and safety.

"There is no great inventory at present time which warrants downward revisions to lower levels.

"Certain commodity values have witnessed readjustment since last fall, particularly those designated as crop commodities."

BANKING POLICY BIG ISSUE

Proposed Change in System Attracting Nation-wide Interest Because of Importance

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, April 21.—The changing banking policy of the United States is attracting nation-wide attention.

While a majority of the Banking and Currency Committee of the House of Representatives seems inclined to favor the plans of the big banking leaders, Mr. Average Man is doing some thinking of his own.

He is finding out that already 14 per cent of the banks control approximately half of the banking assets of the nation—that while banking assets in the smaller communities are decreasing, New York's banking assets are moving ahead. Today twenty-four banks in New York control about one-sixth of the country's resources.

Mr. Average Man, too, knows the weaknesses as well as the strong points of the small bank. He knows that in the nine-year period from July, 1920, to July, 1929, nearly 5000 banks closed, involving deposits of about $1,500,000,000.

Louis T. McFadden, chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency of the House of Representatives, says the great issue raised by the new banking policy now is:

"Whether the head of a great banking group, sitting at his desk in Wall street, shall be permitted to say to John Smith, farmer in South Dakota, 'we will not permit your bank to lend you money,' or say to Richard Doe, merchant in California, 'you must cut down your loans or pay a higher rate of interest.'"

In Mr. McFadden's opinion:

"It is this issue which, in the final analysis, will have to be tried by the American people through their representatives in Congress."

In the field of domestic business, no question is more vital and important than this one of banking policy.

"The people are saving again. Look at the gain of $29,000,000 in New York savings banks' deposits during March—21,000 new accounts opened in thirty days in that one State."

This comment is from an old-school banker, one who is against installment buying, modern credit methods and the mad searching after new wants.

While business in the United States is nothing to cheer about, it is not bad enough to cry over either. The National City Bank's compilation of the profits of 1530 manufacturing and trading companies for 1929 showed $4,160,000,000, an increase of 17 per cent over 1928, and that year showed almost as large an increase over 1927, while 1927 showed large gains over 1926.

The fact is, the entire world is taking a rest. It has been running full speed up hill for seven years and now it has dropped into a walk.

This explains why the United States exports were $286,000,000 less for the first quarter this year than last—about 20 per cent less. It is not a local condition. Business is slow everywhere. But it will recover. It always has.

"Just when?" That's a hard question to answer. But the best opinion inclines to the belief that March saw the worst of the depression. From now on business should improve gradually. The summer trade probably will be fair and business during the fall should be satisfactory.

The year 1931, according to present indications, should begin a substantial prosperous business era.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—The bond market was both dull and easy today. Although the largest declines appeared in issues carrying stock conversion or warrant features, many of the investment rails failed to resist moderate pressure and losses of a point in this group were rather numerous. United States governments, after an irregular forenoon, stiffened in the later trading and closed slightly higher, reflecting a relaxation in demand loan rates. Time money was firm.

Canadian Pacific 4s, Santa Fe 4½s, Chicago and Northwestern 4¾s, Morris and Essex 4½s, Nickel Plate 4½s, Southern Pacific collateral 4s, New York Central 4½s, and Union Pacific first 4s were among the high-grade carrier liens showing losses ranging from 1 to 2 points.

With the exception of a few amusement bonds, the share feature group was heavy. American Telephone 4½s led the decline with a 7-point net loss. International Telephone 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5½s, New Haven 6s and Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants, sagged from 1 to 2 points.

General Theaters 6s were the strongest of the amusement bonds, rising a maximum of 6 points. Pathe 7s rose 2. Warner Brothers Pictures gained ¾ net and Loew's 6s rallied about 2, but turned at the close.

Utilities and industrials were quiet.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

INDUSTRIES of the PACIFIC COAST

IRON & STEEL

STRUCTURAL STEEL

THE iron and steel industry is one of the most important on the Pacific Coast. In the State of California it represents 20% of the industrial structure, and pays 25% of the aggregate wages of all California manufacturing establishments.

The trend of employment, which definitely reflects the output of steel, reached an all-time high peak last year. The industry employed more than 70,000 workers in 1929, an increase of more than 18% over 1928.

You will find representative securities of the iron and steel industry on our current offering sheet. We will gladly send you a copy on request.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21. (AP)—Irregularity that characterized morning trading on the stock exchange gave way to a downward trend as the day wore on. When the Dow Jones averages of the New York Stock Exchange showed a drop of nearly 6 points, little enthusiasm was left for western bulls. The general feeling was current that the market had discounted expected improvements in industrial and commercial conditions well in advance.

Insurance stocks remained active. Pacific Finance and Fireman's Fund again set new highs, but the latter settled back to record a loss of 2½ points at the close. Pacific Finance's advance was 1½ points.

In spite of a long list of lower prices among the industrials, including Crown Zellerbach's slight decline to a new low at 16¼, there were several gains. Clorox and Leslie Salt were up a point or more each. The Crown Zellerbach preferred issues went higher in contrast to the decline of the common. Investment takings continued in several industrial stocks.

Banks had a poor day. Wells Fargo Bank skidded 10 points on a small turnover. Transamerica gradually worked lower during the day, closing down ⅝. Rumors continued to circulate about prospects of renewed market activity for Transamerica, but there was a noticeable nervousness, based on continued failure of many recent rumors to find confirmation in the market action of the stock.

Utility stocks took their cue in Wall street and slumped sharply. Losses of a point or more were taken by Pacific Telephone, Pacific Gas and Pacific Lighting. Practically the whole group drifted lower.

Oils were irregular, the only notable change being a gain of 1½ by Honolulu Oil old stock, hitting a new top at 40, there being no news of importance on the company or the group.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Setback Follows Reopening of Securities Market After Lapse of Three Days

Reactionary movements swept through the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday as operations were resumed after a three-day interval. Several of the more prominent issues, including Edison, Standard of California and Union Oil fell back a point or more while others dipped only fractionally with the rate of dealings slackening considerably.

Pacific Finance was the strong spot of the day and aroused the speculative interest of traders with a very rapid turnover. This issue, which has been under steady accumulation over the past week, advanced more than a point to reach the year's peak at 43. The stock opened at 41 5-8 and closed at 42½, up 7-8 net. Each of the preferred issues of the same company advanced ½. Pacific American Fire Insurance, on light sales, shot up 1 1-4 points to 57½. Pacific Mutual held firm to 92 with the rights off 5 cents to 4.15.

Southern California Edison was sold extensively and knocked down 1 1-4 points to 68½ after sales of more than 4000 shares. The rights held to 4.40. Pacific Public Service firmed up 1-4 to 34 1-4 on small sales.

All of the oils closed lower, led by Standard of California, which dropped 1 point to 69 5-8, and Union, which fell off 1 5-8 to 46 7-8. Union Associates yielded ½ to 46 3-8; Richfield, ½ to 25 1-8; Macmillan, ½ to 29½ and Rio Grande, 5-8 to 23. Pacific Western held steady to 17½.

Claude Neon slumping 2 points to 38 on a light turnover was the only issue in the balance of the list to record a change of any consequence.

Sales totaled 29,115 shares valued at $964,960; previous day, 25,871 shares valued at $625,917.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Crystalite Products and Fox Theaters, although trading in small volume, were the outstanding features of yesterday's operations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. The balance of the list turned irregular with fractional losses recorded for the most part in line with the trend of the senior board.

Crystalite, following an 8-point jump on the preceding session, shot up more than 5 points to hit a new 1930 high at 30. The stock reacted sharply to close at 24, off ½ net. Only sixty shares were sold. Fox Theaters was up more than a point to record a new peak for the year at 16, from where it reacted to close at 15 1-8, up 3-8 net. Fokker led the trading to sell down 1 7-8 to 15 1-8. Claude Neon of China was a weak spot, dropping 2 points to 15. Pacific Indemnity advanced a point to 46.

Italo Petroleum was the strong spot in the "penny" list, advancing 12 cents to 70 cents. Lockheed Aircraft transferred at 5.00, up 25 cents, and Sun Realty shot up 45 cents to a new 1930 high at 2.75.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—The curb market bounded upward at the opening today as large blocks of some of the leading public utilities changed hands at higher prices, but the rally was checked in the last hour by heavy selling in sympathy with the weakness shown on the "big board." Final quotations were irregular, with a number of rather sizeable gains and a few rather sharp declines. Trading was moderately heavy in volume, the day's sales running close to 1,400,000 shares.

Electric Bond and Share opened at 117¼, a new 1930 top, but slipped back to 113⅞ for a net loss of 2⅝. Niagara Hudson, which was turned over in large volume in anticipation of its early transfer to the stock exchange, closed slightly higher at 23, after setting a new high at 23⅜. Brazilian Light and Traction attained a new peak at 54⅜ and then dipped to 53 for a small fractional loss. American and Foreign Power warrants broke 6 points and the American Light and Traction issues, Consolidated Gas of Baltimore, Cleveland Traction and the United Light and Power issues showed net declines of 2 to nearly 4 points. North American Light and Power touched a new high at 74, up 2¾, closing at the top.

Oils turned heavy on the announcement of a large increase in California production last week, and the publication of a relatively poor first quarter report by the Atlantic Refining Company. Cosden sold down more than 4 points and Humble, Vacuum, Texon and a few others sagged a point or two. Cities Service rallied on the publication of a record breaking 1929 report, but lost its gain on realizing.

Pacific Coast Biscuit issues, and a few other specialties sold at highs for the year.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

TRUSTEE STANDARD OILSHARES --- Series "B"

"The Largest and Best Managed Business Institutions in the World"
---says Henry Ford

"The Standard Oil Companies as a group," Henry Ford has said, "represent not only the largest but the best managed big business institutions in the world." This group, directly and through affiliated companies, is reported to control approximately one-half of the total oil business of America, with an estimated 10,000 companies and partnerships dividing the other one-half. Of these 10,000 companies, it is said that not over 100 cover all branches of the industry.

The best means of purchasing and holding Standard Oil stocks is offered by Trustee Standard Oilshares, Series "B"—a fixed investment trust representing ownership in 23 great Standard Oil securities listed at the left. Total resources of these companies are in excess of $4,880,000,000; while surplus alone exceeds $1,500,000,000.

week, and unfavorable first-quarter earnings statements from such companies as Atlantic Refining, Hudson Motor, Youngstown Sheet, and Du Pont. A few first-quarter statements, however, showed moderate gains over the like period of 1929, including those of Colorado Fuel, General American Tank and General Foods.

FOX FILM ACTIVE

Fox Film A was a strong spot, moving up 7 points to a high for the year at 55 3-8, and closing at 53 3-8, reflecting announcement of the new financing plan. Loew's and General Theaters were strong for a time, but reacted late in the day. Radio Corporation sold up about 3 points to 64 3-4, a new high for the year, then slipped back to 63 1-8.

Allied Chemical fell about 11 points, and shares losing 4 to 7 included American and Foreign Power, American Telephone, American Tobacco B, Anaconda, Columbia Carbon, Electric Power and Light, General Electric, Goodyear, Granby, Houston Oil, International Harvester, Union Carbide and Underwood Elliott.

Credit conditions were easy, call money renewing at 4 per cent, and again sagging to 3½. Money was available in the outside market at 3. Foreign exchanges were dull, reflecting the Easter Monday holiday abroad. Sterling cables ruled at $4.86 1-8, off 1-16.

Commodity markets were also under pressure.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Receipts for the week's opening session were unusually light and a good demand existed for all classes of killing cattle. Prices on steers were fully steady with some strength on lower grades. She stock, especially in-between and low-grade cows, was strong to 25c higher with spots showing even more gain. Bulls were fairly steady.

Three loads of low good quality 1213 to 1228-pound Montana steers brought 11.75 with a few loads of medium 906 to 1169-pound intermountain, Imperial and Arizona steers at 11.00@11.25. Several loads of 757 to 900-pound Imperial and Arizona steers on the Mexican order brought 10.00@10.75, usually with a few head out at 1.00 under load price.

Some small lots of heifers under 900 pounds brought 9.85@10.10, with plain heifers down to 8.50 and below. Odd head of good weighty cows sold up to 9.25 with bulk of medium to good cows at 8.50@9.00. Majority of common to medium cows scored 7.00@8.25 with low cutters and cutters mainly at 4.00@6.75. Bulls sold up to 8.40.

CALVES—Trade was slow in this division and prices looked weak to unevenly lower but strictly choice vealers were lacking. Best vealers offered brought 12.75@14.00, with plainer vealers and weighty calves selling at 10.00@12.50 and culls down to 7.50.

HOGS—An active market prevailed with only three loads unsold at 1 o'clock. Prices were fully 25c lower than Friday's trade with a few sales probably off more. Three loads of good 189 to 195-pound Nebraska butchers topped at 11.00 with two loads of 185-pound weights at 10.85. Bulk of offerings, including Utahs, Colorados and Nebraska butchers, brought 10.50@10.75 and averaged 154 to 194 pounds. A load of 155-pound Nebraskas sold down to 10.25 and three loads of Colorados were held above 10.50. A few weighty butchers brought 9.75 with packing sows at 8.50@9.00.

SHEEP—Trade was not very active in the sheep barns and nothing was available to test top quotations. However, the market continues to carry a weak undertone and it seems doubtful if good to choice spring lambs would sell over 10.75. A package of medium 71-pound lambs brought 10.25 with a deck of 81-pound weights at 10.15. A short deck of 77-pound lambs made 10.00 with an 80-pound deck at the same price but sorted 50 head out at 8.00. Some very thin cull lambs sold down to 6.50. A deck of 122-pound ewes were steady at 5.25 with common to low medium ewes at 3.00@4.00.

You Can Share in Transportation Riches

THE story of Western transportation—and of the wealth that has come since the hacienda days to the far-sighted man and woman who have invested in this rapidly growing industry—is told in a beautifully illustrated folder which we have just issued. Of especial interest is the growth of The Pickwick Corporation, whose resources have increased from $1,463,497 in 1922 to $13,157,236. Regular cash dividends amounting to $1,818,459 have been paid to Pickwick stockholders. As the key link in a great 37,000-mile motor transportation system, Pickwick looks forward to even greater growth and profits.

Natural Gas Markets are constantly expanding

IN NATURAL GAS is inherent a great force of nature which is being put to ever-widening uses as a superior fuel. That superiority is completely established by both geological and economic findings, while competition for natural gas reserves becomes increasingly keen. Long-distance pipe lines are constantly opening up new markets. Few communities are without the pale of this development.

Significantly, this competition benefits both the industry and the consumer, for the potential demand is seen to be far greater than the present distribution. Good management, location of properties, stable consumer demand, and prudent financing, are the distinguishing characteristics of sound natural gas companies.

The illustrated booklet, "Natural Gas, the Modern Fuel," tells the part which this corporation is playing in this thriving industry. A copy will be mailed to you upon request.

Bearish Wheat Outlook Turns Prices Lower

CHICAGO, April 21. (AP)—Acute weakness in corn values today caused the market to break 3 cents a bushel in some cases. Flurried selling to stop losses developed, the trade being taken by surprise as a result of the corn visible supply showing an increase notwithstanding liberal shipments from Chicago accompanying opening of lake navigation. Rapid progress of spring wheat seeding, together with talk of discontinuance of Federal Farm Board loans to wheat growers, had a bearish effect on wheat.

Closing quotations on corn were nervous 2¼@2½c lower than Saturday's finish. Wheat closed unsettled at ¼@1c net decline, oats ⅛@½c down, and provisions unchanged to 7c off.

Wheat was affected by the late weakness of corn, whereas earlier corn was sensitive to downturns of wheat. A bearish factor as to wheat was liquidation of May holdings, as a result of signs that Federal loans on wheat were about to be discontinued. It was not until after today's trading was at an end, however, that definite announcement was made saying loans of Federal money on wheat at the present basis would cease, at least temporarily after April 30.

Beneficial rains over sections of the Southwest and West, together with statements that the United States wheat visible supply on May 1 would total about 138,000,000 bushels against a ten-year average of only 47,000,000 bushels did much to make wheat prices average lower. With most European markets closed on account of a post-Easter holiday, overseas demand for wheat from North America was poor.

Splendid USED CAR BARGAINS always to be found in TIMES WANT AD

Roaming business men!

THIS MODERN GYPSY OF BUSINESS . . is a migratory mosquito . . incident to large mergers and chain institutions . . whose momentary attention to your important business . . is a very painful sort of service . . to you.

Through all this flux and change, the old-fashioned MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA has kept and fortified its three State records for building and loan associations. Our officers reflect the permanence and stability of this institution through long years of continuous service to you.

WHEN YOU WANT A CONSTRUCTION LOAN . . or a 6% investment certificate . . you deal with an executive whose furniture is not battered and worn from continuous change of residence . . and whose mind is not fermenting from a helter-skelter change of business policies.

With $14,500,000 resources and $3,200,000 paid-in capital and surplus, the MUTUAL Building and Loan Association of POMONA has such stability of man-power and experience as YOU demand in your business.

Because we want your good will more than size or extortionate profit, you will be glad to know that we charge interest on trust-deed notes only on such sums of money as are actually used—not from the date of note-signature, as is customary. No, this policy is 37½ years old, and not a bit of competitive generosity.

A plan that may end the gasoline-price war will be thoroughly discussed today when the State-wide general committee meets at 2 p.m. in the offices of the California Oil and Gas Association, to consider a suggestion that the State's production be cut from 610,000 barrels to 550,000 barrels of oil a day.

The California Oil and Gas Association last week submitted the new plan, at the suggestion of Herbert R. Macmillan, president, and chairman of the Santa Fe Springs Operators' Committee. He urged adoption of the plan emphasizing that unless a more drastic curtailment program was made effective, the number of employees discharged by the various refineries may increase.

Paul Boggs, chairman of the general committee, is expected to preside. He has notified all members of his committee to attend the meeting as the matter to be considered is thought important to the oil industry as a whole, since it has endeavored to re-establish itself as to petroleum needs of the State.

Flow Gauged

The Standard Oil Company's No. 38 on Section 35, 21-17, on the north dome at Kettleman Hills, which came in several days ago now is producing 2100 barrels of 60 deg. gravity oil along with 52,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from a depth of 7392 feet.

Standard's two absorption plants are coreing for the entire gas flow from its No. 81, No. 8 and No. 38. The company's new producer is one-quarter mile due west of the Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1, and is higher on the structure than the latter and is flowing considerably more oil and gas.

The Petroleum Securities Company's Felix No. 1 was completed at 7276 feet, and penetrated 670 feet of oil sand to the top of the shale, while Standard's No. 38 cored through nearly 900 feet of productive formation. Standard's daily production is slightly in excess of 9000 barrels of high gravity oil at Kettleman Hills. It has twelve wells suspended with the bottom of each well into the oil sand and ready to bring in when its agreement to suspend operations expires July 31, 1931.

Completes Pier

A 1400-foot pier has been completed by the Signal Oil and Gas Company on its Appleford tideland permit just west of the Caroline Spaulding Tideland Permit No. 93, along the coast at Elwood, and preparations have started to build a derrick at the end of the pier in the ocean.

Signal Oil's tideland permit embaces twenty-eight acres and is considered proven as the Pacific Western Oil Company prospected the Spaulding permit by bringing in a good producer several months ago.

At Poso Creek, Signal Oil has abandoned Glide No. 22-B, which went to 1700 feet without finding sufficient oil sand to justify further prospecting. The portion of the lease where its dry hole was drilled will be quit-claimed. On another portion of the lease there are nine company wells producing.

Preparing Foundation

Derrick foundation is going in for the Pacific Western Oil Company's Tideland Permit No. 92-5, along the coast at Elwood, and may be ready to spud in within a week. This project is near the company's Tideland Permit No. 92-4, which developed into an excellent producer and is not far from No. 92-3, now drilling below 1650 feet. Pacific Western's Blue Goose No. 3 is drilling in shale below 3700 feet.

El Principe de Gales Zarpa de Egipto

PORT SAID (Egipto) Abril 21.—El principe de Gales ha partido a media noche para Marsella a bordo del vapor Rawal Pindi. Llegó en la noche del Cairo, punto terminal de su viaje aéreo desde Khartoum, y del recorrido que hizo de la costa oriental africana, partiendo de la Ciudad del Cabo. No obstante lo avanzado de la hora, la cubierta del vapor estaba atestada de viajeros ansiosos de atisbar al regio cazador, que regresa a Inglaterra tras cuatro meses de ausencia.

Un Accidente Interrumpe el Vuelo de Londres a Australia

ABBEVILLE (Francia) Abril 21. Parkerson, aviador inglés salido a las 5:45 a.m. de Croydon (Inglaterra), para volar hasta Australia, con Roma por primera escala, se perdió entre la niebla y dio esta mañana contra un árbol en el pueblo de Darquel. Al estrellarse, se incendió su aeroplano; pero Parker, que volaba solo, logró zafarse del aparato rápidamente, y escapó con ligeras quemaduras en la cara y el cuello.

Los Expedicionarios de la McPherson se Bañan en el Jordán

JERUSALEN, Abril 21.—Aimée Semple McPherson, evangelista de Los Angeles, dijo hoy que, si bien no había venido a Palestina más que de vacaciones, no podía dejar de bautizar a sus discípulos en el Jordán.

La ceremonia se efectuó la tarde del sábado, en que la señora McPherson la emprendió en auto hasta el Jordán con sesenta y cuatro fieles. Doce de sus discípulos—número igual al de apóstoles—se zabulleron en el agua en el sitio mismo donde créese haya sido bautizado Jesucristo. Unos policías los asieron de las manos para evitar fueran a ahogarse.

Ayer, de pie la señora McPherson bajo la tumba del recoltoso jardín, donde suponen los protestantes haya sido sepultado el Salvador, les leyó versículos de la Biblia a sus discípulos. Esta noche hará un paseo en bote por el mar de Galilea, e irá después a Galilea y Damasco.

Cita Borah Algunos Ataques a Nuestro Aislamiento

WASHINGTON, Abril 21.—El presidente Borah, de la comisión de Relaciones Extranjeras, llamó hoy la atención del senado hacia los discursos de Andrew Géraud, redactor político del "Echo de Paris", y Wickham Stead, del London Times, quienes severamente condenaron la abstención yanqui de asuntos internacionales, en una comida dada aquí el sábado, y a la que concurrió el presidente Hoover.

Géraud y Stead llanamente censuraron la actitud de los Estados Unidos en cuestiones internacionales. Pronunciaron sus alocuciones ante la Sociedad Norteamericana de Redactores de Periódicos. Al lado de los oradores se hallaba el presidente Hoover, quien escuchó atentamente los ataques a nuestro aislamiento. Borah no estuvo en el banquete; pero dijo al senado que iba a hablar próximamente sobre este asunto con mayor extensión.

Agente Seco Herido de Bala. Quizá Sucumba

HENDERSONVILLE (Carolina del Norte) Abril 21.—Ha recibido hoy un balazo, probablemente mortal, Clarence Howard, agente, seco federal substituto, y su heridor es Fred Swartz, presunto "bootlegger".

Dijeron los testigos oculares a la policía que en el momento en que el auto donde iba Howard con Fanning Saltz, otro agente prohibicionista, se detenía ante una señal de tráfico, Swart saltó al estribo del vehículo, dio un balazo a Howard, y luego le pegó con su arma en la cabeza a Saltz.

Apoderóse Swartz de la pistola de Saltz, y corrió luego una cuadra y media, hasta la comisaría, donde se entregó.

Informe Final Sobre el Terreno para la Presa de San Gabriel

Ayer recibió la Junta de "Supervisors", de manos del ingeniero y geólogo A. E. Sedgewick, el informe geológico final sobre el abandonado sitio donde iba a construirse el alto dique de San Gabriel. El informe dice que el sitio es absolutamente inadecuado para levantar una estructura de la clase proyectada para la presa.

El condado abandonó el sitio referido desde el otoño pasado, tras haber llegado a la conclusión de que las condiciones de las rocas del subsuelo no eran satisfactorias para levantar allí los cimientos de una presa elevada.

La Junta mencionada aprobó el pago de los $1500 de honorarios que ha pedido el ingeniero Sedgewick por sus trabajos de levantamiento y exploración.

Aquí inventó Benjamín una nueva manera de nadar—la del perezoso. Llevó al estanque una cometa, ató el cordón a un palo, y, acostándose en el agua, hizo que la cometa lo halara vivamente a través del estanque, en dirección del viento (Here Benjamin invented a new way to swim—a lazy man's way. He brought a kite to the pond, tied the string to a stick, and, lying on his back in the water, let the kite draw him swiftly across the pond in the direction of the wind).

Era Benjamín el capitán de los muchachos de Boston. A veces, aunque no a menudo, los metía en aprietos y les acarreaba una azotaina. Había un viejo pantano salado a la orilla de la ciudad, donde los muchachos pescaban sardinitas. Tanto anduvieron por el fondo cenagoso, y tanto lo pisotearon, que lo convirtieron en un lodazal muy molesto para los piececillos descalzos y muy sucio para los zapatillos de hebilla (Benjamin was the leader of the boys of Boston. Sometimes, though not often, he led them into trouble and a whipping. There was an old salt marsh on the edge of the town, where the boys fished for minnows. They tramped and stamped on the soggy ground so much, that they turned it into a mudhole, very uncomfortable to small bare feet, very dirty for small buckle shoes).

Fortune in Presents for Thursday's Wedding Sent From All Over Italy

ROME, April 21. (AP)—A veritable fortune in wedding presents is arriving for Signorina Edda Mussolini, who will be married Thursday to Galeazzo Ciano, son of the Minister of Communcations.

Although it is understood Il Duce forbade the cities, communes and provinces to give official presents, this prohibition did not extend to individuals. His personal present to his daughter is a valuable bedspread of old Venetian lace, which required many years to make.

Other presents include an automobile, a huge black pearl from a Russian princess, an almost priceless necklace from a group of friends in Milan, a silver service for forty-eight persons, eighty old silver plates and a number of pieces of antique furniture.

Britons Have Chilly Easter

LONDON, April 21. (AP)—The Easter season of 1930 will be remembered in Great Britain as one of the coldest on record.

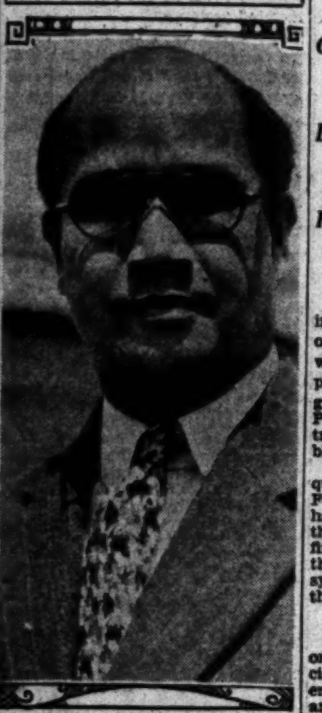
ORIENTAL OFFICIAL MEETS DIFFICULTY



Dr. Chun Young Chan

NEW ENVOY FROM CHINA CAN'T GET IN

First Consul Sent Here by Nationalists Detained at Immigration Station

Nationalist China's first consul to Los Angeles, Dr. Chun Young Chan, arrived with portfolio on the maiden voyage of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Chichibu Maru, yesterday from Japan.

His advent was a bit embarrassing to official greeters, as he ran afoul of immigration technicalities, and late last night had not been admitted.

In fact, he had to be importuned to ride to the immigration station, which he vigorously opposed, calling it a "jail for foreigners."

"I am an American citizen, born in Hawaii," he protested. He asserts he is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and that he holds a degree of doctor of philosophy from the University of California.

Dr. Chan said he has accepted the Chinese appointment "merely as an honorary consul," and will receive no pay, "performing the service purely in the interests of trade and good will between the two countries." Immigration officials say he lacks certain papers proving his citizenship. They say their information is that he once was an interpreter for their service.

Other passengers also found their entry complicated. An order from Washington is expected releasing an 8-months-old child, born in Japan, whose American-born parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Fleming, were admitted. Stanley Smith, a London actor, likewise had not passed through the portals last night.

Council Favors New Flashers

The purchase of 300 battery-operated red flasher stop signals to be installed along Santa Monica Boulevard from Beverly Hills to Santa Monica was approved yesterday by the City Council, the matter being referred to the Finance Committee for the appropriation of funds.

The signals cost $98.75 each, less 2 per cent for quantity and 2 per cent for early payment.

ORDINANCE ADOPTED ON COUNTY PARKING

The Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted an ordinance making it unlawful to park an automobile in front of any theater in county territory during a performance. The ordinance is similar to that in effect in most cities of the county. It was requested by Capt. Cannon of the County Motor Patrol and approved by Fire Warden Turner.

FORD ASSEMBLY PLANT AT WORK

Car Factory at Long Beach Opened Yesterday

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan Pushes Button to Start

Honk of Finished Auto, Like Echo, Comes Back

Henry Ford's idea of the last word in an automobile factory went into operation at Long Beach yesterday when Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan, in the presence of some 600 luncheon guests of the Ford company at the Pacific Coast Club, pressed an electric button that started the assembly line of the plant in motion.

And it may be regarded in some quarters as another one of those Ford stories, but it is a fact that hardly had the button been pressed than the sound of the horn on the first completed car came back from the factory over the broadcasting system connecting the plant with the club dining-room.

CONGRATULATORY DAY

It was a day of congratulations on all sides—from the public officials and business leaders of Southern California to the Ford people and even from Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Company, to the local plant officials and to the community. As more than one speaker pointed out in the luncheon talks, the opening of the assembly plant is significant not only in itself but because it very likely is the forerunner of further great development of this general area.

Indicating the feeling of good will and co-operation with which Los Angeles views the opening of the plant, John C. Austin, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, acted as toastmaster at the luncheon. The long list of guests at the speakers' table included business executives of Southern California related in one way or another to the automotive industry. There were officials of the several railways and tire companies, as well as public officials and heads of chambers of commerce of near-by communties.

LARGE CONCERN

In his opening remarks Mr. Austin said that the inception of the plant brings to Southern California the production of 80,000 passenger cars and trucks per year for the market of Southern California, Arizon and parts of Nevada and New Mexico.

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan extended to the company and to Southern California, in addition to Long Beach, the congratulations and best wishes of the State. He characterized the opening as a matter of State-wide import. "The fact that as good a a business organization as the Ford Motor Company selects this place as the site for its assembly plant out here is an advertisement to the world there here we have the market for these products," he said.

WORDS OF PRAISE

Mayor Porter of Los Angeles added a brief word of congratulation to both the city of Long Beach and to the Ford company. In his talk Mayor Hauge of Long Beach said that the opening of the plant is an event in which all can justly take pride. He expressed appreciation to C. A. Windham, former City Manager of Long Beach, and to the Union Pacific Railroad, the City of Los Angeles, the Chamber of Commerce and other agencies that had a part in bringing the assembly plant to Long Beach.

There were short talks by L. S. Mott, president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce; Don Fohl, president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, and F. W. Robinson of Omaha, vice-president of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Mr. Robinson, whose organization sold the site to the company, told of the interest all progressive railroads have in bringing manufacturing plants to sites where both the railroads and the companies will profit, with resultant benefit to the communities in which they locate.

WILLIAMS REPLIES

C. W. Williams, manager for the new plant, expressed the appreciation of the Ford company for the hearty welcome extended and for the co-operation extended by all individuals and organizations interested. He read a telegram from Edsel Ford in which the latter said that "it is pleasing to realize that the dedication of the Long Beach plant marks a new era in our life in Southern California." He sent thanks to the community and expressed regret at not being able to be present at the opening.

Mr. Williams said that the new

CENSUS TAKERS COMB CITY

Sixty Thousand Will be Asked Today if They Have Been Called on by Enumerators

Sixty thousand persons in Los Angeles will be asked today whether they have been listed by United States census enumerators, who, on the 2nd inst. began a population count of Los Angeles county. They will be reached through about fifty large employers in whose establishments the blanks will be distributed under auspices of the Chamber of Commerce.

Not only does the Constitution of the United States require that the count be taken but a thousand and one vital reasons require it and the 60,000 queries will be made to give a little indication of how thorough the count has been to this date. Uncle Sam is spending approximately $500,000 to list everybody in Los Angeles county and both he and the county wish to get the money's worth.

GIVEN MORE TIME

Formally, the enumeration was supposed to have ended on the 16th inst., but because the count was not done by that time authority was procured from the Washington headquarters to continue "a few days longer." Rural areas have until May 2, next, and rural residents need not, census supervisors pointed out yesterday, grow uneasy about not being enumerated until nearer that date.

Ralph Crossman of Glendale, who was arrested by a United States Marshal on a charge of not giving the required information to an enumerator, appeared yesterday in United States District Court, pleaded not guilty and his case was set for trial May 5, next, before United States District Judge Cosgrave. Two other cases of the kind are pending.

EDISON HEAD DEPARTS ON HONEYMOON

R. H. Ballard Marries Gladys Morphy and Leaves for European Tour

Russell H. Ballard, president of Southern California Edison Company, and Miss Gladys Morphy were married yesterday at Santa Barbara, Dr. Clarence Spaulding, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church there, officiating. Only members of the immediate families were present. The bride is a sister of Alan E. Morphy and Mrs. James Friesner of Los Angeles, and of Mrs. Stanley Maw of Beverly Hills.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Ballard left for San Francisco en route to New York, and will sail for England on the steamship Homeric May 2. While abroad they will visit England, France and Germany, attending the Passion Play at Oberammergau, which occurs but once in ten years, and spending some weeks in the health resort of Bad-Nauheim in Southern Germany. They expect to return to Los Angeles early in August.

FINANCIERS ON VISIT TO BE HONORED

Mott and Dahlberg Given Invitation for Luncheon at California Club Today

Charles S. Mott, a financial leader of the East and a director of General Motors Corporation, and B. G. Dahlberg, founder and president of the Celetox Company of Chicago, will be introduced to a number of civic and industrial leaders of Los Angeles at a luncheon at the California Club at noon today. The luncheon is sponsored by George L. Eastman, former president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Mott and Mr. Dahlberg came to Los Angeles Sunday to greet Mr. Dahlberg's family on their return from France on the liner Wyoming, which docked Sunday night. Mr. Mott had been spending several weeks on an Arizona ranch and when he learned that Mr. Dahlberg was en route to meet Mrs. Dahlberg and their daughter, Alma Lee, he left the ranch and came here also.

Accompanying Mrs. Dahlberg and daughter is Miss Muriel Allan of Detroit. The party spent more than a month in France. Mrs. Dahlberg announced that a book she recently completed will be off the press in a few weeks.

WARRANT MAY BALK BERMAN

State Moves to Prevent Prison Surrender

Bail Boosted to $125,000 on Two Charges

Banker Flint's Arraignment Set for Today

A telegraphic warrant for the arrest of Jacob Berman, "bright young man of the Julian case," was authorized late yesterday by Superior Judge Wilson, before whom Berman failed to appear yesterday morning for a trial on bribery conspiracy charges.

The move became the most significant in a series of hectic happenings in the Julian tangle yesterday because of the fact that if Berman is arrested on the warrant the State authorities may yet thwart his announced plan to begin a seven-year term at McNeil Island Federal penitentiary and thus evade trial in the courts here.

WHEREABOUTS KNOWN

"I have definite information as to the whereabouts of Berman and I am going right after him," declared Capt. Fox, head of the Sheriff's office fugitive detail, after he had received Judge Wilson's authorization for a telegraphic bench warrant.

The situation resolved itself into a race between the local authorities and Berman, after the former having a fighting chance to apprehend the fugitive before he can surrender to the Federal authorities and thus remove himself from the jurisdiction of the local courts.

When the Berman case was called for trial in Judge Wilson's court yesterday morning, Attorney Dan Critchley, appearing for the defendant, admitted that his client would not appear and that he will surrender to Federal authorities to begin his prison term.

Late last night Fox said that he had been unable to locate Berman, but that he had wired to Sheriff Bannick of Seattle, Wash., requesting that he arrest the missing witness on the telegraphic warrant and hold for Los Angeles county authorities.

Fox declined to reveal his source of information that placed Berman in Seattle, but said that he felt so certain of the whereabouts of the wanted man that he had telegraphed only to the one official.

ARREST ORDER WIRED

"I feel positive that I know the whereabouts of Berman," said Fox, "but it is doubtful if the Seattle authorities can arrest him on the telegraphic warrant before he reaches a haven in McNeil prison. I wired my request to Sheriff Bannick shortly after 5 p.m., but late last night had received no word from him that he had located Berman."

As the day drew along, however, there was no report from any United States Marshal on the Pacific Coast that Berman had surrendered. He did not put in an appearance up to a late hour at Seattle or Tacoma, Wash., close to McNeil Island, where he was confidently expected to show up, nor at any point en route.

Delay in the matter of surrender, it was pointed out, might have been caused by delay of proceedings in the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco, where Otto Christensen, Berman's chief defense counsel, appeared last Saturday morning and petitioned that tribunal to issue the mandate for Berman's commitment to prison at once. The court was scheduled to act on the petition yesterday, but owing to the absence of a judge did not do so. This is declared to be a necessary action before Berman can surrender to the Federal authorities.

If the State authorities apprehend Berman in California before he can surrender to the government authorities, it is the usual practice of the Federal authorities not to take the prisoner from the custody of the State courts. If Berman is arrested in Oregon or Washington, it is thought that California will have to hurry Berman out of the State on extradition proceedings before the Federal mandate arrives to hold him.

THINGS HAPPEN FAST

Things happened thick and fast in the Julian matter after the Berman case was called. Informed that Berman was reported missing in Judge Wilson's court, Superior

I SHUDDER to think what will happen to Mexico when the tourists come pouring into it; but I don't believe they will be able to spoil Tepic.

It may be that the peasants will one day come to hand-me-down clothes and flivvers; but I don't think so. The white-cotton drawers, the native leather sandals and the wide stiff sombreros are as much a part of the country as the palm trees.

Just so, the oxen and the burros may be a long time in giving way to automobiles because they go to places where autos cannot.

OXEN

Farther north in Mexico the ox teams are nervous, restless little cattle who seesaw all over the road. The oxen of Nayarit are huge, quiet cream-colored beasts which drag enormous two-wheeled carts loaded with sugar cane. The hacendados tell me that oxen are the finest rough-road animals in the world because they pull more evenly in the thick jungles and on mountain roads than either mules or horses. Also, they have the advantage of being cheaper.

GOTHIC BELFRIES

The old cathedral of Tepic is one of the most colorful and interesting churches I have seen in Mexico. It is an entirely different type from the mission churches we know—high, piercing Gothic towers, with belfry above belfry. The towers of the cathedral at Tepic are a superb study in early Spanish colonial architecture. Scarcely less interesting is the penitentiary built in the Middle Ages and the ruined Church of the Cross—where through a miracle, the wild grass grows in a perfect cross.

MEXICAN HOTELS

These Mexican hotels are quaint but comfortable. There is always a great square patio upon which a balcony looks down; the dining-room usually opens upon this patio from the side . . . so you have the effect of eating out of doors. The bathrooms are usually a couple of miles away from your room, but it seems to be quite O.K. to wander around wearing about as much as Lady Godiva, so it doesn't matter.

There are no room telephones—praise heaven. You lean over the balcony and clap your hands and some miracle seems to tell the world whether you want the sad little senora who does your room and your laundry (for a consideration,) the shine boy who gleams your boots, or the mozo who juggles the most incredible loads in the way of trunks. They all give you the flattering impression that you are the lord of the manor and they are your personal attendants. Every hotel at which I have stopped seems to wear the atmosphere and air of an inn of the Middle Ages.

OLD ROADS

The roads around Nayarit are all dim with tradition. Roads by which Guzman came from the City of Mexico; dim trails over which priest and conquistador marched when Elizabeth sat on the throne of England.

THE TREASURE TRAIL

Tepic was a military outpost on the great treasure trail of the world. The treasure-laden Manila galleons used to land at San Blas, taking refuge from the bloodthirsty English and French freebooters under the protection

OFFICIAL SALARIES RAISED

Sheriff and Assessor Posts Will Pay $12,000; Supervisors Also Advance Justices

After a closed session in a Hall of Records "conference room," the Board of Supervisors yesterday voted to increase the salaries of the Sheriff and Assessor of Los Angeles county from $9000 to $12,000 a year each.

This action of the board places the positions of Sheriff and Assessor in the same wage category as those of County Counsel and District Attorney, at present the only county executives receiving $12,000 a year.

Under the law, the salary increases voted yesterday will not go into effect until after the expiration of the terms of those who now occupy the offices. According to Supervisor Wright, these terms expire December 1, next, at which time the new scale will become effective. Wright also said there has been no increase in salaries of either of the offices during the past four years and there can be no further pay advances during the next four years.

The board voted unanimously for the increases on going into executive session after leaving the closed conference room. In spite of this unanimous vote, it is reported there was some dissension among the board members, some of whom are said to have advocated $10,000 a year instead of $12,000. Supervisor McClellan, chairman of the board, was absent because of illness. Those who voted "aye" on Wright's motion to increase the salaries are Supervisors Beaty, Graves, Wright and Shaw.

Neither Sheriff Traeger nor Assessor Hopkins was present at the board's meeting. Traeger is in Honolulu on leave of absence because of illness, while Hopkins was reported engaged in his duties at his office in the Hall of Justice.

Neither Traeger nor Hopkins stands to profit from the increases unless he is re-elected to office at the August primary or the final election in November. Both the

CRASHES KILL WOMAN AND INJURE FIVE MORE

Mrs. Kit Tailor, 58 years of age, of 1010 West Boulevard, was killed instantly yesterday when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband, Eli Tailor, 67, was struck by a Pacific Electric mail car at One Hundred and Sixteenth and Main streets. Mr. Tailor escaped with concussion of the brain and body bruises. Officers Ritchie and Ledbetter of Seventy-seventh street division reported learning from witnesses that Tailor, who was driving, apparently became confused as he approached the tracks, paying no heed to the wigwag signal. The mail car, according to police, was in charge of Motorman E. W. Bullock.

Tailor is in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and his wife's body is at the morgue.

In a collision between an automobile and a street car yesterday, four motorists received injuries which sent them to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. The injured are Mrs. Delphine Pasidaens, 55, 755 East Forty-ninth street, skull fractured; her husband, Julis Pasidaens, 54, concussion of the brain; Mrs. Rosa Ooms, 29, 1442 Hamlin Way, concussion of the brain, and James Ooms, 29, her husband, cuts and bruises.

BERMAN AWAITED IN NORTH

Attorney's Office Asserts He Will Surrender Today; Flight Due to Intimidation, Says Fitts

BY ALBERT F. NATHAN
"Times" Staff Representative

SEATTLE, April 21.—Jacob Berman, known as the "bright young man" of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, key witness for the State in six criminal cases pending in the Los Angeles county courts and under Federal conviction for mail fraud, failed to appear here yesterday for surrender to the United States authorities.

Tonight United States Marshal E. B. Benn, Warden Archer of McNeil Island prison, and the local State authorities all denied having heard from Berman and stated they know nothing of his plans.

From the local office of George Vandeveer, attorney for Berman, however, came the statement that the much-sought-for young man will surrender in Tacoma or here some time tomorrow afternoon and that he probably will appear at the Marshal's office only after his commitment papers have arrived here from Los Angeles.

With the authorities waiting for Berman to surrender Dist.-Atty. Fitts and his chief deputy, Robert P. Stewart, today continued to prepare for a court battle Wednesday when efforts to block the return to Los Angeles of S. C. Lewis will be fought out before Federal Judge Cushman.

Fitts and Stewart arrived here last Saturday after a secret trip from Los Angeles and, under authorization of the Attorney-General, completed plans for the return of Lewis, serving seven years at McNeil Island for a mail fraud conviction, for trial on a jury bribery charge.

It was after Warden Archer had notified the Los Angeles officials that Lewis was to be returned to the jurisdiction of the California courts that, through Attorney Vandeveer, a writ was served on Archer and Stewart which resulted in the

SECOND BURSIAN WIFE INDICATED

Wire Suggests Fitts's Agent Was Twice Married

Easterner Says Auto Victim May be His Son

Man of Same Name Wedded to New Jersey Woman

Reports that Robert Bursian, secret agent for Dist.-Atty. Fitts in the Julian Petroleum inquiry, killed by poison and an automobile accident a week ago, is the same man who several years ago married Kate Lippencott Bursian of Linden, N. J., were under investigation by the District Attorney yesterday.

This development cast an entirely new light upon the inquiry and may cause officers to close the case definitely as a suicide, it was revealed.

The new phase of the case was brought to light by a telegram from Caesar Bursian of 43 Henry street, Passaic, N. J., in which he asked officers to ascertain whether or not the dead man is his son.

In his telegram Bursian, Sr., said his son worked at 1018 Venice Boulevard, Los Angeles. This is the address of the Carl Entenmann Jewelry Company where Bursian was employed until a few days before his death.

This, coupled with the fact that Mrs. Signa Bursian of 221 South Olive street, Alhambra, told officers her husband had said his father's name was Caesar caused investigators to incline to the belief that the dead man may have had another wife living in the East.

According to the telegram, Mrs. Kate Lippencott Bursian lives at 416 Hazel avenue, Linden, N. J.

Bursian was found crushed to death beneath his automobile at the foot of a 200-foot declivity on Beverly Boulevard near the ocean a week ago. At first his death was believed accidental, but the fact that he was employed on a dangerous mission in the Julian inquiry for the District Attorney caused an exhaustive inquiry to be made. A glass found in the car contained traces of cyanide and the man apparently had taken a large draught of some poison, apparently chloral, shortly before the accident.

At the inquest Miss Adrianne Murrea of 187 South Alvarado street testified that Bursian was with her shortly before his death and that he appeared to be morose. Before leaving her apartment, the girl said, Bursian showed her two bottles, saying one contained cyanide and the other chloral, intimating that he was considering ending his own life.

Capt. Jesse Winn of the District Attorney's bureau of investigation announced last night that he has not yet determined definitely that the auto-accident victim is the same man mentioned in Caesar Bursian's telegram. He added, however, that evidence already obtained strongly indicates this to be true.

DARING TALK OF HOLD-UPS PROVES TO BE JUST 'TALK'

Detectives yesterday removed a dictograph over which they had listened in on what they believed were plans to commit daring robberies, but which they now are convinced was just talk. Two men accused of these alarming conversations are at liberty after having been arrested and then released.

Capt. Seager of the robbery squad received information two weeks ago to the effect that some men were plotting in an apartment. Detective Lieutenants Haines and Hagenbaugh slipped a dictograph into the apartment and for two weeks alternated at listening in, while in an adjoining apartment. They reported they overheard discussion of schemes to hold-up various places. These tips they reported, and other detectives kept the places named under surveillance, but the assertedly plotted attempts were not made.

Haines and Hagenbaugh heard one man say he was going to leave this city as it was "getting too hot." Sunday, the officers arrested Jack Ziller, 28 years of age, and Eddie Falconer, 25, the latter of 3960 Van Buren street, Culver City, on charge of suspicion of robbery. After long quizzing, Capt. Seager announced that he learned that Ziller owed $40 to Falconer, and that he had been putting off demands for payment by promising to obtain money in hold-ups he did not intend to commit.

As no crime had been committed the police released the two. Capt. Seager announced that Ziller did boast that he intended to put through a scheme to mulct a wealthy widow of $40,000, and that he could not be prevented because he would limit his efforts within the law.

OFFICIAL PAY RATE ADVANCED

Sheriff and Assessor are expected to be candidates for re-election.

The board was prompted in voting the increases, it is said, because of the huge increase in the business of both departments, resulting from the rapid growth of the city and county.

Other plums of smaller size also were passed around by the board when the members voted unanimously to increase the salaries of a number of justices of the peace of Los Angeles county townships.

Principal among these are the justiceships of nine townships, whose population is figured in the $30,000-or-more class. Salaries of justices in these localities were given a flat boost to $350 a month. As in the case of the Sheriff and Assessor, the increases for the justices will not go into effect until the expiration of the terms of those now in office.

Townships whose justices in the future will receive $350 a month are Pasadena, Inglewood, San Gabriel, Montrose, San Jose (Pomona), San Antonio (Huntington Park), Beverly Hills, Santa Monica and Glendale. The largest salary of any of these at present is that of Pasadena, $210 a month. Growth in the business of justice courts is given as the principal reason for the pay raises. This growth, in townships of more than 30,000 population, is traceable largely to the increased jurisdiction given these courts, it is said. They now have a jurisdiction in cases involving up to $1000, whereas previously they were limited to handling cases involving not more than $300.

On the outcome of the Federal census now being taken will depend the fate of increases to the $350-a-month class requested for four other townships; those of Whittier, Redondo Beach, Belvedere and Compton. If the census shows these townships to be in the 30,000 population class, it is said salaries of their justices will go to $350; otherwise they will have to be satisfied with nominal increases over their present schedules.

WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

les Railway car at Vernon avenue and Angeles Mesa Drive.

A crash yesterday startled Policeman Critser while he was investigating a collision at Third street and La Brea avenue. Mrs. O. D. Stout of San Bernardino was reporting on a collision between her car and one driven by Edward Woods, 1119 Poinsettia Drive. Her words were drowned in a startling crash, Critser reports, and he jumped for his life. He said a third car smashed into Mrs. Stout's automobile, backed away, and hit it again. Critser arrested the third driver, John T. Murphy, 32 years of age, a sailor on a warship, and lodged him in the City Jail on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Side-swiped by the Santa Fe train The Chief, last night, W. H. Clay, 72 years of age, 3104 Chaucer street, escaped with cuts and a rough shaking. He was driving south on Avenue 19 when headlight beams from a car behind him struck his windshield, dazzling him so that he failed to see the crossing wigwag signaling to stop. Clay drove upon the crossing as the inbound train thundered toward it. He swerved as the train side-swiped the automobile, spinning it around and wrecking it.

Struck by an automobile last night, Mrs. Margaret Hawkins, 70, of 2716 South Hobart street, was injured seriously. She stepped from behind an automobile parked at West Adams street and La Salle avenue into the path of a car driven by George H. Henderson of 2720 Rimpau Boulevard, police report. Policemen Mulstrom and McCool ser licemen Hulstrom and McCool served a traffic citation on Henderson, charging him with driving through a pedestrian zone. Mrs. Hawkins was sent to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

MRS. DREW GIVEN DECREE

Mrs. Dorothy H. Drew was granted a divorce from Franklin Flint Drew yesterday by Superior Judge Bowron after a short hearing. Mrs. Drew accused her husband, a salesman, of swearing at her and going for periods without speaking to her. Drew filed a cross-complaint, but did not appear to prosecute it. A property settlement made between the couple was approved by the court.

CENSUS TAKERS TO COMB CITY

parts of the city and county, said that of the 301 enumeration precincts in his district, all but twelve have been enumerated practically complete. Other supervisors reported a somewhat similar status.

FLYER MAKES GESTURE

What apparently is a gesture of affection for the city that financed his epochal New York-Paris airplane flight came to light yesterday when Enumerator Dora Byrkitt, who has the J. L. Maddux home in her territory, received a filled-out blank showing that the Maddux guests, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh had registered in the census as being residents of St. Louis on the 1st inst.

Supervisor Munson of Central District, which includes the heart of the city, especially requested that all urban residents, not yet enumerated or in doubt, fill out the blank so stating and printed in connection with this article. It should be sent to the nearest census office, not necessarily Munson's office.

FINDS MAN IN TREE

Supervisor De Coudres, southern district, reported that Enumerator William M. McDaniels found a Compton man living in a tree house who was reached by climbing the ladder entrance and was listed.

Supervisor Chenoweth, northern district, wishes San Fernando Valley rural residents to know that enumerators have until May 2, next, to reach them.

Supervisor Ballentine, eastern district, reported a "grand clean-up" in progress in his territory.

NOT GUILTY PLEA MADE IN CENSUS CASE

Ralph Crossman, a clerk in the inheritance tax bureau of the County Treasurer's office, living at Glendale, yesterday appeared before United States District Judge Cosgrave and pleaded not guilty to a charge of refusal to give information to Federal census enumerators. He is charged with refusing to give the date of his father's birth, the place of his own birth, and the date of his marriage. He is now at liberty on bail of $50.

The court continued the case until May 5 to be set for trial. Two other cases are still pending and being investigated by Asst. U. S. Atty. Gallagher. They are the cases of Mrs. Hattie Potts, giving the address of 404 Sierra Bonita street, and George Erwing, 8256½ Norton avenue. Mrs. Potts, who says she is not the person sought, was released on her own recognizance. Erwing has not yet appeared for arraignment.

WOMAN DENIES ATTIC MURDER

Mrs. Oesterreich's Plea of Not Guilty Entered

She and Sanhuber Both Ask for Separate Trials

Three Alienists Selected to Examine "Garret Man"

Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, indicted jointly with Otto Sanhuber for the murder of her husband, Fred Oesterreigh, eight years ago, yesterday pleaded not guilty before Superior Judge Wood, and trial date tentatively was set for June 2 at 10 a.m. Meanwhile Judge Wood is considering a motion for severance of the trial on which he will rule on the 30th inst.

In addition to the not-guilty plea Mrs. Oesterreich's attorneys, Jerry Gierler and Meyer M. Willner, interposed special pleas of once in jeoptrdy and acquittal by reason of dismissal of the same charge against her five years ago.

JOINT MOTION

Sanhuber, known to the case as "the attic man" for having lived seventeen years in attics and secret rooms of Mrs. Oesterreich's homes, already has pleaded not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, following his confession that he shot the well-to-do garment manufacturer when he feared the woman was being harmed in a family altercation.

Earl S. Wakeman and Orville A. Rogers, counsel for Sanhuber, joined Giesler in a motion for a severance of the trials of the man and woman. They assert their client has been a "mental slave" during his years of lurking in attics, and they wish to show he was controlled by suggestions from others.

During the hearing the court announced that Dr. M. G. Carter, head of the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital; Dr. Edson Steele of the staff of the same institution, and Dr. Edwin Wayte, head of the Norwalk Hospital, have been appointed to examine Sanhuber. Their findings will be made in testimony at the trial before Superior Judge Hardy.

STATE'S PLANS TOLD

Dep. Dist. - Atty. Costello announced that the State also has retained three alienists for the examination of Sanhuber. Costello says he opposes the severance of trials for the pair. He announced to the court that the District Attorney's intentions are to try them on the theory of a murder conspiracy.

Following the apeparances in court, Attorneys Wakeman and Rogers, accompanied by Sanhuber's wife, Mrs. Mathilde Klein, the name under which he married her, met "the attic man" in the offices of Chief Trial Deputy District-Attorney Beecher.

There Sanhuber signed a statement he made to Beecher last week in connection with the investigation of an asserted $150,000 arson plot in the destruction by fire in 1927 of the Oesterreich garment factory in Milwaukee.

Beecher says the investigation is to go deeper with the possibility that a local man may be indicted for arson. The District Attorney's office is co-operating with the Wisconsin authorities in the investigation.

FORD ASSEMBLY PLANT AT WORK

site was selected because of the advantage of being able to combine water and rail transportation. The new plant is one of thirty-five branches the company has, and one of twenty-eight assembly plants. It employs about 2100 men with a monthly pay roll of about $300,000. The minimum wage is $6 per day to start, which is raised automatically to $7 at the end of sixty days. The men work eight hours a day for five days a week.

FORD SHIP DOCKS

Most of the material used in the plant is shipped here from Detroit. Incidentally, the Ford ship Oneida, piloted by Capt. M. J. Kaminski, arrived at the model dock as the guests looked on. She was loaded with parts and materials.

After the luncheon the guests were taken through the new plant, which is a marvel in production engineering. Everything seems to be on wheels, conveyors or hoists. A man reaches up and snatches a riveter, works with it a moment, lets go of it and it leaps back into the air again and hangs suspended, conveniently near. The visitors saw a chassis swung on the assembly line, and a few moments later saw the completed car given to Mayor Hauge. The plant will be open daily this week for visitors from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., working full force.

BARKER INDORSES BOND

This Week Being Devoted to Citing Business in New Water Supply

With members of the Citizens Water and Power every effort to carry the message of the city's Angeles citizens before the May 20 bond election, the next seven days is to be given to the vital business firms in the success of the $38,800,000 nounced yesterday.

The seven days beginning today are designed as "Business for Water Bonds Week," it was announced yesterday by Watt L. Moreland, executive chairman of the citizens' committee.

The special message to be carried to every citizen is—"The water bonds will secure and increase the value of every dollar's worth of property and business in Los Angeles—and will not increase taxes one cent."

Speaking as a representative of business, Clarence A. Barker, president of Barker Brothers, yesterday emphatically indorsed the bonds.

"As one who has spent his summer vacations in the high Sierras for the last twenty-five years, exploring every stream and lake from Tahoe to the Kern River, I am convinced that the plan of acquiring the waters of Mono Basin is a practical one, and the logical development of the original plan conceived by William Mulholland," stated Mr. Barker.

STUDENT PRINCE

PANTS BURGLAR NOW CRIME RING

Evidence Shows Many Work on Same Lines

School for Instruction in Craft Held Likely

Two Arrested and Others Believed Involved

Burglaries of scores of homes throughout Los Angeles county and other sections of the State by the so-called pants burglar have been the work of a highly organized crime ring, Capt. Stensland, head of the Sheriff's burglary and robbery detail, yesterday said he believed.

Stensland further stated that the existence of a crime school in which ex-convicts are instructed in the art of burglarizing homes was not an impossibility. Every effort is being made to run down clews pointing in this direction and to learn the source of disposal of thousands of dollars of plunder, he said.

TRADE MARK SEEN

Precipitated by the arrest last week of Ventura Nunez, alias Vicente Nunez, 40 years of age, investigation by Stensland's deputies has uncovered numerous burglaries here and in other parts of the State bearing the technique of the pants burglar. Nunez was captured by deputy sheriffs while he is asserted to have been fleeing after an attempted burglary.

Held as suspects in connection with a city burglary of a similar nature, Manuel Hernandez, 23, and Albert Kayrose, 22, yesterday were in the County Jail after having been brought here from San Francisco, where they were arrested.

RING SUSPECTED

Investigation is rapidly disclosing that more than half a dozen [illegible] within recent months [illegible] here and in San Francisco have been associated with the ring's activities, Stensland said.

Beginning with the first burglary of its kind in the county last July, [illegible] burglaries since have borne the mark of workmanship, Stensland said. In most of the instances male victims awoke in the morning to find their trousers [illegible] rifled and other valuables gone.

SEWERS PASS COUNCIL

Banker Ready to Face Accusations

Arraignment Asked
Attorney Le Compte Davis and Motley Flint

Judge Schauer, before whom Berman was scheduled to be tried on another indictment charging forgery and embezzlement, declared that he had previously been informed by the District Attorney's office that Berman was under constant guard and demanded an explanation from Chief Investigator Blayney Matthews.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McCartney, who was in Judge Schauer's division at the time, hurried out in search of Chief Trial Deputy Beecher, in charge of the office in the absence of Dist.-Atty. Fitts, and Beecher answered the summons to court instead of Matthews. It became apparent that the court was considerably exercised over the Berman matter and was insistent on hearing what Matthews had to say about it. Beecher took the position that it is not within the jurisdiction of the court to investigate the District Attorney's activities in the matter and told Judge Schauer if he wanted Matthews he would have to subpoena him.

BAIL INCREASED

Exchanges between the deputy and the court became somewhat sharp. Judge Schauer said he was not conducting an investigation, but did want to know if Berman was under guard, as that assertion had been made when bail in the case had been set. Beecher finally made the definite statement that Berman was not under guard and finally produced Matthews, who took the witness stand and also testified that Berman was not under surveillance.

With this information, Judge Schauer raised Berman's bail from $10,000 to $100,000 and ordered that, if he is located, that he be remanded to the custody of the Sheriff until the $100,000 is produced. Bail on Berman had also been previously increased by Judge Wilson, who forfeited a $5000 bond put up in the bribery case and ordered that $25,000 bond be placed on the bench warrant ordered issued. The total for the two courts is thus $125,000.

At the same time the Berman case was called in Judge Wilson's court, Atty. Hahn filed an affidavit of prejudice against the court in behalf of Louis Krause, jointly indicted with Jacob Berman and Louis Berman. This automatically postponed the case until the matter of prejudice is decided by an impartial judge.

BANKER FLINT APPEARS

Another affidavit of prejudice was filed against Judge Wilson by lawyers representing John B. Groves, juror asserted to have been bribed by Berman and Krause. In the case of Frank Grider, another former juror indicted for bribery in the Julian case, the trial was postponed until May 5 by stipulation between the District Attorney's office and Defense Attorneys William Beirne and Jud Rush.

Another incident in the Julian cases was the appearance in Superior Judge Wood's court of Motley Flint, widely known banker, who is under two indictments. Flint, who has been absent in Europe for more than a year, walked into court with his attorney, Le Compte Davis, and announced himself ready for arraignment. It was understood that he reached Los Angeles Sunday. Judge Wood set the arraignment over until 2 p.m. today.

While other events were transpiring, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hammon was preparing more witnesses in the Julian case to go before the grand jury when that body reconvenes today.

WIFE SOBS AS SHE FACES TWO HUSBANDS IN COURT

Two husbands, neither of them divorced from her, confronted Mrs. Bernece Minerva McKellar Tarbox, when she appeared in the court of Superior Judge Hahn yesterday to face Irving Oliver Tarbox who was there seeking to annul his marriage.

When Mrs. Tarbox saw her two husbands in court she burst into a fit of weeping. She declared that she left her first husband, Niel McKellar, in Honolulu five years ago. Then she married Tarbox without going through the formality of getting a divorce from McKellar. Yesterday was the first time she had seen McKellar since leaving him in Hawaii.

Tarbox asserted that his wife told him she had never been married before. He discovered the presence of a first husband while casually going through some of her letters, he said.

"I wrote to Mr. McKellar," Tarbox testified. "The letter went to Honolulu, then to North Carolina. It reached him at San Diego. He agreed to come to Los Angeles and testify against his wife—also my wife."

When asked by Judge Hahn whether she did not realize she was committing a felony when she married a second husband, already having one, Mrs. Tarbox wept again.

"I did not intend to commit any crime," she said.

Judge Hahn signed the annulment for Tarbox. The marriage ceremony was performed between him and Mrs. Kellar on September 30, 1929.

MUSIC CLUBS' FEDERATION OPENS CONVENTION HERE

Representatives of 35,000 members of the California Federation of Music Clubs yesterday began a two-day convention at the Hollywood Hotel. Mrs. Abbie Norton Jamison, president, convened the session, Glen M. Tindal welcomed the hundred delegates, and Mrs. Ralph Waldo Bucknam presided. Mrs. Burdette Norton spoke for the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce. Reviewing the past year, President Jamison said that twenty clubs had been added to the roster in that period.

Following luncheon, Wheeler Beckett spoke at the afternoon session in the Garden Court ballroom. He described the use of novel mechanical devices for stimulating the interest of children at symphonies for the young in San Francisco.

Reports were submitted by the Fresno Musical Club, the Amphion Club of Berkeley, the Alameda County Music Teachers' Association, the Hollywood Community Chorus, the Hollywood Woman's Club, the Hollywood Bowl Association, the Woman's Club of Long Beach, the Wednesday Morning Club of Oakland, the Fine Arts Club of Pasadena, the Redlands Community Association, the San Diego Music Teachers' Association, the Los Angeles Music Settlement Association, the Harmonia Music Club, the Musicians' Guild, the Woman's Lyric Club, and the Schubert Wa Wan Club of Los Angeles.

Delegates were entertained last evening by the Hollywood Opera Reading Club with a program of opera numbers and a reception in the auditorium of the Woman's Club of Hollywood.

Further reports will be submitted this morning at the First Methodist Church of Hollywood. Election of officers is to follow. An informal tea at the Hollywood Hotel will follow the afternoon session, which is given over to prominent speakers. Delegates will be guests of the Hollywood Community Sing this evening at Hollywood High School auditorium.

NORTH WAITS FOR WITNESS

coming action here Wednesday. The case was to have been heard in Tacoma but was transferred to this city today.

All day long-distance telephone messages from Los Angeles kept Fitts and Stewart informed of the developments in connection with Berman's court troubles and for a time the local newspapers, acting on information from the south, accused the District Attorney of concealing Berman.

"We know nothing of Berman except what has been telephoned to us from Los Angeles," declared Mr. Fitts last night. "When Stewart and I left Los Angeles last Thursday the plans of Berman to surrender had not been made public by his attorney. We have not seen Berman since arrival here and we have not heard from him or his lawyers," Fitts continued.

ANOTHER OBSTACLE

"We have been advised by the public press than Berman has surrendered to the Federal authorities. This surrender without a doubt is the result of a campaign of well-planned intimidation on the part of various judges and others who, we believe, are attempting to close this witness's mouth and prevent his appearing for the State in these pending cases.

"Berman's surrender is too sudden for me, at this time, and at this distance from Los Angeles, to make any statement relative to future plans of my office in connection with this surrender.

"My office has been aware at all times since the beginning of the Julian investigation that every stone possible would be thrown in our path by those seeking to prevent the bringing to justice of persons who wrecked the Julian Petroleum Corporation. This move is just another one in that direction.

"Regardless of this latest handicap the District Attorney's office will continue to do everything possible to convict those guilty of wrecking the Julian corporation.

WIFE SUES PROHIBITION ATTORNEY

Mrs. Grill Asks Divorce; Charges of Intoxication Included in Complaint

Saul B. Grill, said to be an attorney connected with the prohibition enforcement department at Washington, was sued for divorce by his wife, Mrs. Ellen Grill, yesterday.

Mrs. Grill asserts in her complaint, filed by Attorney Ralph F. Bagley of Beverly Hills, that her husband was intoxicated much of the time, and that he threatened to kill her. Also, it is asserted, her husband threw furniture and broke dishes, when he became angry.

The plaintiff demands $250 a week alimony, asserting her husband makes $1000 a week. She asks a share of community property said to be worth $250,000, and custody of their minor child, Robert.

Mrs. Grill now is living at the Del Flores Hotel, Canyon Drive, Beverly Hills. The couple were married in Nassau, Bahamas.

Brazilian Agent at Tokio Here

Brazil-Japan relations will be strengthened with the expected colonization of Brazil by many thousands more Japanese, in the opinion of Commander C. A. G. Lavigne, Brazilian naval attache at Tokio. He, his wife and daughter, arrived on the maiden voyage of the new N.Y.K. motor liner Chichibu Maru from Japan yesterday.

They brought a little Japanese Spaniel with them which had been presented by the master of ceremonies of the Imperial Japanese household. The dog has been brought up on Japanese and Portuguese, but won't respond except to English.

The Lavignes will leave today for London, Berlin and their home in Rio de Janeiro.

MRS. SUNDAY WINS DIVORCE

Wife Testifies Evangelist's Son Drank to Excess, Beat Her and Was Unfaithful

Mrs. Harriet M. Sunday, wife of George Sunday, son of Billy Sunday, evangelist, yesterday divorced her husband at a short hearing in Superior Judge Fleming's court on grounds of cruelty.

Mrs. Sunday testified that her husband beat her, ran around with other women, and drank liquor to excess. She called in a woman friend to corroborate her statements.

She described one incident in October, 1927, when, she says, she trailed her husband to the apartment of another woman, Mauryne LaSalle, where she found the pair together. That afternoon, she said she met her husband in an attorney's office and he assured her he was "leading a pure life."

BEATING CHARGED

On another occasion, she said, her husband came home drunk and cursed and swore at her so loudly she could get no sleep. Finally she induced him to go to the kitchen and make himself some coffee, but when he came back she had locked the bedroom door.

"But he broke the door down," said Mrs. Sunday, "and then he beat me black and blue. I had to stay in bed several days."

"Were there any other occasions of his infidelity?" asked Richard Cantillon, Mrs. Sunday's attorney.

"So many I couldn't count them," the plaintiff replied. "He always kept one apartment away from home, and sometimes two. He drank all the time."

SETTLEMENT MADE

"Did he drink more before prohibition, or after?" asked Judge Fleming.

"Oh, much more after it," replied Mrs. Sunday.

"He didn't follow the example of his father very closely, eh?" the court inquired.

"I should say not."

Sunday and his wife made a property settlement which was approved by the court and Mrs. Sunday will get the custody of her two children, George and John Sunday, for the support of whom the defendant agreed to pay $250 a month.

Sunday was not in court. According to Attorney Cantillon, he was last heard of in Chicago.

Under the rules of the contest each winning contestant who will appear in the semifinals is obliged to send a copy of his oration to The Times contest manager. These orations are placed in the hands of the topics committee, already mentioned. The members of the committee will then prepare two topics, for each oration dealing with some additional and more particularized phase of the prepared oration, the general objective being to test the breadth and genuineness of the speaker's understanding of the subject of his prepared speech.

These two topics will be placed in an envelope bearing the contestant's name and the envelope sealed. The envelopes for the contestants in any one group will then be placed together in a large envelope and mailed to the manager of that group contest.

On the evening of the contest itself the presiding officer shall open the large sealed envelope in the presence of the contestants and the audience. As each contestant finishes his six-minute prepared oration the presiding officer will hand him his individual envelope containing his two topics. The contestant may then retire immediately from the platform and prepare his four-minute extemporaneous remarks upon either one of the two topics handed him. During this period no contestant shall communicate with any person or have access to any books or material.

The extemporaneous feature is being introduced into the National Oratorical Contest this year for the first time, and the experiment is being watched by the sponsors and managers of the contest with great interest.

Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another. COLORING THE COUNT

Indications in the present census show that the colored population is diminishing. At least we have Amos 'n Andy left.

POETS IN CONGRESS

Are there any poets in Congress? hopefully asks exchange. You are likely to find most anything there. There is much imagination.

DEATH FOR DESERTION

The British army has just abolished the death penalty for desertion. And yet Arthur Brisbane says that London conference did not scrap anything!

WHY, BRETHREN?

The New York Presbytery voted 51 to 29 to admit women. The Southern California Presbytery voted them down by a small majority. And we claim to be willing to try anything once!

TOO BIG A BRAIN

Mayakovsky, Russia's greatest poet, takes his life. His brain was 500 grams heavier than the ordinary thinking apparatus. It seems to be unsafe to possess too big a think-box.

PREY

One hundred and fifty coyotes and thirty bobcats were killed in Tuolumne county last year. Now if attention can be turned to some of the predatory assessment sharks, life will be safer for democracy.

TEN YEARS

Ten years of prohibition have materially reduced the number of cases of cirrhosis of the liver, says Patrick Henry Callahan. And Tinkham continues to tinker with the affairs of the Anti-Saloon League.

OUR BIGGEST SCRAPS

Our battleships Utah and Florida are to be scrapped by the London conference. But since one airplane worth $34,000 with two men aboard might possibly sink a battleship costing $50,000,000 with 1000 men on board, we should worry.

WAR

Two armies of 50,000 men each recently fought a battle in Abyssinia. The number engaged was about the same as at Waterloo or Gettysburg. A French airplane dropped a bomb, killed the leader and ended the revolt. It takes a real war like that in Chicago to get the headlines.

BIG, FAT, RED BOOK

"Give me a fat red book with pictures," says a shrewd second-hand bookseller. A red or green jacket breeds faster sales. Contents do not seem to bulk largely. Seventy-five per cent of second-hand sales are to persons who have never bought a book before. They buy them by the yard.

THE NEW FORD PLANT

Formal opening of the new and greatly enlarged Ford plant at Long Beach gives this section, to all practical purposes, another industry, and new industries are always welcome. The unit opened has a capacity of 300 cars a day and there is plenty of room for expansion on the forty-acre tract on which it is situated.

It contains the last word in assembling machinery, evidenced by the fact that only two machines were moved from the old plant to the new one, and as an exhibit in mass production, of which the world has heard so much in the past few years, has an interest out of the ordinary.

The open house which the Ford Motor Company has announced for this week, therefore, ought to and doubtless will attract an extraordinary number of visitors, whose time will be well paid.

The congratulations of the community are due to the Ford Motor Company on the fine building and equipment which it has provided, together with best wishes for such a success as will permit expansion.

SPECIAL ASSESSMENTS

That special assessments have been burdensome to property owners in Los Angeles, and in Southern California generally, has been a truism for several years past. It has been a political issue in more than one campaign. It has been discussed and rediscussed. Promises of relief have been given. That these promises have not been carried out; that the evil still continues; that assessments levied in a single year have in some cases exceeded the assessed valuation of the property on which they are laid, and that they have been ruinous to many small home owners, is made plain from the series of articles by William Hamilton Cline written after a special study of the subject, which have just been concluded in The Times.

It is also plain that it is time to do something about it; that the whole scheme by which public improvements are made and their costs spread needs recasting; and that the best minds of California ought to busy themselves with the problem. Something, though not enough, has been done to curb the lien shark, but the lien shark, pestiferous as he is, is only a small part of the problem. The fact is that the whole assessment burden is too heavy, in spots. It needs to be lightened, also in spots.

The fact that the remedy requires to be applied only in spots is the saving factor of the situation, since otherwise the cutting off of public-improvement construction, which must be the main feature of any remedial plan, would collide with the Hoover program for relieving unemployment as well as with the abnormal demands of extraordinary growth. The situation does not require that all such work shall be stopped; it does require, and emphatically, that new work to be paid for by assessments should be done only where the property is well able to stand it. Projects to be paid for from general tax funds, from the proceeds of the gasoline tax and the like, can and should go on full tilt.

Streets of second and third importance can do without paving and lighting for a while, in districts where previous projects have heaped heavy costs, until the city has caught up. Other improvements can be deferred. A careful survey ought to show where assessments have been piled on too thick and where work can be placed that will not cost more than property owners can afford to pay. The City Council can help by paying really serious attention to protests; it is inclined at present to listen only to the proponents of projects—who, in many cases, are merely contractors or manufacturers of special equipment, in thin disguise. Even where contruction is plainly in the public interest, where the improvement is needed, it ought to be required to pass two further tests—whether it cannot as well be delayed, and whether the property owners can readily pay for it without straining themselves.

If these tests had all been applied to Victory Park, to mention only one example, it is doubtful whether that project could have passed muster just now.

The recasting of the improvement statutes is, of course, a job for the Legislature. The dozen or more separate acts and amendments under which improvement work is now financed need to be simplified, clarified and combined. More than one method of arranging assessments is a good idea, of course; but there do not need to be as many methods as are in use now. And above all, all assessments, special taxes and the like, ought to be billed for and collected at one spot—the office which collects the general tax. It ought to be possible to discover in a single visit at one place everything that is outstanding against any piece of property and exactly how much is due yearly on it.

These suggestions and others are covered by a series of recommendations made by County Assessor Hopkins to the Joint Legislative Committee on Special Assessments, which has been considering the codification problem. Reform of the method of initiating petitions; protection against excessive assessments; requiring a larger proportion of important highway improvement costs to be borne by general tax; better provision for property redemption after delinquency sale; abolition of the power to order an improvement over a majority protest, are some of the other recommendations of Mr. Hopkins.

In regard to the larger community contribution to important improvements, it may be said that the practice in many eastern cities is for the city as a whole to assume from one-third to one-half the cost of the paving of major streets.

It is perfectly true that some of this improvement expense is due to the extraordinarily rapid growth of the city, which has required that work be done in a year or two that in some cases would normally be spread over a generation. But it is also true that it is impossible for property owners to get hold of a lifetime of earnings in a year or two, and that there is a limit beyond which it is not socially safe to impose burdens. There are places in Los Angeles, city and county, where that limit has been overpassed.

LINDBERGH'S NEW RECORD

That Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is still a superpilot and that he has an able assistant in his wife was demonstrated in their record-breaking flight to New York in fourteen hours and forty-five minutes elapsed time, which clips more than three hours and fifteen minutes from the record of Capt. Frank M. Hawks. Col. Lindbergh's own declaration that the Hawks record is not broken because the latter's flight was of the nonstop variety, may be technically correct, but will make little difference in the weight which the public will give to the performance.

Col. Lindbergh flew high, fast and true and proved once again that a good airplane in capable hands is a remarkably reliable instrument. He demonstrated that flight at more than 180 miles an hour can be maintained across the continent, that unfavorable weather conditions can be—literally—surmounted; that modern air-navigation instruments are precise. While not complete proof that high-altitude flying is necessarily better than low-altitude flying for long hops, the flight established a presumption in favor of this theory, which will be tested by further experiments.

For practically all the journey the Lindbergh plane was from two to three miles or more above sea level, a height at which, it has been believed, the turbulence of storms is greatly diminished and at which greater speed is possible because of lessened air resistance. Lindbergh was forced on one occasion, he reports, to go more than 100 miles out of his direct route to escape a storm, so evidently storm danger is not eliminated by high flying; but it may still be true that it is greatly reduced.

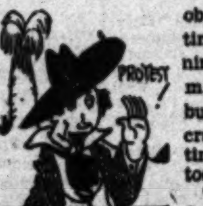
The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

ON BEHALF of all the poets, we wish to voice a protest. Our friends the musicians are stealing all our glory. If a composer sets a poem to music we don't object to his getting four-fifths or nine-tenths of the money returns, but we always get crabby at his getting all the glory, too.

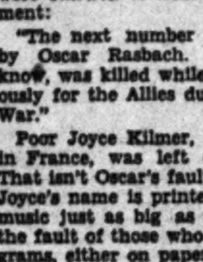


Take our friend, Oscar Rasbach, for instance. When Oscar read Joyce Kilmer's poem, "Trees," he was thrilled by it as every other reader is. It ran in his mind for days and weeks and years, until one day it began running to music. He wrote the music and it has made him famous. It should, for it is good music. But the other day a party of us, including Oscar, were sitting in the home of a friend, listening (more or less) to a radio program. And suddenly we were startled to hear the announcement:

"The next number will be 'Trees,' by Oscar Rasbach. Rasbach, you know, was killed while fighting gloriously for the Allies during the World War."

Poor Joyce Kilmer, who was killed in France, was left clear out of it. That isn't Oscar's fault, of course, for Joyce's name is printed on the sheet music just as big as Oscar's is. It's the fault of those who announce programs, either on paper or on the air. Why should we speak only of Gounod's "Faust," when Gounod couldn't have done it but for Goethe?

The Very Idea



AH! A FINE SPOT!

Leeside: Ideas, like pants, should always be plural. But, unlike automobiles, they should never be fixed. Some millionaires get that way through an idea, and the same is true of quite a lot of fellows who are in jail. It all depends on the idea. Speaking of asylums, my elder sister was a nurse in one, qualifying after she had helped bring me up. One of her patients was a woman who was always picking up nickels which weren't there. Had she been playing the stock market and picking up $1000 paper profits which weren't there, nobody would have thought her crazy, but she would have been, just the same. That shows who's crazy, if you get the idea.—R. K. I.

Progress

There's a ghastly glow in the gas tank, which rears its ugly beams
Out in the sunset splendor which once was my land of dreams.
A steam shovel gnaws at the mountain, once crowned with a purple glow,
And has bared its breast of its glory and brought its proud head low.

The street of my humble dwelling is closed so you cannot drive near,
They have ripped out pavements and sidewalks and spoiled all the landmarks dear,
The pepper and palm trees which added such beauty and grace to our street
Have met with the ax of progress and now lie dead at my feet.

I detour around through byways as I make my way to the west,
I see "utilities" many, for which I am dumbly assessed,
A street which was recently opened, after many improvements were wrought,
Is now being ditched for a sewer, which somebody must have forgot.

DETOUR
SEE AMERICA FIRST

There's a purple glow in the gas tank, as through the twilight I roam
Back through detours and byways to the little tax-burdened home.
I, drive through the splendor of lamp-posts which every broad highway adorn,
Through a land once alight with romance, with its natural glory all shorn.

Cute and fat and pink of toe,

"Is that paint upon your cheek?"
Gee! I'm glad it's once a week!

GILLMORE HITS BACK

Actors' Equity, the one-man union through which Frank Gillmore says which actors and which producers shall be permitted to make a living, has taken revenge on Ethel Barrymore by leaving her name off the list of nominations for office, to all appearances. It may be, of course, that Miss Barrymore voluntarily retired, seeing no hope for Equity under its present management and no hope of getting rid of him. Either assumption throws a flood of light on why Equity doesn't get along.

Miss Barrymore's offense was in giving some excellent advice during the Equity assault on motion and talking pictures. She told Equity, and Gillmore, that the assault was not succeeding and why it was not succeeding. Her truths were so unpalatable to the Equity boss that he at once denounced her as a traitor—which, considering the fact that Miss Barrymore had had a great deal more to do with such success as Equity had in the beginning than Gillmore did, was rather unwarranted. If there was treason, it was rather in Gillmore's efforts to bend the organization to his way of doing.

Miss Barrymore's demotion or retirement is the customary fate of those who, with the real interests of any organization at heart, protest against abuses which are injuring it. If the Equity members permit her to be forced out they will do her no harm, but they may do themselves a good deal of damage.

CALIFORNIANS IN OREGON

Oregon is pluming itself on the fact that more "foreign" automobiles entered that State last year than crossed California's borders from the outside. The Oregonian says that "outside registration in Oregon in 1929 was 103,008 cars, while in California it was 90,083," and it finds this record "surprising." Was it more or less surprised when it learned, as it doubtless did, that 61,000 of those 103,008 cars, or about 60 per cent, bore California licenses?

Californians love to roam, and in vacation time they motor all over Oregon, Washington and British Columbia as well as other regions. If this State supplied 60 per cent of Oregon's auto tourists, as appears from the record, it is little wonder that Oregon received more "foreign" cars than California. Of course we could not count those 61,000 cars with California licenses as "foreign" when they re-entered this State. If we could have done so our record would have stood 48,000 in excess of the Oregon figures.

The statement of these latter facts is by no means intended to reflect upon the tourist prestige of Oregon or its justly famous attractions. Such a reflection would naturally react upon us, as we furnished the great bulk of the tourists. The Pacific Northwest, with its beautiful mountain and forest scenery, particularly attracts those Californians who have visited all the scenic wonderlands of their own State and are desirous of motoring farther afield.

On the other hand, the northwestern people love to visit us, especially when frost abounds up there or the wild Chinook blasts are blowing. More cars entered California from Washington last year than from any other State, Colorado, our old tourist standby, not excepted, though it was second on the list. Oregon sent in a goodly number, about 9600, though not one-sixth as many as we drove into the Webfoot State. The main reason for this is that while Oregon had 272,009 motor vehicles last year California had 1,974,341, or more than seven times as many.

It is doubtful whether any other western region can show such an appreciable gain in tourist travel for the first quarter of this year as Southern California—nearly 6 per cent over the corresponding period for 1929. And the year is still young.

PEACE

If the peace of the world is to be assured, let America for heaven's sake send us no more jazz, begs Ernest Newman. We have to dump it somewhere, Ernest. You know Europe sends us most of our gangsters!

OPTIMISM

By James J. Montague

I'm delving in the soil once more,
  For now the skies are softly vernal;
The birds are singing by my door
  And hope, as usual, springs eternal.
I'm planting beans and peas and corn,
  And do not mind my mocking neighbors,
Who every season look with scorn
  Upon my stern and arduous labors.

I ply the mattock and the hoe;
  Arrayed in jumpers and galoshes.
I set the seeds out, row on row,
  Tomatoes, cabbages and squashes.
I hill them up to keep them warm
  In case the chilling winds run riot,
So in the autumn they may form
  A succulent and healthful diet.

For years and years, when spring came round
  And oozy soils began to harden,
I've tilled my little patch of ground
  That I might have a tidy garden.
And every year has come a frost
  Which killed the growing things I cherished,
And all my labor has been lost
  And all my glowing hopes have perished.

But still, in sunshine or in rain,
  I toil until my bones are aching,
For though rewards are hard to gain
  The effort is well worth the making.
We all of us through life must grope,
  But though it often is distressful
We still are borne up by the hope
  That next year we may be successful.

LETTERS TO The Times

Some Objectors

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] While everyone concedes the necessity for more water for the great Los Angeles district, it seems there are some objectors to the special issue of water bonds to the amount of $38,800,000. Of eleven property owners with whom I have talked, six are against the bonds, three are for and two are still on the fence. Different objectors voice various objections. One is asserting the $7,000,000 for the Mono Basin lands will go to practically one man. It is stated the water of Mono Lake cannot be used, while the land of the watershed is dear at $10 an acre. Others state that in view of the great sum for bonds for Boulder Dam it is a waste of money to vote the bonds now asked for.

"Why pay millions to the men in Inyo county who blew up our aqueduct?" asks another objector.

"Somebody has to pay for these bonds" is another argument. "If it is not the taxpayers it will be the water users. The Board of Water and Power has already raised the water rates 100 per cent within recent years."

Another question asked is: "Why should the water users of the city have to pay for the irrigation water of the county?"

But the answer to all objectors is: "We need the water."

Revelations Approved

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In the last few weeks there has appeared on your editorial page several wonderfully constructive articles on prohibition. However, in my opinion none of them have bearded the lion in his den quite as well as the one in today's issue on the "Revelations of Mr. Curran," and in my opinion we are going to hear a great deal less from the wets hereafter.

You are doing a great work for humanity and I am sure you will keep it up.

B. L. HAMES.

Revelations Scored

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a subscriber to and an admirer of The Times as a newspaper, it is inconceivable to me that editorially The Times can be so inaccurate upon the question of prohibition and the Eighteenth Amendemnt.

In numerous editorials heretofore you have with a fanaticism that is totally unjust and uncalled for applied opprobrious epithets to many of your patrons and readers who are thinking, intelligent and conscientious men and women who happen not to see eye to eye with the broadminded (?) gentleman that writes your prohibition editorials. Now comes the editorial in today's issue entitled, "The Revelations of Mr. Curran" which is so inaccurate and void of the real truth, and the real facts, as to be beneath any newspaper of the standard generally accorded The Times.

Tree Butchery

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It surely makes one sick at heart to realize just for the asking, trees can be chopped down—trees that it has taken years to grow. As I write, down our street some stately, beautiful palms are slowly but surely under the ax. Know of another lady that means to have trees taken out of her parking because she fears they will ruin the sidewalk.

Have some eastern friends visiting in Los Angeles. They said their greatest disappointment in beauty of Los Angeles is the lack of trees. Can't we all pull together and save our trees?

WHERE CAN I LEARN

General Electricity?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

A student in the free general electricity class at Franklin Evening High School, 820 North Avenue Fifty-four, progresses from one table to another until he has performed 125 jobs common to the industry. There is no charge for this class and people of all ages are admitted. Newcomers and tourists are given a friendly welcome and there is no charge for them.

Work of this class includes: the proper use, upkeep and repair of electrical equipment commonly found in the home and in industry; the making of electrical articles for home and shop; fundamentals of the heating and power systems, such as signals and telephones, and the theory and operation of various types of signs, including Neon signs.

Electrical repair on autos, as well as other auto needs, is taught in the adjoining shop. Both shops are free to the public and both are open on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 7 to 9.

If the town of Marlboro, Mass., ever feels itself likely to "go broke" it has only to change its municipal mind and permit the immense deposits of ochre, so valuable for making paint, to be mined, for scientists have proven that there is a fortune in the mineral buried just a few inches under the town. MAHATMA GANDHI

BY ALMA WHITAKER

A little book that throws an important light on current events in India was published about three years by Khwaja Kamal-Ud-Din, who is the Imam of the Mosque at Woking, Eng., and a B.A. and LL.D. of Oxford University. He is, in fact, head of the Islam order for Great Britain. The book is called "India in the Balance."

The writer's opinion is doubly valuable because he likes the British and speaks for British rule in India, while criticising methods and predicting, over three years ago, the exact situation existing today.

He shows how the Mussulman creed is quite consistent with that of Christianity . . . so that their only complaint is against certain types of Christians. In the same way that they like Britain, but cordially disapprove of specific Britishers, and particularly of their conduct in India, where they have set up a caste system for themselves "that would make a Brahman blush." Very much, you see, as we love America, but are perfectly willing to kick out Democrats or Republicans when the occasion demands.

Of Mahatma Gandhi he speaks most highly . . . and we can easily realize why the British hesitate to arrest him again. When they jailed him soon after the war, at the beginning of this civil disobedience movement, even the British judge paid him high tribute from the bench, and the immediate effect was a rush of converts to the Gandhi idea. For Gandhi, from all reports everywhere, is obviously almost a saint, peculiarly righteous in all his personal acts and desperately sincere.

One gathers between the lines that Britain has offered the fullest opportunity of education to Indians, whose minds have proved highly facile, so that they go to England and attend the universities with great honor . . . and then go back knowing more about the English than England ever seems to know about them. But for the creed of nonviolence advocated by Gandhi, there might well have been bloody revolt long since. One soon realizes that these Indians admire so well the British form of government in Britain that they want it applied fully for India, themselves filling all the high offices under the Crown, even unto the vice-regal chair, since "They have no grudge against the King. They love and respect him. It is the administration given them on his behalf they detest."

To this end the author quotes occasional editorials from the English papers, notably the London Times, in which this same Indian administration is severely criticised. There are plenty of perfectly reasonable proofs and facts offered to uphold Gandhi's contention that a change must now be made satisfactory to India, that the whole system of administration needs overhauling.

At this stage of affairs, after reading this book, one cannot but feel that a good, honest, frank Indian parley, meeting as man to man between responsible British ministers and Indian leaders, could still avert disaster. Just to read the creed of Islam, still ardently followed by actually more than half of Britain's subjects, is to realize that it is based on sweet reasonableness and high personal honor . . . just as Christianity would be if we all lived up to it. Britain is not dealing with ignorant savages in India, but an old intellectual civilization. The ever-present problem of conflicting religions in India and the caste system is no more difficult than the conflicting nationalities and religions of Europe, or even the varied nationalities, tastes and interests of the United States, according to this author . . . especially as Gandhi himself, even at that time, three years ago, had already won so many conflicting castes and interests to his own following.

It is quite possible that Britain's best solution would be the elevation of Mahatma Gandhi to responsible administrative office and use him as a heaven-sent solution, rather than to clap him into jail and make a supreme martyr of him. Everything about Gandhi's personal character points to the belief that he is essentially honorable . . . and extraordinarily powerful. So that, if the author's assertion that Indians have no inherent objection to British rule as such, but only to methods, is correct, England might still save her Indian Empire to the Crown.

JAZZING UP BREAD

Ambitious hostesses have often colored their viands for special occasions, and ribbon sandwiches are not new, but rainbow-hued bread from the bakery is something else again, as our funny-paper friends put it. Yet it is a reality, we are told, since versatile bakers have tried out vegetable dyes and find them practicable, and now all we have to do is to telephone the grocer and state the color we desire. Let's use the rose-colored china tomorrow—and have pink bread, eh? Then, next day, when we set the table for sister's high school sorority, let's compliment the girls with their society colors in the rolls, baby-blue and peach tinted. Rah, rah, rah! Yes, we are assured that bread, not content with being staff o' life in snowy white, rich brown or golden yellow tint, has gone rainbow, to keep up with the kitchenware, the bathroom fixtures, the breakfast nook and the typewriter. After all, why not? 'Twill probably make the morning breakfast grouch which afflicts some, less doleful, and green-striped toast, or strawberry-edged rolls, with lemon-colored centers, may stimulate the jaded appetite. Old Rail Lines on Long Beach Mole Wrecked

LONG BEACH, April 21. (Exclusive)—High breakers which have pounded the coast for the last two days swept away 700 feet of railroad track on the west mole of the Long Beach outer harbor today.

City officials said there is no monetary loss, as the track was laid for rock construction work and lacked salvage value.

The west mole is on Terminal Island in an area not protected by the present breakwater. The rock wall was erected to hold a fill of city owned tideland, which will be protected by the new government breakwater.

FILM PAIR MAY WED NEXT JULY

Natalie Moorehead and Director 'Alan Crosland Contemplate Marriage

ALAN CROSLAND

A romance which has been watched with interest in Hollywood probably will have its culmination in July with the marriage of Natalie Moorehead, motion-picture actress, and Alan Crosland, director. Yesterday Miss Moorehead admitted they are contemplating marriage, but that nothing is definite as yet.

"We have not fixed a definite date, but it may be some time in July," she said. "Our picture work has prevented us from making any definite plans, so we are just waiting."

For a number of weeks Miss Moorehead, formerly prominent on the New York stage, has denied they are to be married and this is the first time either has indicated their intentions. Recently Miss Moorehead divorced Raymond H. Phillips at Reno, while Crosland was divorced by Mrs. Crosland in Cannes, France.

At the present time Miss Moorehead is playing in a Paramount picture, while Crosland is a contract director at Warner Brothers' studio. The first inkling of their marriage plans became known in Hollywood after Crosland is said to have confided in friends.

Honeymoon in Orient Ended

A five months honeymoon tour of the Orient was completed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Boone when they returned to Los Angeles aboard the Dollar liner President Taft. The bride is better known as Julienne Mary Duncan, musical comedy player.

Extensive excursions into the interior of oriental countries, particularly to the Great Wall and Forbidden City of China, and through the lesser-known parts of the Philippine Islands so intrigued the couple that they plan to make their present return home only a brief visit; then to set out again on further foreign travels.

Wyatt Retrial Set for June 8

The second trial of Owen E. Wyatt, president of the Provident Discount Company, once convicted of grand theft, yesterday was continued by Superior Judge Hardy until June 8, next, upon the stipulation of defense and prosecution attorneys. All attorneys in the case are engaged in other court matters, it was stated.

Wyatt was convicted of defrauding investors through manipulation of trust deeds. The Appellate Court later reversed the conviction upon the ground that the man had been tried without a jury without having given his consent to such a trial.

DEATH SUSPECT WEDS WITNESS

McIntire and Burroughs Woman Marry in Jail

Bride Locked Up Later on State Complaint

He's Held for Killing Victim of Hit-and-Run Tragedy

Discovery that Ruby Burroughs, star prosecution witness, has become the wife of W. R. McIntire since he was placed in jail awaiting trial on a charge of murder, yesterday developed legal complications in McIntire's trial before Superior Judge Aggeler which for a time theratened to cause the case to be postponed.

Miss Burroughs produced a marriage certificate showing that she had married McIntire in the County Jail on the 6th inst. The marriage was performed under a California statute which permits persons who have lived together as common-law man and wife to wed without obtaining a marriage license.

BRIDE ALSO JAILED

If this marriage is held legal, then Miss Burroughs under the law cannot take the witness stand and testify against McIntire. While Judge Aggeler took the matter under advisement, a complaint was sworn to by Dep. Dist.-Atty. John Oliver charging the woman with concealing facts from a magistrate and Miss Burroughs was placed in County Jail.

McIntire is being tried for the death of Mrs. Margaret Towers, who was struck down by an automobile and injured fatally at Atlantic Boulevard and Hubbard street, January 1, last. It is charged that he left the scene of the accident without offering aid to the victims.

After the accident, investigators assert, McIntire first secreted his automobile in Burbank, but later moved it to a canyon near Beverly Hills where it was found abandoned.

GAVE EARLY TESTIMONY

In the investigation that followed, Miss Burroughs was taken in custody and questioned. According to Rudolph Vejar, deputy sheriff, the girl admitted that she was with McIntire at the time of the accident and gave damaging evidence against him. She also testified at the preliminary hearing.

Another important witness yesterday was Miss Gladys M. Gould who was struck down and injured by the same automobile that caused the death of Mrs. Towers, her grandmother. The girl was unable to name the driver of the automobile but she described to the jury how the car came through the intersection at a high rate of speed and struck them.

McIntire's arrest during the early part of the inquiry also caused a reopening of the John Glab murder case, when it was reported that he had important information concerning the mysterious death of the retired druggist nearly two years ago. This investigation was dropped later when officers were unable to corroborate the reports.

FIREMEN OVERCOME BY VAPORS

Nitric Acid Blast Rouses Hotel Guests and Later "Floors" Blaze Fighters

Spontaneous combustion due, perhaps, to a change in atmospheric temperature, caused the explosion of several gallons of bottled nitric acid in a storeroom of the Calkins Chemical Supply Company at 934 South Main street which resulted in five firemen being overcome by fumes early yesterday morning, Acting Battalion Chief King reported last night.

All five victims were given emergency treatment at the Georgia Street Receiving Hospital and sent home soon afterward, reported out of danger. They are Capt. James M. Ewing, Assistant-Battalion Chief Herbert Klumsiek and Firemen Manuel Rodriquez, Wilbur Vogel and Jack Haulter.

Fumes, generated by contact of the acid with air, seeped up from the chemical company establishment into a hotel on the second floor, arousing, but not injuring, several guests. Believing the escaped chemical due to a fire an alarm was turned in. Rushing into the storeroom the firemen were simultaneously overcome by the deadly fumes. Fellow-firemen assisted them to safety. The fumes, released, soon evaporated and left the interior clear, revealing damage not exceeding $50, according to police.

Actress Loses Plea to Court for Alimony

Hilda Deesy, film actress, appeared in Superior Judge Guerin's court yesterday, after Superior Judge Westover had overruled a motion filed by her husband, Roy Harlow, in their divorce case, and applied for alimony. Judge Guerin denied her application on the ground she is employed in a modiste's shop and is self-supporting.

Harlow, son of Fred Harlow, wealthy cafe man, sued his wife for an annulment on the ground she had a husband living when he married her. In her cross-complaint, Mrs. Harlow asked the return of $18,000 she said she gave him after marriage.

ORGANIST FACES ARREST

A bench warrant for the arrest of C. Sharpe Minor, organist, of 179 South Mariposa street, was issued by Municipal Judge Curtis yesterday when he failed to appear for trial on a charge of violating the State Wage Law. The court forfeited Minor's $100 bail. He is accused of failing to pay his secretary, Eva Burkhardt of 3030 San Marino street, $110 due her as wages since February 16, 1929.

The marriage of Miss Jane Plumb, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Plumb, to Graeme Stewart Doane, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane of Oak Knoll, was solemnized last evening, the ceremony taking place in St. James's Church, South Pasadena, with Rev. C. Rankin Barnes officiating. The wedding was one of the social affairs of the post-Easter season, society from Pasadena, Los Angeles and Hollywood being bidden to the church. A small reception for relatives, bridal party and a few close friends followed at the home of the bride's parents, 2041 Ashburton Drive.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charming in a gown of ivory satin, fashioned Princess model, the veil of tulle caught into a cap of rose pointe lace. She carried lilies of the valley and gardenias.

Mrs. Miles Hubbard (Helen Stewart Doane,) sister of the bridegroom, assisted as matron of honor wearing a charming frock of blue chiffon with blue maline hat and carrying an armful of Talisman roses. The other attendants included Miss Phylis Doane, Miss Helen Hillman, Miss Jane Lord and Mrs. Frank Darling, Jr., wore becoming frocks of printed chiffon with hats of blue maline and carried showers of yellow roses tied with tulle.

Preston Plumb, Jr., brother of the bride, served as best man and Edward Plumb, Austin Jones, Jerone Holland Bishop and Miles Hubbard were the ushers.

Mrs. Plumb wore a frock of champagne lace and orchids.

The church was transformed into a garden of Easter lilies with a profusion of foliage and was lighted by myriads of white cathedral candles, while spring flowers in a riot of color and fragrance were used in the house decorations. Immediately after the wedding supper, Mr. and Mrs. Doane left for an extended motor wedding trip and after its conclusion will make their home in San Francisco.

Smart Affair

One of the most attractive affairs of Easter week will be the third annual spring formal dance of Psi Delta Phi Fraternity of Loyola College, which is scheduled to take place Saturday night at the Town House, sixty students, alumni and members of the faculty having been bidden.

Health and Diet ADVICE

by DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

CAUSES OF FLATULENCE

Flatulence means gas in the intestines or colon. It is sometimes caused by the use of wrong foods so that digestion is interfered with. For example, when foods, especially starches, are cooked in a heavy layer of grease, the digestive juices may not be able to work upon the starches, and starch fermentation will result, producing a large amount of gas. The combination of sugar and starch is also readily fermentable, and some foods where starch and protein are heavily combined, as in beans.

Some foods seem to be especially likely to cause flatulence in susceptible people. Among these foods may be mentioned beans, cabbage, melons, onions, garlic, radishes, peppers, turnips and peanuts, and where there is an inflammation or obstruction of the intestines, the large quantity of cellulose which is present in some of the fruits and green vegetables, will cause a delay in the passages and bring about flatulence. For instance, corn kernels may seem to pass through the body in practically an unchanged state, but in people suffering from an inflamed colon they will usually cause gas. Where there are pockets or distended areas of the bowel as in many cases of constipation, a portion of the food may remain much longer than it should and undergo putrefaction and fermentation, producing large quantities of gas.

Any interference or disease of the organs producing the digestive secretions may also interfere with digestion and result in food fermentation; cirrhosis of the liver is especially likely to do this. Where there is an interference of the circulation of the intestines, which occurs in many cases of heart trouble or arterial sclerosis, flatulence will often result. This condition may also result in anemia or in diseases of the lungs.

It must be remembered that flatulence is only a symptom. If it is due to wrong food combinations, it can be overcome quite easily, and if this is not the case, flatulence is a danger signal pointing to some serious disease of the body and one should pay careful attention to discover the cause.

Where the gas accumulates to such an extent that it causes collicky pains, relief can be experienced through using a warm enema and a warm sitz bath. Where inflammation of the bowel is the cause, a milk diet is necessary to permit a rest for the inflamed surfaces. If kinks or pouches are present in the bowels or intestines, they should be corrected by mechanical measures. Often hand manipulations, special exercises, or treatments with the sinusoidal electric current will prove helpful. If you are interested in the exercises, send for my article called Exercise and Digestion.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

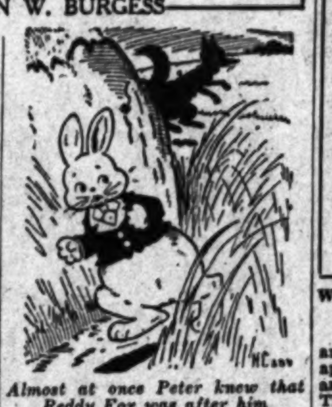
by THORNTON W. BURGESS

PETER REMEMBERS JUST IN TIME

Think quickly and as quickly do
The thing that seems most right to you.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had been over to the Smiling Pool. Now Peter was on his way to the little swamp above the Smiling Pool, following the Laughing Brook to the Green Forest. Suddenly a Merry Little Breeze wandered Peter's way and tickled that wabbly little nose of his. Peter stopped abruptly. That Merry Little Breeze had tickled that wabbly little nose with a scent that was not at all to Peter's liking. You see, that scent was the scent of Reddy Fox. So Peter did the wise thing. He froze, as they say. That means that he stopped and kept perfectly still.

The Merry Little Breeze had gone on. Presently, however, another Merry Little Breeze came dancing along. This one blew in Peter's ears and ruffled his fur and tickled his nose and then danced away. Peter no longer sat still. You see, this Merry Little Breeze had danced off in the direction of Reddy Fox and if, as Peter suspected, this Merry Little Breeze was carrying some of Peter's own scent, it wouldn't be long before Reddy Fox would be looking for him. So Peter took to his long heels. It was no longer safe to "freeze."



Almost at once Peter knew that Reddy Fox was after him

Almost at once Peter knew that Reddy Fox was after him. Peter then thought quickly. He knew he couldn't outrun Reddy Fox. He might outrun him for a very short distance and he might outdodge him for a little while, but the only sure way of saving his skin was to find a place for safety and find it quickly.

So as he ran Peter was doing some fast thinking. He knew of a certain little bramble tangle not far away, but it was a small tangle and he knew that he wouldn't feel really safe there. He remembered a hollow log big enough for him to get into, but too small for Reddy Fox to get into. However, this was quite a distance away. It was farther than Peter felt like running. Then he remembered a certain hole. One of Johnny Chuck's family had dug that hole a long time before. It wasn't used now and the entrance was half-filled with dead leaves. But it was a good hole. Peter knew that, for he had been down in it. Moreover, there was a hidden backdoor in case there was need to use it. So Peter decided that the sooner he reached that hole the better it would be for him.

Lipperty-lipperty-lip ran Peter, as only Peter can run. After him and not very far behind him came Reddy Fox. Peter's ears were laid back and he was running with all his might, lipperty-lippery-lip. Then all in a flash Peter remembered something. He remembered that just ahead of him was the nest of Mrs. Quack, the Mallard Duck. He didn't know whether Mrs. Quack was on that nest, but he suspected so. He hadn't seen her in the Smiling Pool and so he suspected that she was on her nest. If he kept on the way he was headed now, which was in a very straight line for that hole, he would have to jump right over Mrs. Quack.

"This won't do," thought Peter. "Reddy Fox will be sure to find Mrs. Quack and he probably would rather have Mrs. Quack than he would to have me for dinner. Oh, dear, what shall I do? I can't have Mrs. Quack caught through any fault of mine. I wish I had started for that hollow log instead of for that hole. I'll have to do it now and I shall have to run for all I'm worth to get there."

Peter abruptly changed direction in that sudden way of his, and away he went, lipperty-lippery-lip, lipperty-lipperty-lip. With every jump he was going away from Mrs. Quack and her nest; whereas, before, with every jump he had been going toward her. He was out of breath when he reached that hollow log. He was out of breath and he reached it just in time. The teeth of Reddy Fox snapped together at his very heels as Peter dodged into that hollow log and was safe. And back there on her nest Mrs. Quack was very, very grateful. You see, she had seen Peter when he dodged.

Dishwashers to Show Skill

A dish washing champion of Southern California will be determined Thursday morning at the Ambassador Auditorium, as a preliminary event of the Southern California Retail Grocers' Association's sixth annual food and household show.

Fifteen entries in the annual contest will race in washing dishes, according to the plan, while motion-picture cameras record their speed and efficiency. The winner, to be named at once by a board of judges, will reign in the household section of the show, which takes place May 12 to 17.

Tujunga Dam Fund Approved

The Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a request of County Flood Control Engineer Eaton for an appropriation of $100,000 from flood control funds for construction work on the Big Tujunga Dam.

The dam, first of four units proposed for Big Tujunga Canyon, will cost approximately $1,000,000, which sum was provided in the last flood-control bond issue.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

WELL FED CHILD OFTEN SHOWS NO INTEREST IN FOOD

There are very few children who arrive at the table with a ravenous appetite prepared to eat anything and everything put before them. That is the ideal situation most mothers hold but because we feed children so well they all too infrequently have the appetite which accompanies this picture. Probably the only places where one would find children who have no food whims and to whom eating is joy and pleasure thrice daily is in institutions or in homes where food is so scarce that there is always just a little less than any child wants to eat. Then food becomes precious and feeding a thrilling pleasure. Here is the opposite extreme:

Mrs. R. E. D. says, "I don't know what I would do if I didn't have your column to read, each article is so interesting and helpful. I have a perfectly healthy, normal child, 2 years of age, spoiled a good deal. But meal times are a perfect nightmare, I have such a time getting food into her. She seems to want it but wants to play also. She is two pounds overweight.

"Shall I take her down from the table or keep on forcing food?

"She has regular habits, does not eat between meals and goes to bed early, sleeping all night. How can I encourage her to drink buttermilk? Should I leave her alone in the dark when she is crying or wait until she is asleep?"

CHILD ENJOYS ATTENTION

It pleases me enormously to have you enjoy the column so. The really obvious thing about this situation is what you are refusing to face. The child has gotten so used to having each spoonful wheedled into her that she angles for just this attention. She is enjoying in her own mind the reputation you have given her of having to be "forced" to eat every mouthful.

Change the whole feeding situation. Substitute a low chair and table for the high chair in which so many older children grow restive and uncomfortable. Give her less food on her plate than she is now eating. Pay no attention to her and if she wants more give her such a little extra that she will get down feeling as if she could have eaten more.

If she learns the habit of finishing what she has and feels slightly dissatisfied with the amount she has eaten her appetite will increase.

SHOW NO CONCERN OVER APPETITE

When she begins to play with her food take it away. Do not warn her of this, just let it happen naturally. Your manner more than your words say to her: "Evidently you don't want any more."

Put small attractive glasses of buttermilk on her table and slightly out of reach. Having to reach for a thing enhances its value. Even children discover it for they always reach for what is away from them instead of what is close at hand. If you would like the leaflet on "Fears" I shall be glad to send it to you for the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope. Going to sleep in the dark should be a habit from infancy. It isn't clear from your letter why she cries.

Store Company Sued for Fall

A personal injury suit for $25,000 damages brought by Mrs. Jennie C. Ranney against the Safeway Stores, Inc., went on trial before an all-woman jury yesterday in the court of Superior Judge Archbald.

Mrs. Ranney asserts she suffered a fractured foot and other injuries when she fell in one of the company's stores. She contends the floor was oily and slippery. The store company denies liability for Mrs. Ranney's injuries, asserting the accident was caused by her carelessness.

ACTION DEFERRED ON ROCK CRUSHER

Action on the application of Sol J. V. Godman to erect a rock crusher in the Big Tujunga Wash, near Sunland, was deferred by the City Council yesterday until May 5, next. The Council had before it the unanimous report of the City Planning Committee refusing permission to construct the rock crusher, but Godman's representatives pleaded for an extension of time.

"I appreciate Coffee with a Fresh Vigorous Flavor . . . Chase & Sanborn's is Especially Good"

George Gershwin

CHASE & SANBORN'S Coffee—for 65 years one of the really fine blends of coffee in this country—now has a flavor advantage with which no other coffee can compete.

For by the "Daily Delivery" system of Standard Brands Incorporated, Chase & Sanborn's Coffee speeds to your grocer twice a week.

Straight from the roasting ovens . . . In a plainly dated package . . . If a can should stay on your grocer's shelf beyond the tenth day, it is taken back and replaced with fresh.

No other coffee is given this extreme, "perishable fresh food" type of handling. Try a cup of Chase & Sanborn's dated coffee and see for yourself the difference in flavor. If you don't think it makes a difference in the taste, you've yet to try a cup of Chase & Sanborn's.

GEORGE GERSHWIN

Famous young composer of musical comedies and orchestral music . . . Remember how he startled the musical world in 1923, and won its homage, with his "Rhapsody in Blue"? . . . Chase and Sanborn's Coffee is served in Mr. Gershwin's luxurious modern roof home atop a New York skyscraper.

LASKY STAR PLAYS "EX-LOVER"

Leslie Mae, Vaudeville Artist, Comes West for Fox; Everett Marshall in Northwest Mounted Tale; Hollywood Beauties Paged by Carroll

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Now it's the ex's who are getting the break. First we had "Ex-Wife," then "Ex-Husband" and then "Ex-Mistress." And now it is "Ex-Lover."

GARY COOPER

Paramount is the film company to glorify this ex-lover, and said ex-lover himself will be none other than the fascinating Gary Cooper.

This will be a change for Cooper from the roles of the big outdoors which he has been playing.

Thompson Buchanon, author of "Civilian Clothes" and other notable plays, wrote "Ex-Lover" and we are assured that the story will be an intriguing one. Rowland V. Lee will direct. The leading lady has yet to be chosen.

CHIC YOUNG LADY NEWEST FOX FIND

One of the smallest and prettiest blonds yet brought to Hollywood for talking pictures arrived yesterday, we learn, to join the ever-growing Fox Films contract family. She is Leslie Mae, 16-year-old Baltimore singer and dancer.

Miss Mae, who is less than four feet ten inches, and who has never weighed more than ninety-seven pounds, is one of the twenty-six players signed to contracts by Jack Gardner, Fox Films casting director, on his recent trip to New York.

A single act on Keith time, night club work in New York and a just-completed nine months' vaudeville tour with Pat Rooney III, constitute Miss Mae's theatrical experience. She was accompanied to California by her grandmother. No assignment has yet been made of her talents.

EVERETT MARSHALL MADE R.-K.-O. STAR

As we prophesied in this column a few days ago, Everett Marshall, the engaging young singer and actor who is now playing the lead in R.-K.-O.'s "Dixianna," which Luther Reed is directing and in which Bebe Daniels is starring, is to be made a star by R.-K.-O.

His first vehicle has been chosen. It is a story of the Northwest Mounted Police, but so far no title has been selected.

The picture is to have color sequences, and you can imagine how those uniforms will attract the feminine fans.

Beauties Emigrate

That Hollywood has dug deep into the chorus girl resources of New York, once the capital of feminine pulchritude, and that the fame of Hollywood beauties is on the rise, is indicated by a wire received yesterday from Earl Carroll, Vanities producer, by Leroy Jerome Prinz, dance director.

The wire reads: "Hurry back. Rehearsals for new Vanities start in ten days. Not satisfied with present supply of girls here. Bring as many of those California beauties as you can. Tell girls you pick they need not be afraid of coming to New York. This is no speculation, as they most definitely will be in the show. It seems that all the beauty in the world has gone talkie. (Signed,) Earl Carroll."

Prinz has just completed a contract as dance director on "Madam Satan."

Kenneth Harlan's Next

It looks as though Kenneth Harlan must have pleased in his first talker for Tiffany Productions, as that company has signed him for another picture following the completion of "Under Montana Skies."

KENNETH HARLAN

"Pleasure Island" is the title of the new story in which Harlan will appear as leading man. Bert Glennon will direct. The story is a South Sea Island yarn.

When Harlan returned to Hollywood a few weeks ago, he had been absent from the film center over a year.

Estabrook Writes It

Howard Estabrook, prominent author-scenarist, has been selected by R.-K.-O.'s executive, William Le Baron, for one of the most important writing assignments on this company's production program. He is to write the picture version and dialogue for "Cimarron," Edna Ferber's novel, the rights to which were recently purchased by R.-K.-O.

Bill Kernell Re-Signed

William Kernell, lyric writer and composer, who has just rounded out three years at Fox, has been signed again by that organization on a new long-term contract. He wrote the theme song for the John McCormack picture.

CITY OBSERVES SCHOOL WEEK

Eleventh Annual Program Now Under Way

Many Night Gatherings Hear Local Leaders Speak

Sessions at Masonic Temples and in Auditoriums

Programs at Masonic temples and in the auditoriums of public schools were conducted last night in celebration of the eleventh anniversary of Public Schools Week. Speakers were substituted at some of the meetings because of the illness of those scheduled to appear, but the programs were carried out in every other detail as arranged.

Meetings tonight will be at Culver City grammar school, Hollenbeck Temple and the Seventy-eighth-street school, with Judge Haas, Prof. Elston and Bruce A. Findlay as the speakers at the schools in the order named.

At the Sheridan-street school tomorrow night Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin is scheduled to speak. The meeting at the San Gabriel school will be addressed by former Judge B. F. Bledsoe, and Bruce A. Findlay will make the address at the Masonic Temple, which will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Morris M. Ferguson will speak at the East Gate Temple Thursday evening; Dr. W. V. Goodfellow is scheduled to address the meeting at Belmont High School; Bruce A. Findlay will be heard at the Wilton Place school; Judge Bledsoe at the Inglewood High School. The classes in oratory will have charge of the program at the University High School, while Van Nuys High School will celebrate Public Schools Week by having all classes in session that actual work may be viewed by visitors.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

FILLED BUTTER CAKES

Mix to a paste one and one-half cupfuls of butter, with one and one-third cupfuls of light brown sugar, then slowly add to this, creaming all the time, four cupfuls of flour, that has been sifted with one teaspoonful of cinnamon and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, add to the mixture one well-beaten egg, roll out in a thin sheet and cut in half, oil and flour a baking pan and lay one sheet of the pastry in the pan, chop one-half a pound of citron fine and mix with it one-half a pound of blanched and finely ground almonds and four tablespoonfuls of soft butter, add a teaspoon of vanilla and the well-beaten yolks of two eggs, brush the pastry with the well-beaten whites of the two eggs, cover it with the fruit and nut mixture, and on top of it place the other piece of pastry, brush the top pastry with the beaten whites of the egg and sprinkle with poppy seeds. Bake in a moderate hot oven for thirty minutes, allow to cool, then cut in squares.

STEWED RABBIT IN CASSEROLE

Cut the rabbit in joints the same as for frying, wipe it off with a damp cloth, place in a saute pan, one tablespoonful of butter, or shortening, and brown the rabbit on both sides, take a dutch oven, heat it, and when the rabbit is brown, place in it one onion chopped fine, and add two tablespoonfuls of butter, allow it to slightly brown, then add two tablespoonfuls of flour, a bay leaf, a tablespoonful of mild vinegar, six whole cloves, twelve whole allspice and two cupfuls of boiling water. Add the rabbit to this, then add enough more water to just barely cover it, add twelve medium-sized onions, cover tightly, and allow to simmer gently until the onions are cooked, remove the rabbit to a hot platter, place the onions around it, and, if necessary, thicken the gravy a little more, pour the sauce over it; a fourth of a cupful of sherry wine may be added to the gravy if liked.

MUSHROOMS BORDELAISE

One pound of mushrooms, twelve whole pepper corns, one tablespoonful of oil, if the cultivated mushrooms are used it is not necessary to peel them. Wash well, drain, and if large cut them in half, place them in a bowl, add the oil, a few grains of salt and the pepper corns, allow them to stand for two hours, melt in a saute pan two tablespoonfuls of butter, drain out the mushrooms, place in the saucepan and allow them to cook until tender, place in another saucepan three tablespoonfuls of oil, one clove of garlic, chopped fine, two teaspoonfuls of chopped parsley and one teaspoonful of chopped chives, or young green onion tops. Cook all together until tender, place fried bread on a platter, cover with the mushrooms, and pour over the sauce.

STRAWBERRY ICE

One quart of strawberries, four cupfuls of water, two cupfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, pick over the berries, wash them, mash, add the sugar and lemon juice to them, and set aside for one hour, then mash fine, and put through a sieve, add the water, and freeze; if wished the well-beaten whites of two eggs may be added when the mixture is half-frozen.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

RADIO MAN ESCAPES PETTY-THEFT TRIAL

Petty-theft charges against Leslie Taft, owner of radio station KFQZ, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Curtis under the compromise section of the Penal Code. Taft was accused of stealing electricity from the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation by means of a "meter jumper" after his current had been shut off for nonpayment of his bill for electricity. Representatives of the company told the court the bill has been paid.

Mei Lan-Fang and Troupe Due Here Next Week

Mei Lan-Fang, Chinese actor now making a good-will tour of America, will arrive in Los Angeles next week. With his company of actors, musicians, dancers and acrobats he is to begin a week's engagement at Philharmonic Auditorium May 6, next, under sponsorship of the Pacific Chinese Dramatic Club of San Francisco.

MEI LAN-FANG.

Mei is known in his native land as a tan, meaning portrayer of feminine roles. He is president of the Peking Actors' Association. He also is known as "Foremost of the Pear Orchard," meaning premier actor of the land.

A number of receptions are being planned in his honor, including a luncheon by Mary Pickford in her studio bungalow.

Woman Loses Purse Despite Thief Pursuit

Persistence in chasing a purse-snatcher was reported to police yesterday by Flora Mahaffy of 1436 Santee street. She said that she laid her purse, containing $50, on a Pershing Square bench while she powdered her nose Sunday night. A middle-aged man arose from the bench, and the purse vanished.

Miss Mahaffey pursued, demanding her money. The man boarded a street car and she followed suit, still requesting the return of her money. He alighted at Twenty-first and Maple streets, entered an apartment-house corridor and disappeared out by the rear door. Miss Mahaffy lost him there, after having clung to the trail for four miles.

SIGNALS PLEA DENIED

The City Council yesterday declined to take action upon the request of Julius C. Barthel, Councilman from the Eleventh District, for flasher signals at Centinela avenue and Washington Place because the location is outside the city limits.

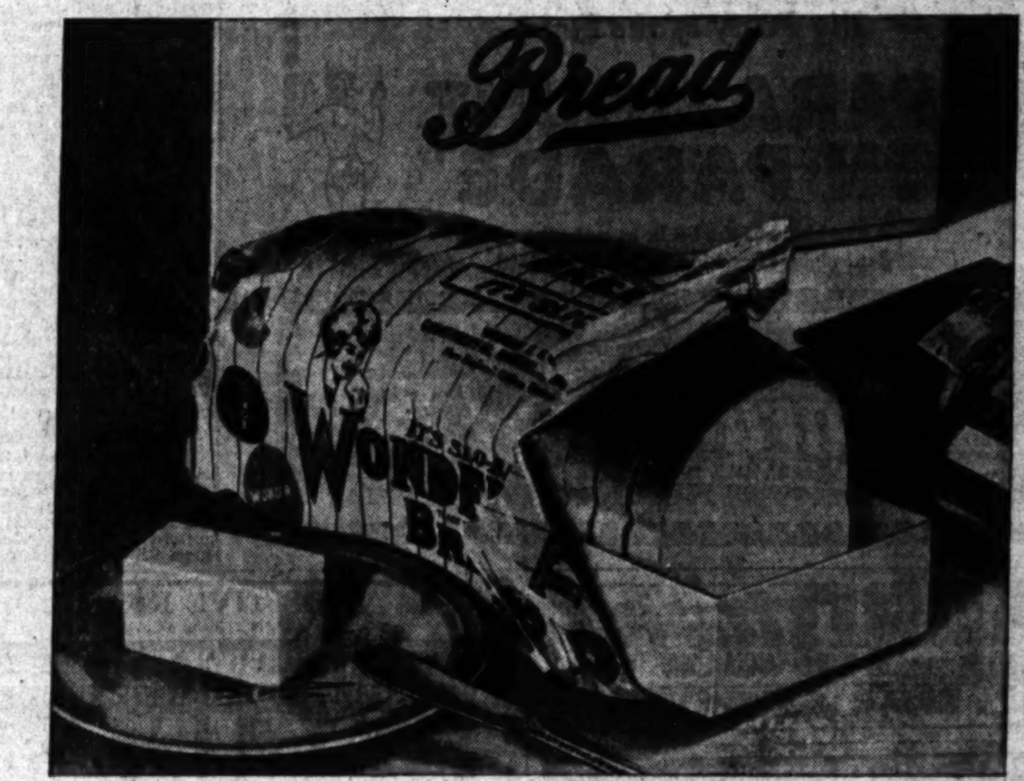
WONDER-CUT BREAD



Wonder-Cut Bread is made exactly as is regular Wonder Bread. The same fine ingredients. The same slo-baking process. All we do is slice it for women who prefer ready-to-use bread.

The NEW
Ready-to-use form of slo-baked Wonder Bread is now on sale at your Grocer's

TODAY you can get the regular slo-baked Wonder Bread in a new, ready-to-use and convenient form.

Many women who prefer bread that is already cut never bought it regularly because until now no sliced bread has been slo-baked.

Now you can have it if you want. Nothing is missing.

You get the same fine texture, the same tender, golden-brown crust, the same long-lasting freshness that you know in regular Wonder Bread.

We make both kinds of Wonder Bread from the same dough. They both have the same fine ingredients that cost more than $2,000,000 extra each year.

The same "short patent" flour, milled from the nutritious heart of the wheat berry. The same famous slo-baking process that promotes freshness and greater digestibility.

All we do is slice it for you, and by entirely new methods.

Keen, steady knives cut each slice evenly, without breaking the tender crust.

Each loaf is placed in specially designed ventilated trays. Then wrapped in special airtight wax wrappers that preserve the full nut-like Wonder Bread flavor.

You get the finest bread that baking skill and money can provide : : : when you get Wonder-Cut Bread. We slice the regular loaf only for those women who prefer ready-to-use bread.

Wonder-Cut Bread is at your grocer's today. He gets regular Wonder and Wonder-Cut fresh twice a day, every day. Continental Baking Company.

"SINFONIETTA" BY HALFFTER OFFERED

Dr. Rodzinski Conducts Varied Program for Pro-Musica Organization

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The young German composer with the Spanish education, Halffter, was represented at the meeting of the Pro-Musica Society last evening with an extremely interesting work, "Sinfonietta." Dr. Artur Rodzinski conducted the program of unusual works with about thirty members of the Philharmonic Orchestra. The "Sinfonietta" was the important event of the evening, but other points of interest were an "Octour" for wind instruments by Stravinsky, a Bach concerto for two solo violas with Ferir and Kahgan playing, and Korngold's Shakespeare suite.

The Halffter work is cosmopolitan, to say the least. This Viennese who studied with De Falla has assimilated everything from Bach to Schoenberg and to some purpose. The composition is serious modernism, and the composer has much that is worth while to say. It is divided into four movements: Pastorela, Adagio, Minuetto and Allegro giocoso. It is refreshingly original in themes and treatment and only in its attractive accentuation of various rhythms does it suggest the composer's predilection for things Spanish.

Stravinsky's "Octuor" for wind instruments, marked "Sinfonia" and "Theme with Variations," did not fare so well with the audience. It is an intellectual diversion and the listeners, not grasping it, laughed to cover their confusion. It is an intense work and the tension is maintained too long for comfort. Dissonances on the piano or stringed instruments are becoming quite bearable, but prolonged wood-wind and brass dissonance, being excruciatingly new, can drive one outside. Few orchestras could afford enough wind-instrument players of the required caliber to play this very difficult adventure into unexplored fields of sound and Dr. Rodzinski is to be complimented for presenting it, but it should only be done again for a chosen few.

Both the Bach concerto and the Korngold suite have been reviewed recently in these columns. They were repeated from orchestral programs with success. It is now the fashion to assure a respectful, if not respectable, atmosphere at ultra-modern concerts of the day with a beginning of Bach. I wonder how the forthright Johann Sebastian would like the strange company of Halffter, Stravinsky and Korngold, were it possible to consult him.

NANCY WAS IN CHORUS

The first real stage experience of Nancy Carroll, starring in the Paramount picture, "The Devil's Holiday," was in the chorus of "The Passing Show of 1923." Her first picture, a silent one, was with Virginia Valli in "Ladies Must Dress."

'All Quiet on Western Front' Great Achievement

Battle Scenes Overwhelm With Dramatic Power

Personal Tragedies Vividly Add to Production

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

It may well be called a preachment for peace. No motion picture has presented a bleaker, blacker etching of the horror of war than "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Erich Maria Remarque's realistic story transcribed to the screen opened last night at the Carthay Circle Theater, and produced a profound impression upon its first audience.

On the scroll of great achievements of the screen let the name of this production be deeply and darkly engraved. For until you have seen it you have never viewed the war portrayed on the motion-picture film.

That so small a thing as a rifle bullet can end a man's life . . . after the thunder and the pandemomium of shell fire and barrage. . . .

What a picture for contrasts—this one! A little laughter here and there, and the heavy spell of hellish sadness longing awesomely over all. . . .

"All Quiet On the Western Front" is one of the great productions of all time. Its battle scenes can be termed magnificent, though they are also fraught with horror.

One's nerves grow tense over the carnage on the open field, and in trench and shell hole. There is a strange subjectivity about it all. It is as if you were living through it.

One sits with bated breath at times watching the unfoldment of this story of a young boy, who casts his school books aside to go to the front. He is caught by the glamour of patriotism. It is in the air and preached on every side.

Later he returns to that same school. The teacher asks him to tell of the glory of war. He has not heart for it. He delivers a denunciation of the whole madness. The teacher is aghast, the pupils are amazed. It does not coincide with the fervor of those who are not in the fighting throng.

There is no plot as such to "All Quiet on the Western Front." It preserves the biographical spirit of the original. It is a sensation scenically.

The strange depression hanging over shattered villages . . . the cold gloomy plain of No Man's Land . . . the webs of barbed wire spelling entanglement before death . . . the earth torn apart . . . and clouds of dirt, clods and human beings tossed high. . .

Words are a feeble description of what occurs in this picture. I can see it only as a series of impressions of a terrible reality—one of the grimmest panoramas of the conflict, with sound adding constantly to its uncanny realism.

In the end there is the young soldier who has survived a score of battles stretching his hand out to capture a butterfly . . . a symbol of beauty in his wilderness. Then the muffled throb of a rifle shot . . . the hand clenches . . . and one views the youth the member of a shadow procession marching over wooden white crosses, looking back questioningly at the strange horror of war behind.

I cannot recommend that you see this picture for enjoyment. I can, however, say that it is a courageous accomplishment. Produced by Carl Loemmle, Jr., and directed by Lewis Milestone it will, without question, give them both a place in filmdom's corridor of fame. How it was possible to attain such remarkable accuracy in the battle episodes is a story in itself. But the delicate and intimate touches in the production are exceptionally fine, and though the story is somber there is the relieving humor here and there. No one should miss "All Quiet on the Western Front" because it is new proof of how surpassingly real the screen can be.

Lewis Ayres plays the role of the hero Paul, with fine sensitive feeling. This is what it most demands. For enlivenment there are Louis Wolheim and "Slim" Summerville—the latter being notably good. William Bakewell and Ben Alexander are importantly present for pathos. John Wray is the drill sergeant, Himmelstoss. Raymond Griffith gives a sensational portrayal of the death of the French poilu. Russell Gleason, Marian Clayton, Arnold Lucy, Owen Davis, Jr., —the names throng in this picture—and all the smaller parts are brilliantly done.

Maxwell Anderson and George Abbott made the adaptation of the original, and their sense of the fitness of things was apparently most unusual.

Introductions following the showing were in the hands of William C. DeMille, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, and he paid high tribute to the work of all.

There is a martial prelude to the picture presented by Abe Lyman and his band, which is fitting. A short cartoon comedy, "Dixie Days," is a light event of the program.

Paramount to Go on Parade

A new form of screen entertainment is said to be presented in the intimate party of the stars, "Paramount On Parade," which opens at the Paramount Theater Thursday morning. "Paramont On Parade" has three masters of ceremonies. They are Jack Oakie, Leon Errol and Skeets Gallagher. Oakie and Gallagher have already appeared as comedians in Paramount pictures, while Errol is a noted stage comedian.

More than fifty noted stage and screen stars will appear in this production. Outstanding among these are Maurice Chevalier, Clara Bow, George Bancroft, Nancy Carroll, Clive Brook and Ruth Chatterton.

'JUNE MOON' SHEDS LIGHT

Penetrating Comedy "In American" Delights First-Nighters; Characterization Brilliant

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Conspiring with George S. Kaufman, Ring Lardner, the colloquial, takes a little fling at the playwrighting game with "June Moon," which came last evening to the Belasco Theater. It is, taken all in all, quite a little fling. If there is anyone who has more accurately captured the language with which Americans are wont to address each other—and I am making due allowances for the Hemingways, the George Kellys, and the Vincent Lawrences—he has not yet put in an appearance. Keen, satirical, even bitter, this penetratingly honest odyssey of a song-writer from Schenectady, N. Y., still manages to be as sentimental as this morning's mother song. And as Fred Stevens, the Ulysses in question, puts it so conclusively, "Where would a man be if it wasn't for their mothers?"

"June Moon," I think, proves that a drama may be constructed on almost any idea at all—if only it is constructed well enough. The adventures of a small-town boy in a big city are hardly, one would suppose, the material for an evening's full entertainment. Yet here they are a continuous delight. Starting with a prologue aboard a train bound for New York, the play establishes the boy and girl with a few casual remarks that by their very casualness convey complete characterization. He has been given a farewell testimonial by his pals in the General Electric plant, is off to meet Paul Sears, the composer, for whom he expects to write the lyrics of popular songs. She . . . just a girl going home from a visit up-State . . .

In New York, the boy "connects." In the flush of success—"June Moon," his first number, is a hit—he forgets the little girl, becomes engaged to the composer's sister-in-law. A piano-player in the offices of Goebel's, music publisher, reunites the girl and boy.

Through this bare sketch is woven an unending succession of brilliant lines, many of them sharp as the flick of a whip, most of them amazingly accurate. The boy Fred, with his guilelessly one-track mind, reacts in a manner which makes him sympathetic where he might so easily have been merely the "sap." And so with all the others, in their swift placement in the scheme of things, even to an inquisitive old window-washer whose whole life is shot across the footlights in the single query he ventures after listening to the optimistic prophecies of a roomful of slightly mad song-writers.

"How much does a man get," he propounds eagerly, "for writin' a big hit—say like "Nero My God to Thee?"

I may only touch quickly on the various others—Lucile, the tired, hurt, nagging wife of Sears; Eileen, her shrewdly dominant sister; Maxie, the erratic and understanding pianist (most typically Lardner;) Benny Fox, the wild-eyed creator of "different" tunes, and Hart, the comparatively urbane publisher. . . . And the players.

Cleve Moore, as the boy Fred, gives a generally excellent performance; if at times he reaches broadness, the fault is slight. For a first important role, this is little short of an achievement for him. Nancy Dover is unusually appealing as the girl. Paul Sears is characterized with praiseworthy strokes by James Spottswood, a good actor. Lucille, his wife—and incidentally a part that could hardly miss—is taken by Edith Van Cleve. Ruth Abbott is Eileen; Murray Smith gains steadily in authority as Maxie, the pianist; and the balance of the cast numbers Cyrena Smith, Ross Hertz, Fred Irving Lewis, Joseph Holicky, Adeline Ogilvie and John Daly Murphy. Mr. Murphy overexaggerates the window-washer.

"June Moon" is one of the more important comedies. Done in the new manner, like "Among the Married" and "Holiday," its humor is often underlined by frankness; never transparent or obvious, it will sometimes take the listener unaware, as it were, because it comes so close to him. Only in its occasional stretching of a point—the mispronunciation of a word for a laugh—does it seem to leave the verities as we know them. And there would have to be a great deal more at fault with "June Moon" to tear it from its position well toward the head of the season's list, where it surely belongs.

OLSEN WILL GIVE AWAY CLUB KEYS

Carrying out an old French custom whereby notables receive a key to the tavern they patronize, George Olsen will give out gold keys to the stage and screen stars, directors, composers and other celebrities of the film colony who attend the premiere of his new revue club in Culver City tomorrow night.

War Provider Basis of Plot

Achieving the ultimate of internationalism, the screen version of "Journey's End," now playing at the Mayan Theater, is based upon personal experiences during the World War.

The cast of players featured in this production has been recruited from the four corners of the world. The author, R. C. Sherriff, is a native Englishman and the director, James Whale, is a native of the British Isles.

INTEREST SHOWN IN "UP AND AT 'EM"

Keen interest is being shown in the engagement of "Up and at 'Em" coming to the Figueroa Playhouse Wednesday night. The production features Lasses Brown, Four Covans, Albertine Pickens, Sonny Clay, Flo Washington, Claude Collins and Tessie May. There will be three performances on Saturday, including the usual Saturday matinee, the evening performance and a special midnight "slumming" matinee.

MOLIERE FARCE WELL RECEIVED

"Imaginary Invalid" Given Unusual Treatment

Performers Enact Various Roles With Spirit

Civic Repertory Play Has Humor Aplenty

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

With Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid," the Civic Repertory Theater last evening ventured far off the beaten path, achieving one of the most distinctive productions of its season.

Rich in hearty buffoonery, played in a slap-stick, farcical manner, more German in mood than French, the comedy was proffered to a receptive audience which found much at which to laugh and a great deal to applaud.

A forenote to the program supplies the information that the play is produced after the pattern of Max Reinhardt's production at Berlin and at the Salzburg Festivals, with incidental music in the style of the seventeenth century.

Certainly it was unusual in style and manner. One had the impression of watching a coterie of grotesque, human puppets or marionettes going through their paces, twisting themselves first into this contortionistic pose and then that.

Despite all this, or perhaps, because of this, the play attained a rich, warm vitality. There was always movement; there was definite rhythm, and a swift, contagious tempo. Added to all this there was human, penetrative characterization. The low comedy note was always predominant, and this seemed right and proper.

"The Imaginary Invalid," as most playgoers know, was Moliere's final contribution to the drama. Penned when he himself was sick and near to death, it is a comedy poking fun at a hypochondriac, a man beset by imaginary ailments. There is really nothing the matter with him except his own belief that he has one foot in the grave.

Around the irascibility and irritability of this neurasthenic, Argan, revolve the events of the play. Argan would have his daughter marry a physician that he might always have medical attendance close at hand. There is a wife who looks forward to his death, a comic maid, a trio of stuffy and eccentrically caricatured doctors, an apothecary who carries crude instruments about with him.

The discussion of Argan's ailments and the remedies he follows, seems in this day and age, frankness personified. A good part of the time the dialogue is decidedly and vulgarly clinical, following, of course, the play in its original form. Occasionally cuts and adaptations, in keeping with today, are apparent.

John Sheehan, as Argan, gives a capital performance. Always the pivot of the action, he presents an excellent portrait of the comic invalid. Marion Clayton as the daughter, was charmingly delicate and lovely. Elise Bartlett as the raucous, rowdy maid did much to set the tempo and spirit of the production and managed a really good performance. Little Miss Jean La Verne, as the youngest daughter of Argan, was the surprise performer of the evening. Her youthful naivete was one of the really refreshing notes of the whole. Particularly good was the caricature offered by Carleton Young, the stupid but loquacious young physician suitor for the Miss Clayton's hand.

Margaret Fisher as the designing wife; Eric Snowdon, who doubled in a couple of characters; Alfred Jenkin, as a physician; Mears Pitcher, as an apothecary; Paul Irving as still another physician, each contributed their carefully worked-out characters.

JOHN McCORMACK in "SONG O' MY HEART"
By TOM BARRY
Directed by FRANK BORZAGE

A GENUINE ACCOMPLISHMENT!
"The charm of voice which is John McCormack's became an embellishment of the screen here Saturday evening—And the spell of its melody was the pervading fascination. There was frequent applause at the opening for the McCormack songs and high praise can be bestowed for both the manner in which they were done and the recording.
EDWIN SCHALLERT, Los Angeles Times

ACCLAIM "SONG O' MY HEART!"
"If 'Song O' My Heart' had nothing else to recommend it 'Little Boy Blue' would make it well worth hearing.
The comedy couldn't have been put into better hands than those of J. M. Kerrigan. He all but steals the show with his performance of Peter, the town cab driver who yearns himself to be a singer. He is also the town gossip, and he and Farrell Macdonald, with whom he continually fights, are a grand pair."
LOUELLA O. PARSONS, Los Angeles Examiner

"SONG O' MY HEART" EXCELLENT!
"'Song O' My Heart' should prove a particularly fine matinee picture, but if you don't like crowds of women, it is just as good as a night, for McCormack's voice is one of the rare fine experiences that you will get from the screen. Clapping marked the close of every song, for the recording is superb, and allows the sweetness of the voice to be heard, but for 'Ireland Mother Ireland' and 'I Hear You Calling Me,' the response was particularly marked."
LLEWELLYN MILLER, Los Angeles Record

LIKE A BREATH OF FRESH AIR!
"Another long-term tenant came into Grauman's Chinese Theatre on Saturday night. John McCormack's debut on the vocal screen in his first picture 'Song O' My Heart' justified the lights and general furore over its Western premiere by singing its way into every heart.
"Rarely does one picture have so many elements that are pleasing. It has heart-warming appeal, the charm of direct simplicity in its tender story, and the fascination of sympathetic direction by the man who made 'Seventh Heaven' and 'Humoresque'—FRANK BORZAGE."
MONROE LATHROP, Los Angeles Express

McCORMACK PICTURE THING OF BEAUTY!
"'Song O' My Heart" abounds with thrilling surprises for the fan intrigued by fresh faces. Maureen O'Sullivan, a whimsical, sparkling young daughter of Erin, is a most agreeable newcomer. This girl has a fine future. Farrell Macdonald and J. M. Kerrigan are two of the richest comedians seen here in films.
ELEANOR BARNES, Illustrated Daily News

SHOULD PLEASE ALL ADMIRERS!
"A simple dignified picture, faithfully recording the voice of a great artist is 'Song O' Heart,' which introduces John McCormack to the talking screen. It is written and acted with unfailing good taste, and a becoming air of reality.
HARRISON CARROLL, Los Angeles Evening Herald

COURT SPEEDS WASTAGE CASE

Oral Arguments Omitted in Petroleum Fight

Briefs Will Be Submitted Within Few Days

Loud Contentions Feature Appellate Hearing

Speed was a determining factor yesterday at an oral hearing before Division Two, District Court of Appeal, on an alternative writ of prohibition obtained by five petroleum companies, operating in the Santa Fe Springs district, restraining Superior Judge Hazlett from enforcing oil-conservation orders.

In the interest of a quick decision it was stipulated that the case would not be presented orally; the State withdrew an answer to the oil companies' petition within half an hour after filing the document; a proposal was made, to be denied after vigorous objection by counsel for the operators, that the case be submitted as it stood without briefs, and time for the filing of briefs was set at ten days for the oil companies and five days for the State.

LOUD OBJECTION

Attorney James S. Bennett, acting for the State, brought the counsel for the oil companies to their feet with loud objections when he made a motion that the alternative writ be suspended. If the peremptory writ sought by the oil companies be denied, Attorney Bennett said, a period of sixty days must elapse before the alternative writ loses force.

Attorney Robert Murphey, counsel for the oil operators, objected that this motion would nullify the alternative writ and that the time for action on it should come at the conclusion of the case.

The motion was not acted on, but it was allowed to stand submitted.

COMPLEX CASE

Attorneys agreed to forego oral arguments after it had been stated that the case was exceedingly complex and could not be presented in the time allowed by court regulations. Rules permit thirty minutes of argument by counsel for each side and Acting Presiding Justice Craig offered to extend this time to one hour, but attorneys declared the time would not be sufficient.

The State's answer to the petition of the oil companies for the writ against Judge Hazlett was filed shortly before the hearing opened. Attorney Murphey contended it presented issues that could not be met without introduction of the record. Attorney Bennett, objecting to the delay, promptly withdrew his answer.

A demurrer was filed by the State in which it was asserted the petitioners did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action. It also was set forth that the petition was insufficient to give the Appellate Court jurisdiction to issue or cause to be issued the alternative writ of prohibition.

OTHERS ASK PERMISSION

At the conclusion of the hearinst., at which the case was ordered submitted on the briefs to be filed later, attorneys for a number of other oil companies asked permission to file briefs.

The alternative writ was obtained by the Bandini Petroleum Company, Commodore Petroleum Company, Wilshire Oil Company, Wilshire Annex Oil Company and the Ambassador Petroleum Company. They contend the order against gas wastage is ruining their wells, besides causing vast loss of revenue daily. They also contend the State has furnished no bond with which to guarantee their losses in case the restriction measures later are withdrawn.

GROUNDS AMPLE FOR DIVORCE

Wife Cites Ankle Kicking and Says Mate Whet Knife On Her Throat

Kicking one's wife's ankle and whetting a knife on her throat are grounds for divorce, Superior Judge Doran decided yesterday in the case of Mrs. Evelyn Ferguson, who sued her husband, Almond C. Ferguson, official of a taxicab company.

Judge Doran also approved a property settlement.

JURY VOTES AUTO DEATH CONVICTION

Mrs. Wex Found Guilty of Manslaughter After Six Hours' Deliberation

Mrs. Marion Wex, who has been on trial in Superior Judge Aggeler's court on a double charge of manslaughter and failing to stop and render aid after an automobile accident in which a newsboy was killed, was found guilty on both counts last night six hours after the jury had begun its deliberations. Sentence will imposed on the 26th inst.

It was charged that Mrs. Wex drove through the intersection of Vine street and Melrose avenue on the night of February 14, last, and struck and killed Harry Levine, the newsboy.

Officers assert that after the accident the woman sold her belongings and fled to Chicago, en route to her native country, Germany. She was arrested in Chicago, however, and returned to Los Angeles for trial.

Sumptuous High Altar Presented St. Vincent's

CHURCH GIFT MAGNIFICENT

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny's Memorial to Slain Son Blessed at Easter Service of St. Vincent's

Consecration of the high altar, two shrines, a chapel, baptistry, stained-glass windows, ceilings and other decorations that Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Doheny have given to St. Vincent's Church, at Adams and Figueroa streets, will be conducted on October 26, next, it was stated last night.

The beautiful gifts, understood to have cost approximately $500,000, were blessed on Easter Sunday. Work is being completed on some of the decorations, but the high altar and shrines have been installed after being shipped here in sections from Boston, Mass.

GIFT OF MRS. DOHENY

The altar is the gift of Mrs. Doheny in memory of her son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr. It reaches nearly to the roof of the high church, is made of Juane Nile Fleuri marble against a retable of Morocco red flamme marble and contains a carving in high relief of the Last Supper. The tabernacle is of gilded bronze and its principal symbolic decorations are four panels containing symbols of the Passion of Christ. The great reredos that forms the background is of carved, gilded and polychromed wood after the Churrigueresque fashion. It was executed by Angelo Lualdi, Inc., Boston.

All of the new furnishings of the church were designed by and executed under the direction of Cram & Ferguson, Boston architects, in association with Samuel E. Lunden, Los Angeles architect.

GIFTS MEMORIALS

Mr. and Mrs. Doheny have given the altar of St. Joseph in honor of the Rt. Rev. Joseph S. Glass, bishop of Salt Lake City, formerly in charge of St. Vincent's. The altar of the Blessed Mother is a gift from Mrs. Doheny in thanksgiving, and the Shrine of the Miraculous Medal in honor of the Daughters of Charity. Mr. and Mrs. Doheny gave the shrine of the Sacred Heart in honor of the people of St. Vincent's parish, the Holy Agony Chapel in honor of the Vincentian fathers, and the baptistry in honor of the Sisters of St. Joseph.

Sanctuary furnishings, including arcade screens, were executed by Irving and Casson of the A. H. Davenport Company of Boston; decorations of all the ceilings in the church are by John B. Smeraldi of Pasadena; glazing of the windows by Wilbur Herbert Burnham of Boston, assisted by Harry Wright Goodhue of Boston; two painted pictures are by Emil Pollak Ottendorff of Boston, and two paintings over the entrance to the chapels by Taber Sears of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Hogan of Washington have given the great south stained window over the entrance in memory of Edward L. Doheny, Jr.

Japan's Finest Motor Liner Comes to Port

Twenty-five years ago young Y. Arakida first set to sea as a cadet in a Japanese training ship. Yesterday Capt. Arakida came into Los Angeles Harbor on the bridge of Japan's finest motor liner, the new Chichibu Maru of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha.

The quarter century of service was marked the night before her arrival by the presentation to the captain of an ornate silver and bronze treasure chest, an appreciation of the passengers who rode the liner on her maiden voyage from the Orient.

An impressive ceremony had been planned for the presentation, but the ship was plowing through fog en route from San Francisco and the captain remained all night on duty on the bridge. It has to be sent him by a junior officer.

The liner disembarked 170 travelers, will embark 205 and sail home tomorrow at 2 p.m. after entertaining 2000 guests yesterday and a small group tonight.

PIONEER'S RITES SET FOR TODAY

Mrs. Louisa Dreyfuss Had Been Active Many Years in Philanthropic Work

Funeral services for Mrs. Louisa Dreyfuss, for forty years a resident of Los Angeles, who died on Easter Sunday at her residence, 1612 West Twenty-fourth street, of heart disease, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at White's Undertaking Parlors, 664 West Washington street, with Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin officiating. Burial will be in the Home of Peace Cemetery.

Mrs. Dreyfuss, who was 95 years of age, was a member of the Pioneer Society of Los Angeles and was widely known for her interest in philanthropic enterprises. Although her health had been somewhat uncertain for the last few years, she was unusually alert mentally to the end.

Coming to this country from Germany when she was about 17 years of age, Mrs. Dreyfuss went with her family to make her home in Nevada City, where she married and where her twelve children were born. In 1890 she came here. Her husband died a number of years ago.

She leaves six children, Mrs. Julius Phillips and Julius Dreyfuss of Los Angeles; Mrs. Fred Fleishman, Mrs. Harry Berger and Wilhelm F. Dreyfuss of Tucson, Ariz., and Moye W. Dreyfuss of San Francisco. In addition, she leaves fourteen grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren.

Divorce Action Filed Against Dr. Paddleford

Dr. George Edgar Paddleford, wealthy oil man who several years ago figured in a sensational divorce suit, was sued again for divorce yesterday by his second wife, Mrs. Emily Bird Paddleford, whom he married shortly after obtaining a decree from the first Mrs. Paddleford.

Mrs. Paddleford alleged extreme cruelty in the complaint, filed by Attorneys Milton Cohen and R. D. Knickerbocker. One instance of cruelty she cited was an incident occurring aboard the liner President Van Buren while they were making a trip around the world a year ago.

The complaint asks for half of the community property, $250 a month alimony and $1000 attorney's fees.

The first divorce in which Paddleford figured was one he instituted against his former wife, Mrs. Genevieve McKinney-Toomey-Teal-Paddleford. He charged that he had been deceived as to her identity when he married her. She had figured in several divorces in the East and had been in jail charged with grand larceny. She served part of a year's sentence and was released when the higher court granted her an appeal.

She later became involved in Europe when she is asserted to have bought expensive goods and failed to pay for them.

CAUTION SIGNS ASKED

A resolution asking that caution signals be placed at the intersection of Sixth street and Wilton Place and that Highland avenue be made an arterial stop at Sixth street was introduced in the City Council yesterday by Councilman Webster. The resolution was referred to the Police Commission for investigation and report.

SCOTLAND YARD MODELED HERE

Super-Secret Service Set Up to Check Crime

Personnel Anonymous, Even to Department Members

Bureau to Scent Out Vice and Then Call Police

Organization of a supersecret-service bureau in charge of Detective Lieutenant D. McD. Jones, known as the "millionaire cop" because of the fortune left to him several years ago, was revealed yesterday following a secret conference of the Police Commission in the Mayor's suite.

The new bureau, according to President Thorpe, is to secretly check on crime and vice conditions in Los Angeles and to assist the police department. Thorpe compared the organization to the work of Scotland Yard in London.

SH, SH, SHH

The size of the bureau and its personnel, said to be recruited from police officers and skilled vice and crime "sleuths," is shrouded in secrecy, Lieut. Jones stating that the bureau's efficiency would be hampered by going into details of the organization.

Formation of the bureau was at the suggestion of Chief of Police Steckel, in line with his reorganization program for the police department, and its adoption by the Mayor and Police Commission with Jones at its head is said to render needless the plan of Charles W. Burke, private detective, and his proposed intelligence bureau.

Officers used on the bureau are to remain on the police department pay roll and private "sleuths" employed are to be paid from the police secret-service fund of $5000 a month, it is understood.

WILL NOT APPEAR

Information obtained, according to Steckel, is to be given to the Police Commission and the Mayor and will also be turned over to whichever division of the police department requires it for prosecutions in vice and crime arrests.

The work of the secret service bureau is to cover everything from murder to misdemeanors. Recent arrests in Chinatown, now held to be closed completely as to lottery-ticket selling and gambling, are attributed to the work of the secret service bureau by Mayor Porter.

One of the first jobs undertaken by the new bureau, it is reported on good authority, was investigation of the charges filed with the Police Commission by Charlie Choung, pioneer Chinese, that lottery ticket-selling and gambling were rife with the knowledge of Chief Steckel.

CHARLIE DISCREDITED

The bureau's investigation disclosed that there was no foundation whatever for the reports, according to Lieut. Jones.

Appointment of Jones to the head of the bureau is said to be based on the ground that his private fortune is of sufficient extent to make him above suspicion of showing any other interest in the work except to clean up the city. He formerly worked with Steckel as a detective and has the full confidence of the Chief.

During the private conference of the Police Commission and the Mayor yesterday the latter is reported to have taken the commission to task for restoring to duty last week an officer who had been discharged by Chief Steckel for his asserted connection with a liquor case.

ARMY RESERVE MOBILIZING

Officers of National Defense Wing Arriving from All States for Convention Here

More than 700 members of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States are expected to be present at the opening session of the eighth annual convention of the association this morning at the Biltmore. The delegates represent every State in the Union and take in every rank from second lieutenant to brigadier-general.

The official opening of convention headquarters and registration office at the Biltmore took place yesterday morning and shortly afterward the registration office was crowded with a large delegation of members from eastern points who had come on a special train via the Union Pacific and had been greeted at the Arcade station by a special reception committee, headed by Capt. Frank B. Belcher, president of the Los Angeles chapter of the association.

DELEGATES ARRIVE

During the remainder of the day the convention headquarters and registration office were full of arriving delegates, but there was no formal program for them except the renewal of old friendships. As a preliminary to the actual convention sessions there was a business meeting last night of the national council, composed of three members of each of the nine corps areas which acts as the board of directors of the association.

Col. Perry W. Weidner, chairman of the distinguished guests committee, was host at a luncheon at the University Club to a group of notable figures at the convention. His guests were Col. Walter C. Cole, national president of the association; Lieut.-Col. Edgar J. Roberson, national secretary; Maj. G. C. Ringole, president of the Department of California; Col. David S. Stone, U.S.A., executive for reserve affairs in the office of the Secretary of War; Col. Dennis Quinlan, U.S.A.; Lieut.-Col. Irving H. Hellman, Col. H. B. Wurdeman, Col. E. A. Harriman and Maj. E. F. Hanson, general chairman of the convention committee and also national vice-president for the Ninth Corps Area.

PROGRAM TODAY

Following this morning's session some of the delegates will attend a luncheon by the Advertising Club of Los Angeles at which the chief speaker will be Maj. Ringole, while others will go to an army officers' mess at Leighton's Broadway Arcade Cafeteria, at which the guest of honor will be Col. Frank F. Bowen, U.S.A., chief of staff, First Reserve Area. National President Cole will speak at this gathering.

A feature of the afternoon program will be an address by Lieut. Thor Odegard Omejer, president of the Reserve Officers' League of Norway. The national president and the national secretary will submit their annual reports.

The evening will be given over to the annual banquet of the association, at which speakers will include Mayor Porter, Gov. Young and Brig.-Gen. Edward L. King, U.S.A., assistant chief of staff, in charge of operations and training. The convention will continue through Thursday afternoon, when it will end with a review of the R.O.T.C. units of Los Angeles' three honor high schools, Hollywood, Manual Arts and Los Angeles. The review will take place at Housh Field, Rimpau avenue and Olympic Boulevard, and Brig.-Gen. King will be the reviewing officer.

TUNNEL RAIL LINE INDORSED

Los Angeles Traffic Association Favorable to Plan of Cars Using Third-Street Bore

The proposal under consideration today by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation for the routing of "C" street cars through Third-street tunnel to make a cross-town line was indorsed yesterday by the executive committee of Los Angeles Traffic Association, Robert Breyer, president.

The committee went on record against the recently enacted Council ordinance now before Mayor Porter for signature which prohibits all-day parking of automobiles in Bunker Hill district.

Consideration was given to the proposed City Charter amendment which would prohibit creation in Los Angeles of assessment districts to finance transportation systems. The committee was wary of the proposal because a State law specifically authorizes taxpayers to create such districts and it was not clear how a City Charter amendment could exempt Los Angeles citizens from a State law. The matter was laid over for that reason, and also because it did not appear to the body at the time to be a wise proposal.

C. C. Johnstone, Jr., and J. H. Haufe, two young engineers, presented to the committee an ingenious plan they have devised to permit pedestrian traffic to flow more freely at congested street corners. The plan has been laid before various city officials, they said, and it attracted much attention from the committee which moved for further consideration. The plan would necessitate more or less inexpensive changes in the buildings on the corners and in curb lines at the intersections.

The committee joined the Downtown Business Men's Association in a move to find out how many persons come into the downtown district in a given period.

GONZALES UNDECIDED BETWEEN LOS ANGELES AND MINNEAPOLIS

CHICAGO, April 21. (AP)—Mike Gonzales, Cuban catcher who insists he is not through with baseball, today was offered a backstop post with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League, but deferred decision until he could discuss an offer received from the Minneapolis club of the American Association.

President William Veeck of the Cubs, which has the controlling interest in the Los Angeles club, advanced the offer. Gonzales was released outright by the Cubs last winter.

"I will go to Columbus to confer with Manager Mike Kelly of Minneapolis before deciding," said Gonzales. "You know I'm not in the game exactly for my health. I want to get the best offer possible. The Los Angeles offer is a good one through."

Manager Kelly and his team are playing in Columbus.

TROJANS RESUME WORK

Southern California Gridders Report to Coach Jones Following Week's Rest During Vacation

BY BRAVEN DYER

Resuming their labors following a week's rest during Easter vacation, varsity footballers of the University of Southern California reported to Howard Jones at Bovard Field yesterda afternoon. A squad of fifty men greeted the Trojan mentor.

Among the newcomers was George Kirkwood, the hefty young man who is built along the lines of Morley Drury, one of Troy's former gridiron greats. Kirkwood has been busy with frosh baseball, but that's all over now, and Jones promptly planted him at right halfback, where he alternated with the old reliable Ernie Pinckert.

MARSHALL DUFFIELD

Kirkwood played halfback last year, but Jones's plans call for shifting George to the quarterback berth, where he will be used alternately with Marshall Duffield, the Santa Monica hip-wiggling wanderer, and Orville Mohler, sometimes called the Alhambra Assassin. Kirkwood kicks, passes and packs the ball. Being rugged, he is the ideal type for a Jones quarterback, and the Trojan mentor plans to give him every opportunity to make good.

Jones made one slight change last night. He shifted Tay Brown, the big Compton boy, from end to tackle. This probably means that Garrett "Whataman" Arbelbide will not be converted into a tackle next fall, as Jones once considered. Brown has been worked at one of the wing positions, but Jones now feels that he will be more effective at tackle.

Last night's line-up found Jurich and Sparling playing the ends, Brown and Plaehn the tackles, Black (frosh) and Baker the guards, and Williamson center. In the fall Arbelbide and Wilcox will have to be considered as ends, while Bob Hall will take over one of the tackle jobs.

Duffield held the quarterback post with several lesser lights also on the job. Musick and Shaver alternated at full, while Marger Apsit and Tipton (frosh) were in evidence at left half-back.

Moose Thompson and Ledbetter, the latter from the frosh, are among the good-looking line prospects. Beatty from Santa Ana is being used some at quarterback. He is the boy who came through with a surprise third place in the javelin against Stanford.

FIELDS KAYOES GRACE IN THIRD

Philadelphian Carries Fight Before Sudden Collapse

KANSAS CITY, April 21. (AP)—Jackie Fields, world welterweight champion, knocked out Meyer Grace of Philadelphia in the third round of a scheduled ten-round bout here tonight. Fields's title was not at stake.

JACKIE FIELDS

Grace was down twice in the third round before he was counted out. A short right to the chin put him down first for the count of nine. He got up groggily, but soon was floored again. Then another right and he was counted out.

Until the third sports writers at the ringside gave Grace a slight edge over the champion, because of the numerous blows he landed on Fields's face and head. The fight reminded fans of the Fields-Mahan melee here some months ago, when Mahan carried the fight to the champion in the first round, only to be knocked out in the second.

Both fighters weighed in over the welterweight limit, Fields scaling 148 and Grace 150 pounds.

Favorites Win Tennis Play

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS (W. Va.) April 21. (AP)—Ranking players walked through preliminary matches in the annual Mason and Dixon tennis championships at the Green Briar Golf and Tennis Club today, without serious threat to any of the leading contenders for the title.

Frank Hunter of New Rochelle and George Lott of Chicago, both of whom hold two legs on the Plaza Bowl, emblematic of the men's singles championship, romped through their matches without much opposition.

John Doeg, Santa Monica, Cal.; John Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and other ranking stars, won their first matches without much trouble.

RODEN UPSETS BOROTRA

BIARRITZ (France) April 21. (AP) Jean Borotra, French Davis Cup tennis veteran, was beaten in the semifinals of the Biarritz tournament today by Raoul Roden, No. 16 in the French ranking, 3-6, 6-4, 8-6.

Helen Jacobs Defeated in French Play

BEALIEU (France) April 21. (AP)—Helen Jacobs, America's second ranking woman tennis star, was defeated in the final of the Beaulieu tournament today by Mrs. Phyllis Satterthwaite of England. The scores were 2-6, 8-6, 6-4.

The victory was more easily won than the scores indicate. The California player has appeared unable to strike her real stride during her campaign on the Riviera and her performance today was mediocre. Mrs. Satterthwaite, a steady player of considerable tournament experience, took full advantage of her American opponent's mistakes and misplays.

SOLONS TACKLE SERAPHS TODAY

Buddy Ryan's Club Proving Surprise of Race

Keating, Delaney Picked to Hurl Series Opener

Young Southpaws Uncovered by Sacramento Club

BY BOB RAY

Buddy Ryan's Sacramento Senators, who have been doing their best to show up the critics that picked them to act as door mats for the rest of the Coast League clubs, breeze into Los Angeles today to open a seven-game series with the league-leading Angels.

BUDDY RYAN

The Solons, so far, have won eight out of thirteen games and have been making things tough for the opposition with nothing but fancy pitching. Skipper Ryan has brought out a couple of young southpaws, Tony Freitas and Tom Flynn, who have won all four of their starts and, along with the veterans Ray Keating, Ed Bryan, Fay Thomas, Deacon Jones and Pudgy Gould, form a mound staff that has performed in faultless fashion against the Missions and Portland Beavers.

However, the Senators have always been fast starters and until they have proved that they're not "spring daisying," it's hard to take the Sacramento club serious in a pennant-thinking way.

FEW CHANGES

Owner Lew Moreing made very few changes in his last year's team and it's hard to even consider the late Mr. Houdini changing those 1929 Sacs into flag contenders. Dolph Camilli, Ray French and Len Backer remain back on the infield and the outfield still is composed of Rohwer, Osborn and Hoag, although the latter is about as good a prospect as there is in the league outside of Crosetti.

Aaron Ward, a veteran of many major-league campaigns, has replaced Johnny Monroe at second as the outstanding change in the outfit. Wally Hood also is with the Sacs, but he hasn't been playing regularly of late, while Kettle Wirts is helping the old reliable Art Koehler handle the catching duties.

Either Keating, one of the few spitball pitchers in the league, or Ed Bryan is expected to pitch the opener against the Angels today. Freitas is ready to work but it isn't likely that Ryan would send a southpaw against the Angels in the first game, particularly in view of the fact that the Seraphs are known to be poison to left-hand hurling. Art Delaney will probably be on the mound for the Leliveltians.

The Seraphs are still sore over being "stalled" out of that second Sunday game by Hollywood and will be out to get revenge on somebody—and the Solons happen to be the most convenient at present.

CAN'T COMPLAIN

Lelivelt can't complain about the way his athletes have been performing so far, what with Jacobs playing a bang-up game at first base and every member of the club but Johnny Moore hitting as hard or harder than expected. Carl Dittmar, Jigger Statz and Dally Warren have been doing the most effective clouting of any of the boys, although Frank Sigafoos has won two or three games by his timely hitting.

BLACKHAWKS NAB OPENER

Richfield Oilers on Short End of 8-to-5 Score in First East-West Series Hockey Game

Chicago's Blackhawk ice hockey team made an impressive debut in Southern California puck circles last night by skating to an 8-to-5 victory over the Los Angeles Richfields at the Winter Garden Ice Palace.

The game was one of the most exciting in California's hockey history. Both teams went on a scoring spree in the last period of the game, during which seven goals were rung up by the two squads. The Blackhawks added three to their total of five gathered in the first two periods and Richfield scored four times.

VIC RIPLEY

Iragen tallied for the Hawks as the period opened. Then Berge Irving scored for the Oilers. This was followed by a goal by Cooke on a mix-up around the Richfield net. Ripley then scored for the Chicago team, making it three in that period for the Windy City players. Then Jake Lawrence, center of the Oilers, skated into the picture and tallied three times in a row while the fans went wild with excitement. The game was called as the teams skated back to the face-off.

In a wild orgy of scoring the Chicago team tallied three times in the second period, while the Los Angeles players scored once. Cooke tallied twice for the invaders. Iragen scored the other goal for Chicago on a pass from Adams. Richfield scored its first goal of the evening on a shot made by Berge Irving.

Two of the Chicago players were booted from the ice in this session for unnecessary roughness, but one of the wings of the Blackhawks, Gottlieb, distinguished himself by holding the puck away from Richfield for two minutes until his team-mates were released from the penalty box. The score at the end of the period was 5 to 1 in favor of the Hawks.

For nineteen minutes of the opening period the Los Angeles players completely outclassed the Chicago Blackhawks, but in the twentieth minute of play the invaders clicked

Helen Wills, Miss Ryan to Form Combine

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, now living in England, will be the doubles partner of Helen Wills Moody in both the French and British tennis championships. Helen Wills, teamed with Miss Ryan, to win the British women's doubles championship in 1927, and they often have played together. Mrs. Moody considers Miss Ryan one of the best, if not the best, woman's doubles player. Miss Ryan won the Wimbledon doubles title six times, once with Miss Wills, once in 1926 with Mary K. Browne, and four times, 1920-21-22-25, with Suzanne Lenglen. With Eleanor Goss she won the United States women's doubles title in 1926. Mrs. Moody will sail for Europe aboard the Berengaria tomorrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21. (Exclusive)—No more mountains in human form with No. 17 foothills will demonstrate their altitude or pulchritude to California fight fans unless there is another Primo Carnera somewhere. It assuredly will not be Mr. Hugeous Carnera, because the State Athletic Commission today barred him permanently.

PRIMO CARNERA

The same ban applies to Leon See, who admits he's the man mountain's manager, and the order provides for the indefinite suspension of Tim McGrath who, as manager for Leon Chevalier, hired the tantalizing towel tosser, Bob Perry; Perry himself; Bob Laga, accused of trying to teach Chevalier how to dive, but without success, and Frank Churchill, who has tendencies to wander into the wrong corner looking for a place to sit down when towels are about to be thrown.

The commission not only did all these things, which constitute the stiffest disciplinary measures that body ever has taken, but it voted Commissioner Traung a vote of thanks for the investigation upon which the decisions are based.

Having done so, the commission then approved without a dissenting voice a rule making it mandatory in the future for the chief second of a boxer whose towel has been thrown to enter the ring and declare the act legitimate. Heretofore, this practice has been a suggestion only. Now it is a rule.

Bombo Chevalier, the Negro boxer who could not learn how to go boom, was declared to be an innocent victim of the entire situation. Because California law causes the suspension of all fighters in the stable of a manager suspended, Chevalier suffers with McGrath. It is considered likely the commission, at a later

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Four home runs, two by Travis Jackson and one each by Fred Leach and Bob O'Farrell, paved the way for the New York Giants' 8-to-6 victory over the Phillies today. The triumph gave the New Yorkers a clean sweep of the series.

Bill Walker, who went the route for the winners, was hit hard in spots, but managed to set the heavy-slugging Phillies back when hits meant runs.

LUQUE BEST

BROOKLYN, April 21. (AP)—Adolfo Luque, starting his seventeenth major-league campaign, pitched the Brooklyn Dodgers to their first victory of the season today, defeating the Boston Braves, 15 to 8.

A line drive off Sisler's bat in the ninth crippled the Cuban hurler's pitching hand and forced him to retire, but not before his team-mates had piled up a lead that gave him the victory. The Braves started a rally off his successors, Moss and Faulkner—which netted five runs.

Del Bissonette was the big gun of the Dodgers' attack, driving in seven runs with a home run and a triple, both when the bases were loaded.

CHICAGO, April 21. CHALLENGES THE WORLD

"GET Shade.

"Get Campbell.

"Get anybody, and make us a proposition."

Thus does the belligerent Mr. Tom Kennedy, manager of Ace Hudkins, the Wildcat, reply to the hecklings of those who seek to discredit his fighter for his recent ring idleness and night-trail roamings.

"There has been a lot of talk going around about Hudkins and Kennedy not wanting to fight," writes Mr. Kennedy. "We have never received an offer to fight in Los Angeles from a reputable promoter.

"Let me say this. We have been matched twice with Pete Latzo, once in Chicago and once in Detroit; signed contracts, and twice on a 'ready to go' Latzo has run out.

"The first match in Chicago they offer us some fighter named Johnson who couldn't draw a quarter and didn't mean a thing. I turned the offer down.

"In Detroit when Latzo ran out there last week, they offered me George Manley, who couldn't draw enough to draw a deep breath and who meant nothing to Hudkins and I turned that down.

"Whoever gave out the report that Hudkins made the remark 'fight him yourself' is entirely out of order."

WHO IS WHO

MR. KENNEDY'S remarks were made in answer to questions propounded to the conductor of this column by "The Old Observer," who, it now develops, is not the "Old Observer."

At least not a certain "Old Observer," who is distressed that his name has been taken in vain:

"I didn't ask you about Ace Hudkins," he retorts, "and as there's only one 'Old Observer,' I fear some one is using my name in an attempt to win undying fame. However, such are the penalties of being a standout.

It wouldn't be amiss at this time though to congratulate you on the stand you are taking anent the Carnera circus, even though it is rather belated. 'While the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return.' You are undoubtedly correct in the assumption that the Boxing Commission here will end up by doing nothing in the matter. It seems to be the most helpless commission in all this wide world."

You missed this time, Old Observer. Read what the commission did yesterday.

THREE RAHS FOR CRAIG

AN OPEN letter from Mr. William Mellors Henry that is to the point:

"When you get to handing out the diamond-studded medals to all the boys for the accomplishments of the year, how about handing one to Norval Craig. Craig undertook to coach Occidental's tennis team this year, having theoretically lost only Ben Gorchakoff of the squad which had won the title three years in a row. Frank Gove, however, didn't come back to school, Art Kussman and Captain-elect Lee Osborne transferred and Craig was left with only Dale Robinson, last year's fifth man. He took what he had—which was very little at the start of the year—and by a lot of hard work built a team which improved every week and finally won the title for the fourth consecutive year, beating Pomona, the strongest rival, 8 to 1, last Saturday. Seems to me Norval has a cheer coming."

OTHER INTERESTS

CORRESPONDENT wants to know what has become of Frank Lombardi, who gave Wykoff such keen competition in the prep-school days two years ago.

Lombardi beat Wykoff in the 100 in 9 3-5s. in the State prep meet two years ago and led him in the 220 in 21 3-5s.

Lombardi matriculated at Stanford the following fall, but failed in his studies and left the university to embark on the sea of matrimony. That's the last we have on the gentleman.

Dallas Warren Leads Hitters on Seraph Club

Alex Gaston, catcher for the San Francisco Seals has batted at a .439 clip in twelve games to lead all batters of the Coast League after two complete weeks of play in the 1930 season. Frank Osborn of Sacramento, and Charles Borreani of Seattle, are tied for second-place honors with averages of .438. Frank Cox of Seattle is fourth with .435, and Ralph Pinelli fifth with .403.

The league-leading Los Angeles team boasts seven regular players in the .300 batting class. Dallas Warren tops the Angel sluggers with a mark of .389. Carl Dittmar is hitting .386.

Frank Crosetti of San Francisco, batted out five home runs off Mission twirlers last week and now heads the home-run hitters with six to his credit. Fred Haney, the champion base stealer of the league last season, is out in front again this season with six pilfered sacks.

Oxy Gridders Begin Labor

Headed by Captain-elect Jerry Chappell, twenty Oxy gridders donned suits yesterday afternoon for the first spring football practice of the season. Coach Eddie Kienholz sent the men through a tough workout and plans to work on plays and formations this week. Practice, which has been delayed a month on account of the new field construction and Patterson Field also engaged, will continue for three weeks and will be terminated with the Fred Shauer Trophy contest about the middle of May.

Keinholz is busy rebuilding his forward wall for the 1930 team, for he loses Ed Beebe at left tackle, Al De Hoag and Wendall Smith at end, and anticipates a lot of trouble in bolstering up these places. His backfield will be easily filled due to an abundance of returning material, even though the triple-threat man, Glenn Roselle, will be graduated in June.

cago that the Angels are after Mike Gonzales, the old-time catcher whom the Cubs gave his outright release last winter. Maybe Gonzales would help the Angels, all right, but he never was a good hitter and it's a cinch that he can't be good for many more years in the game. On the other hand, Warren looks like a fine prospect and ought to be developed. It's a cinch Warren won't ever come along unless he is worked regularly, which he will not be if Gonzales is also added to the Angel catching roster. If Gonzales is obtained, it will probably mean the gate for Bill Skiff, who, it may be recalled, won a hold-out decision over the Angels last spring.

So far the San Francisco Seals have been bearing out advance predictions that they would be the club to beat, with the Oaks and Sacs proving the surprises. Hollywood and Portland figure to get better as the race goes along, but they'll have a tough time winning this first half. It looks as though the Angels and Seals will fight it out for the first-half flag.

The Stars and Seattle furnish the excitement in the Puget Sound country this week, while the Seals and Oaks ought to provide San Francisco fans with a good series. The other series takes place at Portland, the lowly Ducks coming home in last place for their opener against the Mission Reds.

winning twenty years from now, so too, will Emperor Jones, and there are likely to be many more young net stars who will come up in that time who can beat Mrs. Moody than there are golfers who can defeat the wizard of Atlanta. But if I'm wrong, don't sue me, for Mrs. Bundy and Mrs. Wightman have kept up their tennis remarkably over two decades. But so have golfers like John Ball, Jr., who won the British amateur in 1888, and also in 1912, and J. H. Taylor, Harry Vardon and Sandy Herd, whose stretch of professional victories covers nearly a third of a century.

This tabulation does not take into consideration Walker Cup or Wightman Cup competition, or minor tournaments, which, perhaps, just fall shy of being as classy as a national open or amateur championship. The golfer has four major crowns to shoot at each year, if you don't count the French tournaments as major ones. The tennis player, even including the French hard-court championship, has only three major titles to go after in one year. There was no Olympic tennis in 1928.

Helen won the United States singles championship in 1923, 1924, 1925, 1927, 1928 and 1929, and probably would have won in 1926 had not illness forced her to remain out of the competition. She won the last three Wimbledon championships, 1927, 1928 and 1929, the last two French, and the Olympic title in 1924.

Bobby won the United States amateur championship in 1924, 1925, 1927 and 1928. He won the United States open in 1923, 1926 and 1929, and the British open in 1926 and 1927. Besides this he was runner-up in the United States amateur in 1926, and lost the United States open crown after a play-off in 1925 and 1929. Helen Wills was runner-up in the United States singles in 1922.

RIVIERA PLAY STARTS TODAY

Expect 200 to Tee Off in Golf Tourney

Gibson Dunlap Defending His 1929 Crown

Eight Flights to Qualify for Match Play

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Southern California's amateur tournament competition, which has been traped in a lethargic mantle for many months, comes out of hibernation today with the annual Riviera Country Club match play invitation event.

This is the first match play tournament since last November, and more than 200 golfers are expected to tee off in the eighteen-hole qualifying round today and tomorrow, with 175 entries already received.

Match play starts Thursday and continues through Sunday.

Bill Huber, chairman of the Riviera tournament committee, has secured trophies for the winners and runners-up in eight flights with additional low gross and low net prizes in the qualifying round.

A brilliant championship flight is expected with Gibson Dunlap, Southern California amateur champion, defending the title he won in 1929 against a fine field. Dunlap is expected to find plenty of competition from his home club, Rancho, with Milo Marchetti, W. W. Beckwith, Phil Carter, Paul R. Jones, Cliff Turner, Harry Atwater and Leon Keller, 1928 Riviera champion, among the entrants.

The Riviera tournament will give the low-handicap golfers an opportunity to brush up on their games in preparation for the Southern California amateur championship to be held at the Midwick Country Club early in June. Few invitationals are tabbed this spring in comparison with past years, and there will be little major competition until the amateur.

A. H. (Ollie) Painter, who will handle the tournament at the first tee, reports that the course has never been in better shape, and we can verify that statement, having stopped off at the Santa Monica Canyon club yesterday. There are few better fairways in the Southland than those at Riviera, and the greens are in just as fine condition.

A number of golfers took advantage of a practice round yesterday, and scores were reported to have been exceptionally good.

The qualifying round may be played either today or tomorrow.

BOURNE DONATES MEDAL TO PROFESSIONALS

A. K. Bourne of the Midwick Country Club has donated a diamond medal for professional competition.

Starting with Monday, May 26, the medal will be in competition during twelve semimonthly tournaments. Points will be awarded as follows: First place, 7; second place, 5; third place, 4; fourth place, 3; fifth place, 2, and 1 point for attendance.

The professional aggregating the most points for the twelve matches will win the medal.

FLINTRIDGE LINKSMEN IN TITLE PLAY

The Flintridge Club championship started yesterday and will continue until May 6. A large field teed off in the qualifying round.

CROWLEY HOST TO SCRIBES IN TOURNEY

Al Crowley, professional in charge at Pico Fairways, Pico and La Cienega, was host yesterday afternoon to scribes of Southern California, who competed for prizes in three events. Awards were given to the longest driver, best putter and best pitcher. D. L. Darsie bobbed up unexpectedly as the most accurate driver, while Bernard Milligan came through with putting honors. Crowley has a fine layout, including a nine-hole putting course and a nine-hole miniature course which is well trapped with obstacles, etc.

Gaels Tackle Bruins Today

The Galloping Gaels from St. Mary's College invade the Westwood hills today, where the U.C.L.A. Bruin baseball team will play host to their northern foes in a conference game. The first game of the series was played in the north, the Gaels winning, 10-0. The third tilt is on the schedule for tomorrow.

Friday and Saturday St. Mary's will play the Southern California Trojans at Bovard Field.

Engine Rushed Here by Truck for Boat Race

Some records not on the cards in the big Long Beach-San Francisco power-yacht race starting Thursday morning are being made because of the enthusiasm of the entrants. One of them is the transportation by truck from San Francisco to Long Beach of a 2600-pound engine in fourteen hours by Leo Lynch of Alameda.

Lynch was down at the Long Beach Yacht Club Friday discussing engines with Charlie Kemp, who has entered his forty-nine-foot power yacht Wanderer in the race. The yacht had a Diesel engine and the discussion was of gasoline "mills."

Lynch drove to San Francisco Friday night. Saturday Kemp called him on the 'phone and said he wanted an engine of the make represented by Lynch at once. Lynch said the only one available was being sent to the San Francisco boat show for the opening next week.

Kemp wanted that engine and Lynch decided he should have it. Lynch piled it into a speedy truck and drove down with it, arriving Sunday morning, without having any sleep since Thursday night. Sunday afternoon the engine was in the Wanderer and yesterday she was out on her trial trip. Lynch flew back north Sunday night to sleep for two days.

Incidentally, Harry Fisher, famous Star class sloop skipper, who now is stimulating interest in a big fleet of this class for Long Beach, will be at the helm of the Wanderer in the big race. He was famous as a speedboat expert years ago, when he broke many records with his Magda, one-step hydroplane.

With Fisher's skill at the helm and knowledge of engines, and with the new "mill," the Wanderer is being touted to win the ocean power-yacht classic.

CHAMP MUST RISK BELT

Daro Demands Sonnenberg Put Up Trophy for Tilt With Marshall in Wrigley Field

"Dynamite" Gus Sonnenberg, world's wrestling king, must place the $10,000 diamond studded belt emblematic of the championship at stake for his match with Everett Marshall, the Glendale mat whirlwind, scheduled for Wrigley Field, May 5.

GUS SONNENBERG

Promoter Lou Daro made that clear to the titleholder yesterday when he wired Sonnenberg to bring the valuable belt with him when he came to Los Angeles the latter part of the week.

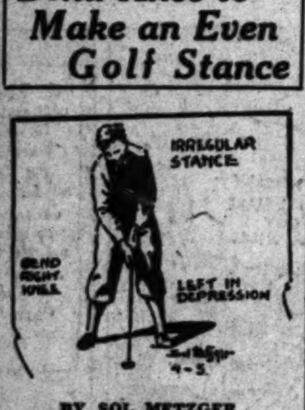
In his wire to the champion Daro stated that the belt was a perpetual prize to be contested for in every championship bout. That was the announced plan of the donor of the belt, originally, Daro stated. This idea was carried out when Ed "Strangler" Lewis, first holder of the belt, passed it on to Sonnenberg when the latter beat the headlock expert in Boston last year.

Sonnenberg refuses to place the belt at stake on the ground that it was not mentioned when he agreed to Daro's terms for a title match with Marshall.

In his wire the promoter said he wanted the belt to display in the ring here before the match. If the title changes hands here May 5, Daro wants to have the honor of presenting the belt to Marshall.

Marshall came into Los Angeles from Long Beach yesterday for a hard workout on the mat. The young star went through two hours of road work on the beach in the morning. He expects to follow the same schedule today, and possibly move into the Pacific Coast Club this afternoon for his regular daily workouts on the mat.

Bend Knee to Make an Even Golf Stance



BY SOL METZGER

Not all uneven lies are on slopes. Occasionally the golfer finds his ball on the level but his feet anything but. In taking his stance one foot settles into a depression of some sort that lowers him on that side. He can't play it as a normal shot nor as one of the sloping lies.

What to do? Phil Perkins has the answer. It's simple, too. Suppose the left foot to be in the depression. Perkins gets his body on even keel by bending the other knee, the right one, just enough to accomplish this purpose.

Suppose the right leg is in the hole. Then bend the left knee and that is that!

Golf games are won and lost on the greens. Improve your putting. Write Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and ask for a copy of his "Putting" leaflet. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

and upset everything by scoring twice on the local team. In the nineteen minutes of the game which found the Chicago players on the defense the Los Angeles team had fourteen shots at goal, but were unable to sneak one across for a score. In exactly one minute the Chicago team made two on shots by Cooke and Adams.

The first goal of the game came unassisted when Cooke sent the puck past Goalie Vaughan. The second tally came as the result of a pass from Ripley to Adams.

Horton Smith Golf Holdout

SPRINGFIELD (Mo.) April 21. (AP) Horton Smith today announced he would not compete in the St. Louis $10,000 open golf tournament in July unless he was paid appearance money to cover his expenses.

"Invitation golf tournaments are too much of a risk for most of the players and certainly the real stars of the game are entitled to some sort of financial guarantee," Smith said. "If they have any sense they will not go to the tournaments that won't give it. A sum of, say, $250 would be enough to pay his expenses and if he won some of the prize money that would be so much clear profit."

Out of the Game

EDWARD F. HUTTON, the wealthy sportsman who went in for boxing a year or two ago as the owner of several contracts, announces today his complete and permanent retirement from any connection with the art of pugilism.

"I went into boxing," says Mr. Hutton, "purely as a sporting proposition with no idea of making a dollar from the game. On the contrary I knew it would cost me something but I had always liked the game and I felt that it would be an interesting experiment to have a manager and trainer such as Walter Monahan develop a champion in some class. But I must admit that so far I haven't been able to discover the sporting side. And the ridicule to which I was subjected in several papers was something I had never looked for. So I have decided to turn over all the contracts for fighters I once owned to Walter Monahan."

While Mr. Hutton owned the services of a number of boxers, Roy Wallace, the Indianapolis light-heavyweight, was his main star and Wallace has a good chance to reach the top. He is fast, he can take it and above all he can punch.

Unless a few carloads of racketeering are removed from boxing there will be still more retirements in the near future.

Speaking of Legs

They have been saying that Dempsey's legs have given out at 35. Also that ball players around 36 and 37 are reaching the rickety stage in so far as leg work is concerned. At which point a young fellow by the name of Clarence De Mar, aged 42, wins his seventh marathon. The marathon distance is out beyond twenty-six miles and any pair of legs that can lug the human body more than twenty-six miles at a gallop must be in pretty fair shape.

De Mar has at least proved that a man beyond 40 can still stand on his legs for an hour or two without caving in. It is largely a matter of usage. It would be interesting to see some of our 25-year-old fighters or ball players take a casual shot at the marathon distance some afternoon. Most of them would have to start about dawn in order to finish before night.

The same goes for almost any other sport. Ty Cobb had lost a lot of the spring in his legs when he retired at the age of 43 but he can still hunt twelve hours a day, week in and week out, without bogging down.

De Mar's marathon record is one of the finest turns in sport. Any man who can keep in condition to win seven marathons knows how to take care of himself. To win one at the age of 42 is an achievement that no one in sport will beat this year, no matter what championship he wins.

One feature of marathon running is that most of the champions have been between 30 and 40. Few in their twenties have the stamina to go this route without breaking down. The sprints may be for youth, but not the long heart-breaking hikes where condition and fortitude mean more than speed.

Columbia Again

Columbia's crew has already served notice from one ocean to another that it will take a lot of stuff to stop her at Poughkeepsie. Columbia has now won two out of the last three Poughkeepsie regattas and only a great crew will stop Dick Glendon's talent at the next big June party. The Navy had a crew on Saturday that was all primed to go somewhere in a hurry. It was a good navy crew and it will be a better navy crew by June.

But Columbia had still a better crew and when the main show comes off you will find most of them out to beat the Blue and White. The battle at Poughkeepsie should be one of the greatest in years for there will be at least four or possibly five contenders with a chance to win and three of them will be Columbia, Navy and Washington.

Sons of Stars

Sons of famous ball players are widely diversified and far apart in their life ambitions. For example while the two sons of Ed Walsh and the son of Johnny Evers are keen about baseball and expect to follow that profession, the case is entirely different in regard to Christy Mathewson, Jr., and Ty Cobb, Jr.

Young Matty is now a flying cadet at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., and expects to graduate on October 15. He has made a fine record as a young flyer. On the side he is mainly interested in motoring, golf and swimming. Young Cobb's favorite sport is tennis. As captain of the Hill School tennis team he will be heard from this spring, being one of the best in interscholastic ranks.

Young Evers is said to be a fine ball player, one of the keen, hustling type who should be heard from later on.

Young Matty wants to be an army flyer and judging from the reports that come from Kelly Field he will have no trouble in getting his commission after graduation. He is the type the Army wants in its flying line-up, smart, modest, efficient and keen about his profession.

In the meanwhile Grover Cleveland Alexander, now in his forty-fourth year, one of Matty's main rivals nineteen years ago, is still slogging along with a lot of stuff on the ball. The Giants beat him, 2 to 1, in his opening show, but it took a home run to break the deadlock, where his change of pace kept the enemy pretty well baffled as long as he remained in front of their bats.

The old boy will win more than his share of games this season with a hard-hitting team giving him a few runs. He doesn't ask for many. As a rule about two or three are quite enough.

Alexander was Matty's main rival back in 1911 when the Philly star won twenty-eight games and lost thirteen. He is one of the few pitchers, possibly the only one, who ever won thirty or more games three years in a row, a pitching masterpiece he turned in from 1915 through 1917 before the war broke up his pace.

One of the most interesting observations concerning young Matty came from his instructor, who recently remarked—"he flies like his daddy used to pitch."

That should be about the final word in praise.

SITES SELECTED FOR TROUT GRILLS

Sites for the outdoor cooking grills of the Azusa branch of the Rainbow Angling Fisheries were laid out last week and a large crew of men put to work rushing this feature of fishing club to completion.

The outdoor grills at the Rainbow Club at Redlands made the organization world-famous. An angler can catch his trout, cook and eat them practically in the same spot. At the Azusa branch, located at the mouth of a beautiful canyon, the grill sites are located in several acres of shady eucalyptus groves, ground that slopes gradually to the edge of the large casting lake, thus affording a view over the picturesque body of water and the falls at the upper end. An automobile road will lead from Tenth street to the clubhouse, and up to each of the grill sites.

When the branch is completed it will represent an expenditure of about $1,000,000, and, beyond doubt, will be the finest club of its kind in the world.

BEAR VARSITY NINE COMPLETES SCHEDULE

BERKELEY, April 21. (Exclusive) Their schedule completed and Harry Butler elected captain of the 1931 varsity, the University of California baseball team can now only stand by idly waiting for the University of Southern California to complete its program of matches.

California has lost three games and the Trojans two. If the southerners lose another game, the State College Baseball Association percentages will be at a deadlock. It is questionable whether a play-off could be arranged since final examinations begin this week at the University of California.

AMBLING ALP IS SUSPENDED

gathering, will relieve the suspension of Chevalier.

Bill Duffy, the New York boy who had nothing to do with the management of Mr. Hugeous, but who signed on his behalf for the Oakland fiasco, escapes suspension because it developed today he has no California license anyway. It is reported on reliable authority he will not seek one, so Brother Duffy is considered washed up along with the rest.

Chevalier gains, in cash, about $600 for neglecting to "faw down." According to his testimony, he was offered $900 to show the customers a swan dive. He gets $1500 now because the commission ordered the purses, withheld until now, paid over to Louis Parente, who promoted the affair and Parente says he will pay off at once. Carnera gets $13,240 minus the government's 5 per cent for income tax, or $12,570.

CARNERA AND BAKER TANGLE UP TONIGHT

PORTLAND (Or.) April 21. (AP)—Labeled as the "battle of the behemoths," probably the two largest men in the prize-fight industry, Primo Carnera of Italy, and Sam Baker, Los Angeles Negro, will meet in the ten-round main event of the fight card at the Coliseum here tomorrow night.

Carnera will weigh in at about 275 pounds against Baker's 250. The Italian man-mountain stands six feet seven inches in his stocking feet, while Baker is three inches shorter.

OUCH! RAISE TARIFF FOR LOCAL CONTEST

SAN FRANCISCO, April 21. (Exclusive)—Acting on a request from Los Angeles, the State Athletic Commission today approved a price range of $1, $2, $3 and $5 for the Armand Emanuel-Jim Maloney fight there.

The "Forty and Eighty" Club of Los Angeles applied for a permit to stage an open-air show at Wrigley Field May 19, but did not announce the feature attraction.

CACAO WINS HANDICAP

KEMPTON PARK (Eng.) April 21. (AP)—The 5-year-old Cacao won the Queen's price handicap today by a short head from Sir Joshua, with Rubicorn third, another short head back. Twenty-one ran.

DUBLINSKI STOPS FOE

Bear Rowers to Continue Daily Work

BERKELEY, April 21. (Exclusive)—Although final examinations begin this week, Coach Ky Ebright is still giving his University of California oarsmen further practice over the Oakland estuary course. Owing to the split-second defeat at Washington, there will be no further changes in the varsity seating until the last grind commences for the Poughkeepsie and Lake Carnegie events. At Poughkeepsie on June 28, next, the national intercollegiate championship regatta will be held, while on Lake Carnegie, Princeton and Navy will be engaged in a three-cornered regatta June 14.

Technicality Rules Out Oxy Frosh Runner

As a result of the ineligibility of two Oxy frosh trackmen, Occidental has automatically lost the frosh track title for the Southern California Conference which she won at Pomona last Friday. Tuffy Reed, star Tiger sprinter, who made 14 points in the meet, was declared ineligible Saturday by the conference eligibility committee in a special meeting on a technical point. Reed competed in football at Menlo Junior College and was thought to be eligible for track since he did not compete at Menlo in that sport, but the committee interpreted the rule as to apply to all institutions including junior colleges.

Byron Kelly, crack hurdler, who made 8 points for the Oxy frosh, was yesterday declared ineligible by Dr. Thomas Hardy, Occidental College eligibility chairman, when it was found that Kelly had participated in sports at U.C.L.A. Kelly was penalized one year of varsity competition also in addition, according to Dr. Hardy.

MERCURIES ENTER GYM TITLE MEET

Twenty-four gymnasts and tumblers will represent the Los Angeles A.C. in the Southern Pacific A.A.U. championships to be held Friday evening at the Mercury club. Ben Price has announced his team as follows: Baum, Berry, Bishop, Bixler, Burton, Clark, Davis, Doig, Erenberg, Frick, Gamer, Guerin, Hargreaves, Klinker, Krempel, Meyer, Parrish, Searl, Shoopman, Siegel, Smith, Stern, Vandendaele and Walser. The Mercury team will be favored to win, although close competition will develop from the Turnverein-Germania squad. U.S.C., U.C.L.A., Harvard School, Hollywood High, Manual Arts and Alhambra will all be represented.

REDLANDS NINE IN WIN OVER LA VERNE

REDLANDS, April 21.—Redlands University opened the Southern Conference season here today by shutting out La Verne, 8-0. Phil Tombs, Bulldog hurler, fanned twelve men and allowed only three hits, with no member of the Leopard squad seeing third base in the course of the afternoon.

Tombs also turned in a double to score two runs, while Cothran's three-bagger was the longest hit of the day. Thomason, tossing for the Leopards, was only reasonably effective after the third and the Bulldogs gathered ten hits in the remaining six innings.

KENNEDY AND ROSS TO MIX

Hollywood Stadium Cards Heavyweight Bout

Les Kennedy and Benney Ross, Buffalo heavyweight, fight the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium Friday night. Royal (Dutch) Elliott finds that he can't get in the best of shape to fight Kennedy by Friday night so Ross stepped into the picture and will try to show he wasn't right when he fought Frankie Campbell at the stadium several weeks ago. Kennedy beat Vigo Doman when last seen in action at the stadium.

The preliminaries are the strong parts of the Legion show this week. Raymond Montoya, San Diego featherweight who recently beat Santiago Zorilla in the border city, fight Jimmy Piela. The San Diego Mexican is rated one of the best boys of his weight in Southern California and is a main-eventer at smaller clubs.

Harry Goodland, who recently beat Walter Caldwell, fights Johnny De Coursey in the special. They are middleweights. Goodland is a newcomer, but has demonstrated he is to be figured in the middleweight division. He is trying to work his way to the top.

The four-round fights will present Joe Singer, light-heavyweight, fighting Frank Rowsey in the second spot. Flyweights will fight the curtain-raiser. Joey Rich meets Felix Ignacio.

ROBINSON, HANSEN ENTER OJAI EVENT

Dale Robinson and Martin Hansen, star Oxy netters, have entered the Ojai Valley tennis tournament to be held the last of this week, according to the announcement made yesterday by Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager at Occidental. Robinson and Hansen will compete in the collegiate singles and also the doubles play. They played Nos. 1 and 2 on the championship Tiger net squad and are expected to go a long way in the tournament if their excellent showing made against Pomona last Saturday counts anything.

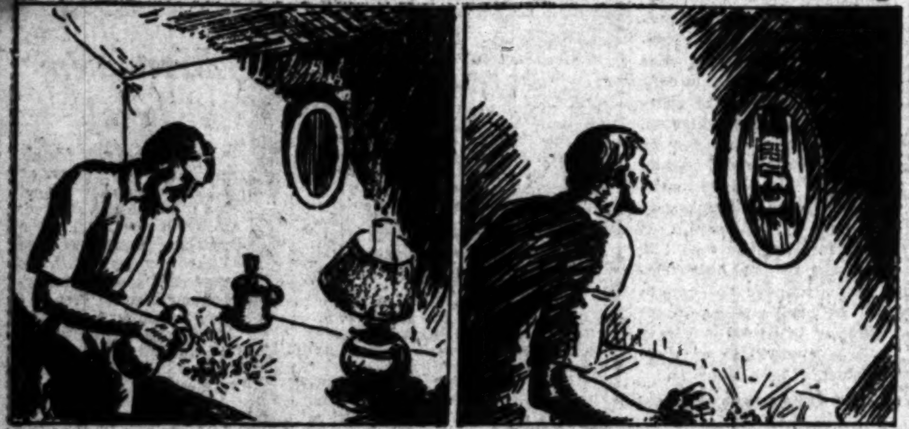
TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



In his own tent Werper proceeded to make himself comfortable. Before a little mirror he shaved off the stubble of days. This done, he bethought him of the jewels. He would just have another look at them. What would Achmet Zek say if he knew of them? Werper grinned. He drew the pouch from its hiding place and gloated as the glittering gems rolled into the rays of a small lamp. Ah! What beauties they were. What luxury and power awaited him after he sold them.

And then, suddenly he raised his eyes in the night's silence to the shaving mirror. Werper stifled a gasp of dismay. A reflection moved within the polished surface of the little mirror. In it he saw the grim visage of Achmet Zek, framed in the flaps of the tent doorway behind him. To say that Werper was terrified was to put it mildly. He turned slowly around. The face of Achmet Zek had disappeared from the opening.

Werper knew that he had not only sacrificed his treasure but his life as well. Achmet Zek would never permit the wealth that he had discovered to slip through his fingers, nor would he forgive the duplicity of a lieutenant who had gained possession of such a treasure without offering to share it with his chief. Slowly the Belgian prepared for bed. If he was being watched he could not know. Concealing his nervousness, he extinguished the ligh and crept for his blankets.

It was two hours later that the flaps at the tent front separated silently and gave entrance to a white-robed figure. Noiselessly the prowler crossed the interior. In one hand was a long knife. Lightly his fingers sought the bulk beneath the blankets. They traced out the figure of a man, and then an arm shot upward, poised for an instant and descended. Again and again it rose and fell, and each time the long blade of the knife buried itself in the thing beneath the blankets.

Have you realized the ambitions, dreams of your youth? Are you the success you then anticipated? Have you a plan that will carry you to the goal of those dreams or are you destined to join that great 90% of all humanity who reach the age of 65 without a competence and are dependent upon friends or charity? Do you know that wealth is unlimited? Do you know there is a law governing success and failure that is as positive as the law of mathematics. This law is used by all successful men either consciously or unconsciously. We can teach you to use it consciously, successfully. We will give you this knowledge. Things you will never be satisfied without. This knowledge means success in all its forms. It means all things to all men. SPLIT-DELIVERY FIGHT NEAR END

Forces Lining Up for Final Hearing on May 26

Jobbers and Manufacturers of Coast in Fray

Controversy With Ship Line Begun During 1927

BY WALDO DRAKE

Seventy-five separate business interests of the Pacific Coast are mustering forces for the final rehearing at San Francisco on May 26 of the now famous "split-delivery" case against sixteen intercoastal steamship lines, on which the original complaint was filed with the United States Shipping Board in 1927 by the Associated Jobbers and Manufacturers of Los Angeles. R. S. Sawyer, traffic manager of the local group, will lead the fight at San Francisco against the steamship interests.

The Shipping Board, in December, last, ruled that the intercoastal lines are violating the United States Shipping Act by split-delivery at two or more Pacific Coast ports of carload shipments, though charging consignees only regular carload rates. This, it is alleged by complainants and intervenors, constitutes discrimination against consignees of regularly delivered carload lots. The case of the steamship lines is being presented by the Argonaut Line and the Isthmian Line, who, according to Mr. Sawyer, will present the Pacific Coast side of their testimony at San Francisco for the first time. The jobbing and manufacturing interests of the Pacific Coast, which directly include enterprises worth more than $500,000,000, will present only rebuttal evidence at San Francisco, since the Shipping Board has already decided in their favor.

Pending the San Francisco rehearing, however, the order that the ship operators suspend the split-delivery practice is not being enforced, the Shipping Board announces. Rebuttal arguments will be handled on the 26th inst. by Mr. Sawyer, for Los Angeles interests; by Seth Mann, for the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce; J. W. McCune, for the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce; S. T. Wettrick, for the Seattle Chamber of Commerce, and J. L. McConnell, traffic manager of the Pacific Coast Confectioners' Conference, representing the Portland group.

PALATIAL JAPANESE LINER MAKES LOCAL BOW

Dedicated by a trans-Pacific storm, and by soupy fog all the way from San Francisco, Japan's finest new liner, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha motorship Chichibu Maru, made her maiden bow at Los Angeles before noon yesterday.

The big liner was welcomed by local civic and line officials as she rounded the breakwater, while planes soared overhead and sirens loosed their din as she passed up the channel to her berth on Terminal Island. Although most of her travelers disembarked at San Francisco, 170 continued here, and the ship brought a rich cargo of oriental treasure for discharge.

The liner, similar in size, but even more elegant than her recent predecessor, the Asama Maru, is the second of three $7,000,000 ships entering this trans-Pacific run, the Tatsuta Maru being due on her maiden voyage next month.

In roominess, safety and lavish appointments, she is declared by shipping men to typify the latest thing afloat. Her stormy baptism across was hardly noticed, according to veteran travelers. Within her throbs 25,000 horsepower from Burmeister & Wain Diesels, sending her through the water at nineteen to twenty-one knots. She carries every navigation aid, even including the fathometer, just now making its debut.

Capt. Y. Arakida and M. Ikoma, local manager and aides, were hosts yesterday to 2000 invited guests aboard ship, and tonight will entertain a small group of passenger men and scribes. Tomorrow at 2 o'clock she will embark 205 passengers, load 1200 tons of Southland cargo and sail for Yokohama via San Francisco.

Panama-Mail's liner Guatemala sailed for New York via Central American ports, at noon yesterday with eighty-five cabin passengers and 3000 tons of machinery, canned goods and other California food products. Fifty of her passengers embarked at this port, among them Tokujiro Matsuda, Japanese fish-packing magnate, en route to San Jose de Guatemala; Mrs. Berta Selvade Balyeat, former Nicaraguan Consul at Los Angeles, en route to San Jose on a political mission, and Edwin Hooker, prominent in Long Beach society, en route to Havana with his wife and three children.

Rev. Harold H. Kelley, chief of the local Seamen's Church Institute, announces that Seamen's book week begins tomorrow and urges anyone who has surplus books that they have read and would like to donate to send them to the Seamen's Church Institute for distribution on ships of the American merchant marine. Last year the local institute loaned 1360 books to crews to read on voyages.

The Ford intercoastal freighter Oneida was greeted by a thunderous din of ship whistles yesterday afternoon as she passed up the main channel from New York with 2000 tons of motor parts for the new Ford plant at Wilmington. Practically every merchant ship in port was dressed in honor of the opening ceremonies.

The steamer Patagonier, second unit to call here in the new Pacific service of Compagnie Maritime Belge, yesterday loaded out several hundred tons for Antwerp, Hull and Rotterdam. She will be followed in late May by the Suevier.
